

THE CAMBRIA FREEMAN.

FRIDAY, NOV. 2, 1878.

Table with 3 columns: Name, Coeffort, Campbell. Lists names like C. M. Smith, J. M. Smith, etc.

The Altoona Tribune, an independent paper, but with a strong feeling in favor of Gen. Campbell, uses the following language in reference to that gentleman's defeat...

A large government stable at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, was destroyed by fire on Sunday last, and fifty-three mules were consumed...

About one feature in the campaign in this Congressional district we do not suppose there is any conflict of opinion among the readers of the Journal...

We will not undertake this week to state the result of the elections which took place in the thirty States that voted on Tuesday last...

Very few words will dispose of all we have to say about the election of the Republican ticket on Tuesday last by a majority ranging from fifteen to twenty thousand...

The directors of a bank in Scotland cannot squander the money of its stockholders by reckless outside speculation...

The N. Y. Sun says that several boys kindled a large bonfire in an orchard near the little village of Arlington, N. J., on Saturday afternoon...

Honor Dearer than Wealth.

GENERAL JOHN POPE was the leading witness before the Court Martial which in 1862 tried General Fitz John Porter...

DENNIS KEANEY came to the front in Boston on last Saturday night, and delivered an unusually violent and incendiary speech...

P. S. AS KEARNEY'S candidate for Governor, "gallant and glorious Ben Butler," as he is accustomed to style him, didn't happen to be elected...

The prospect of the New York Sun for 1879 will be found in another part of our paper. The Sun, it is safe to say, is read by a greater number of people than any other newspaper in the United States...

FRATRICIDE AND SUICIDE IN ILLINOIS.—Declar, Ill., was the scene on Monday morning last of a terrible tragedy.

On Saturday night the coach driver from the north reported that on his trip north from Laramie, Wyoming, on Friday night he was stopped at the Platte River ford...

WATKINS DEATH APPROACHING.—None of us can know the extent of a supreme moment of revealed fate. Edgar A. Poe or Victor Hugo could not have imagined a form of death more completely calculated to test the victim's fortitude...

Ben Butler, according to a Western newspaper, was once engaged to a young lady of Waterville, Me., and to break off the match, which for some reason displeased him, he got the notable expedient of going upon a feigned spree and jamming an offensive citizen's hat over his eyes...

A Yellow Fever Hero.

DR. BLACKBURN A LEADING CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR OF KENTUCKY.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 2.—It is a curious and unexpected issue that has lately confronted three out of the four candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor in Kentucky...

What the yellow fever broke out in epidemic form in Memphis and Shreveport four years ago, Dr. Blackburn prominently volunteered his professional services to the stricken cities...

A week or two ago some local newspaper in this district suggested his name for Governor. The idea seemed electric. The press and the people generally throughout the State took it up, and the Courier-Journal of this town now says that if the name of Dr. Blackburn should be nominated this week "Dr. Blackburn would be nominated by acclamation."

A BRAVE WOMAN'S FIGHT WITH MASKED BURGLARS.—The Chicago Times says: The gang of cowardly thieves that has been driven from the heart of the city here evidently had a last night's raid in view...

THEY DROPPED THE REVOLVER TO HER FEET, but she possessed the spirit and decided to die with the revolver in her hand. The outbreak, which was a woman's defiance against a gang of burglars, was a most heroic one...

A SINGULAR CASE OF DIPHTHERIA poisoning is reported from Allegheny county. A young girl, twelve years of age, was afflicted with the disease yielded to medical treatment, but while recovering she happened to place a thumb in her mouth, and some of the offensive matter from the throat penetrated an abrasion which was on the end of the thumb...

A remarkable case of mistaken identity is reported from Boston Highlands. A young man of good character, named Edward Leonard, was arrested there last summer for a local burglary and for house robbery in towns of the vicinity...

A special dispatch from Bismark, D. T., says: "A singular development transpired at Fort Lincoln to day. Mrs. Sergeant Noonan turns out to be a man. Mrs. Noonan was a handmaid at the post and a most popular midwife. She had been married three times, and was one of the widows of the Custer massacre..."
