Miss Weeks some time last summer introduced to Miss Ida, then engaged to young Scribner, one Sheridan Walte, of Fort Edwards, New York. By playing upon Miss Ida's religious turn of mind they induced her to read the books printed by the sect of religiousists known as the Perfectionist.—How it came about no one knows, but on Monday Toledo was startled with the announcement that Miss Ida had eloped with Walte. At the same time one Bowen, from Fort Edwards, cloped with Miss Weeks, telling her that their offspeing would become a second Jesus Christ. Mayor Jones found his daughter at Columbus. Upon sight of her father she became a raving maniac, and on Tuesday was placed in the Columbus Asylam. Poor Scribner, at last accounts, was hunting for the Scribner, at last accounts, was hunting for dark characters in the story.

William and Robecca Hanson, residents of Floga William and Rebecca Hanson, residents of Flogs-county, this State, a few days ago received a letter from a long-lost daughter, who, after about twenty years, has been heard from for the first time. Just before the war, Katie the daughter's name; was driven half wild by the importunate wooing of a boorish layer and the command of her parents that she should marry him. She donned male stirre and ran away. Making for Buffalo she obtained employment as a cook on a steamer that ran from Buffalo to Detroit. Later she found herself on a Mississippi river steamer as head cook. A year of man's work made her feet like a man, she says, so in 1861 she culisted as a private. She was promoted to sergeout in 1863, and in 1884 was in Captain Hopkins' common under General Thomas Katic was thunderstruck, for she never thought her sex suspected. She married Captain Hopkins and went to Cube, expecting to light in the patriot cause there. But they concluded to buy semeland nd go to raising sugar cane and children. Mrs. lopkins writes to her parents that she will visit

Up at Racine, Wis., some pretty woman sug-gested that the monotony of the church fair be re-lieved by a mock auction sale of ladies. All the other pretty women were tickled at the idea, and - The Rielsmond Disnotch says there i is now living near Midlothian, in Chesan improvement upon the former set.

This, perhaps, is one of the most remarkable freaks of nature on record. The negro is at present living with a Mr. Robertson, a prominent citizen of the county, who will vouch for the accuracy of the statement, and who has employed him during the time.
