Says:

Rev. Father John Walsh, the beloved paster of St. John's church of this city, whose death has been expected daily and hourly for some time past, breathed his last about 5 o'clock this morning. His end was caim and peaceful, and so quitetly did he pass away that his attendants scarcely knew the breath had left his body. Father Walsh was the son of a Waterford county (treland) farmer, and was born in that county on the 24th of June, 1819. He was one of eleven children, and his father lived to be 35 years old. Pather Walsh was the first of was born in that county on the 24th of June, 183 the was one of eleven children, and his father live to be 25 years old. Father Walsh was the first the children to leave home. He had been educed at a theological school in the county of Carlo and was ordained a deacon. Arriving in America 1847 he metted at Pittsburgh, and was soon a ter ordained a priest by Father O'Connor and stationed at the Pittsburgh cathedral, afterward by a massistant to Father Garland in another churca the first burgh six in the month of December 1985. tioned at the Pittsburgh cathedral, afterward betioned at the Pittsburgh cathedral, afterward befing assistant to Father Garland in another church in that city. During 1848, in the month of December, Father Walsh was sent to Hollidaysburg. In this county, where the actual work of his life commenced. There was searcely a house in Altoona at that time, and Father Walsh ministered to the small congregation that wurshipped here as well as in his own temple at Hollidaysburg, and built the first Catholic church in this city. When Rev.
John Tuigg was made a bishop and stationed at Pittsburgh Father Walsh was called upon to take his place in Altoona. This was but a few years ago and the Altoona charge was a hirge and important one. How well he attended to the wants of his people is manifested by the deep sorrow with which the news of his death is everywhere received in this community. White in charge of the church at Hollidaysburg Father Walsh, in company with Bishop O'Conner about 1859, traveled through almost every state on this continent collecting funds for the Pittsburgh cathedral. About eight years since he was also commissioned by Bishop Domene to make collections for the orphans of the diocess. He was eminently successful in both of these charitable undertakings. He has been frequently engaged in similar good works, and being a man of the most generous impulses his life is lighted up

He was a large subscriber of his personal

Was it Peri, with sweet voiced into?
No: it was only the maiden's dad.
Who lifted the beau with a number 10 boot.

And the young man left a good deal like the surprised wortern rough, who, on being settled with a blacksmith's life, inquired what kind of a "weepon" it was. He thought lightning had struck in the neighborhood, but subsequent inquiry revealed the fact that the maiden's dad was possessed of good sense and had bought his boots from S. Blumenthal, this Eleventh avenue, Altoona, who is well known as a dealer in the best stock of boots, shoes, gaiters, etc., to be found in the market.

The aforesaid verse of "polery" does not have the slightest earthly connection that we can discover with the fact that you can find the largest and best assorted stock of clothing outside the cities at the big store of Simon & Bendhelm, next door to the First National Bank, Altonia, Pa. But that they do keep such a stock is a well attested fact, to which all their enstemers will cheerfully

But since it the fashion to dress, it behoves everybody to dress as nearly as possible and as economically as they can. Those who purchase their garments from Jos. J. The foregoing verse has no allusion to our friend Godfrey Wolf, the popular clothier who has his place of business next door to the postoffice, Altona, as he never does hide his light under a bushel, but lets the world at large and the rest of mankind know that his immense stock of Rochester elothing is being constantly replenished, and that the latest and leading styles at the lowest prices may always be found with him.

Clothing.

There is in Philadelphia a clothing-house that began a good many years ago to do a peculiar business. It marked goods in plain figures, and described them in plain letters; its prices were absolute, its descriptions were true. People had full knowledge of what they were buying there, and yet if afterward they were sorry they had bought, they could go back the next day and exchange for something else, or, if they liked, get their money back. It was a safe place to get clothes; it was a safe place to leave money. People liked that house.

It grew, and grew, and grew, until it became a great house. To-day it is the largest clothing-house anywhere; and it keeps up the old practices: no secrets about what its clothes are made of, one price, and the money back if the buyer wants it. Of course, it uses all grades of cloths that are worth using, and makes all grades of clothing that are worth making; for it serves all sorts of peo-

Those at all familiar with Philadelphia already know that we are speaking of OAK HALL, the original of FINE COLORS GROUND IN OIL the Wanamaker Stores. There has been great improvement in ready-made clothing in nineteen years; and OAK HALL has taken the lead equally in economy, reliability, and rapidity of production; in the quality of finished work; and in the development of a method of business having for its first object the satisfaction of customers. It is worth your while to know that you, whoever and wherever you are, can get your clothing to better advantage there than anywhere else. If too far away to go, write. You will receive in reply samples of cloths, and prices of ready-made suits from them, with a diagram and instructions for measuring. The rest is plain.
