The participants in the entertainment numpering about twenty, arrived at Cherry Tree at o clock, all feeling somewhat fatigued and no grief stricken parents, who, it is needless to say, have the sympathy of every feeling doubt hoping, as I hoped, that a good supper awaited them. Nor were they disappointed in their expectations, for having stopped at Capt. The Captain certainly is a "hale fellow well met" and keeps the right kind of a hotel. After supper all betook themselves to Kneed-ler's Hall, where they found everything in rea-diness for the play. Mr. Kneedler, it is proper here to say, is an energetic man and takes great interest in anything that advances the cause of education. In proof of this assertion I need only cite the fact that he put up the stage and benches and fitted up the hall purposely for the occasion, and yet charged the troupe for its use scarcely enough to pay for the lumber. When the time arrived for the entertainment to begin things looked very discouraging, inasmuch as there was scarcely any one in the Hall except the players. Soon however they began to gath-er, and thanks to such men as Jesse Harter, Dr. Brailler, and several others whose names I did not have the pleasure of learning, at eight o'clock the curtain rose to an audience of about two hundred, all of whom observed the most perfect decorum throughout the entire per formance, and if their applause may be accepted as an evidence of their appreciation all were highly pleased. The Cherry Tree band lent a most generous hand by playing through the streets in the evening and discoursing some veryfine music during the intervals in the acts and scenes. At 11 o clock the entertainment closed and all left toe Hall apparently well sat-

CARROLLTOWN, Aug. 6, 1878. DEAR FREEMAN-On Thursday last, about 2 o'clock, p. m., the last brick in the new school house in this place was laid, and immediately thereafter a beautiful bonquet was sent up to the contracting tacklayer, Mr. Addelsberger, bythe Rev. Prior, who mand ested in this manner his pleasure and delight at the prograss made in the building, the completion of which he has so much at heart. In a very brief time the silver cornet band appeared upon the ground, and ere long a keg of beer was discovered by parties present, and soon the occasion became one of festivity and general rejoicing. The success of the contractor, Mr. M. Addelsberger, was tonsted in flowing tankards of beer by all in attendance, and the afternoon was while away in pleasant converse and social inter-

While on this subject it is due to Mr. A. to express the high opinion entertained of him, personally and as a mechanic, by the Rev. Prior and all others interested in the building the bighest tribute to his workmanship being ex-pressed by the mere mention of the fact that out of greatly inferior materials—rough, un-shapely and badly burned brick—he made an excellent job, both as to appearance and solidi-

Mr. Addelsberger may rest assured that he can at any time for endorsement as to skill ithfulness and promptness to Rev. Am Kramer, O. S. B., and to all other parties directly interested.

May be continue to merit and receive the sincere commendation that follows him from Carrolltown wherever be may use his trowel in the future. .... Use Dr. Van Dyke's Sulphur Sonp. Makes the skin benutifully white and healthy removes dandruff, chafing, prickly heat, sores eruptions, burning, stieging and itching of the skin and scalp. A sulphur bath with it is highly recommended. Always ask for it by its full name. [7-25-6m]

OBITUARY.

MAGUIRE.—Died, in Pittsburgh, on Thursday, Aug. 7, 1878, Mas. Alleen Maguire, wife of James Maguire, aged about 77 years.

Mrs. M. was born of French parents in one of man came with her family to Philadeiphia, where she continued to reside until about 1842, when with her father and sister, the late Mrs. Robert L. Johnston, she came to this place, where her brother, Dr. Aristide Rodrigue, was the residue. then residing. Her early education, as well as that of her deceased sister, had been carefully attended to, and her literary and musical attainments were not only varied and extensive, but of the highest order. She possessed all the virtues of a true and Christian woman, and the Catholic Church, of which she was a member, had no more sincere and devout worshipper. Her remains were brought to this place and interred in the Catholic cometery on Saturday morning. May her soul rest in peace.
