Having known Mr. Lynch intimately both at home and in the army, I can cheerfully bear testimony to his worth as a citizen and a soldier. It was in the army that I formed the most intimate acquaintance with him, and it gives me pleasure to recall to the minds of his comrades and mine some of the many acts of disinterested kindness performed by him for the boys of our company during the dark and trying period of the war, and especially how on a certain occasion, when we had no rations, Mr. Lynch gave as $100 (the last cent he had) to buy provisions, while on another occasion he generously donated the sum of $10 to purchase tobacco for the boys. Such acts of kindness are not soon forgotten, and I feel confident that there is not a member of the Fitty-fifth who knew him that will not do all in his power to secure his nomination and cirction. Customers who have frequently been obliged to turn away without being waited on, ewing to the throngs which generally filled it, can now go to the Great Eastern Shoe Store with the assurance that their wants will be promptly attended to. In addition to a larger store, Sol. has many advantages for the benefit of his customers which cannot fail to be appreciated. He has a greatly increased stock to select from, having been emabled to bring many goods into the store which were formerly kept in the cellar for want of space. More than that, his goods are superior to any in that city. He displays his sock in such a manner as to give purchasers an unobstructed view and not restrict them to the purchase of anything cise than what they want.
