ALTHOUGH the Republican press keeps up a constant cannonade upon Hancock's position, every piece it has yet trained has managed to burst at the first discharge, playing fearful havoc with the guns.

GEN. GARFIELD appeared before the committee of investigation into the Credit Mobilier scandal on the 14th of January, 1873, and stated under oath as follows: I never owned, received, or agreed to receive any stock of the Credit Mobilier of the Union Pacific Railroad, nor any dividend or profits arising from either of them.

One month later, February 18th, the committee made their report to the House, and in regard to Mr. Garfield's transaction with Oakes Ames, a Republican member of Congress from Massachusetts, who was the active agent in distributing the stock of the company among Congressmen with whom it would do the most good, as he swore before the committee, said: The facts in regard to Mr. Garfield, as found by the committee, are that he agreed with Mr. Ames to take ten shares of Credit Mobilier stock, to pay for the same Mr. Ames received the eighty per cent. dividend in bonds and sold them for ninety-seventy per cent. cash, which, together with the price of the stock and interest, left a balance of $25,000.

Is a recent letter of Gen. McClellan to a Veteran Club in Plainfield, N. J., he said: "Gen. Hancock did so much to insure the success of the war, knew so well what it was for, and perceived so clearly when it was over, that he deserves the hearty and enthusiastic respect of all the old soldiers." How accurately General McClellan's words about Hancock understand so clearly when the war was over," describes him as a military commander at New Orleans in 1867. He was clothed with supreme authority, but appreciating the fact that the war had ended more than two years before, he used it with wisdom, firmness and moderation, for the good of the people and in obedience to the constitution of his country.

The population of Pennsylvania, according to the new census, is 4,220,099, showing an increase of twenty per cent. in ten years. There is only one county (Venango) which shows a decrease in population, while in a large number of counties the increase is insignificant. The largest increase is in McKean county, caused by the opening up of what is known as the Bradford oil district.

THE Pittsburgh Dispatch's latest discovery is something startling and wonderful in the political world. On Tuesday last it announced that Louis W. Hall, who at one time represented this district in the State Senate, but who now resides in Harrisburg, becoming disgusted with the machine methods within the Republican party after the war, withdrew from its councils, but has now "flopped" back into the Republican ranks. It is possible that the Dispatch has forgotten the fact that this same Louis W. Hall was selected by Don Cameron to run the Cameron-Grant machine at the Republican State Convention on the 4th of February last, and that as the chairman of that body he ran it according to the schedule drawn up for him by Cameron, Quay and Cessna with a firm, steady and skillful hand? And does the Dispatch also forget that when, in the same convention, Charles S. Wolfe offered a resolution in favor of putting none but "honest men in office," Hall sat heavily down upon it—decided that Wolfe was out of order, and sent the resolution to a rejected committee, from which, as was intended, it never had any resurrection? No, Mr. Dispatch, Louis W. Hall was never disgusted with "machine methods"—he is Don Cameron's shadow, and wherever the son of Simon is, Hall, like big Bill Blizard at a dance, is sure to be "thar" or "tharabouts." Hall never "flopped."

PRESENT indications in the Indiana Congressional district justify the belief that Harry White will be badly defeated. Two years ago the vote stood:—White, 10,744; Guffy, Democrat, 9,031; Mosgrove, Greenback, 8,874—showing that although White had a majority of 1,713 over Guffy, he was in a minority of 7,161 on the combined vote cast for Guffy and Mosgrove. The Democratic and Greenback conventions in four out of the five counties composing the district have endorsed Mosgrove as the candidate against White, and he will of course be nominated. We cannot, therefore, see how White can fall to go down in the November Democratic deluge, and when James Mosgrove, who is an honest man in every way, a most competent man, succeeds him, he will take the place of an arrant and thorough demagogue as ever occupied a seat in Congress from this or any other State.

HONORED AND BLESSED—When a board of eminent physicians and chemists announced the discovery that by combining some well known valuable remedies, the wonderful medicine was produced, which would cure such a wide range of diseases that most all other remedies could be dispensed with, many were sceptical; but proof of its merits by actual trial has dispelled all doubt, and to-day the discoverers of this great medicine are honored and blessed by all as benefactors.

OUR PHILADELPHIA LETTER.

SEVERE AFFLICTIONS—ROCKED BY A BOY—FIRST COMPLETE RETURN—DIVISION OF THE STATE—THE SKETCHES FUND—MAJOR MOSGROVE'S VISIT TO THE STATE—MEMBERS FOR THE MILLION—THE STATE FAIR, ETC.

PHILADELPHIA, July 18, 1880. To the Editor of the Cambria Freeman: Your correspondent was prevented from sending his weekly contribution for the last issue by a complication of cases. He was not only greatly operated by the excessive hot weather, but suffered from neuralgia and rheumatism, and the toothache, stomach ache, and with various other ailments.

He is a bright, handsome little boy, the son of my neighbor, and he told me that his papa, an ugly, bad man, had a fight about a Senator with him, and what it looked like. Being all my life happy to impart information, I asked him to describe that gentleman to me, and he did so very fully. I told him that the average Senator was a man of such great dignity and grandeur that he was not to be trifled with. The boy listened to me, as I thought, with great respect and attention, and I was feeling very much pleased to have had such a competent to describe the great functionary so perfectly, and imagined the sensitive little fellow would be proud to be called a Senator with admiration of a Senator, when to my great astonishment and infinite mortification, the most contemptuous manner burst out, "Oh, yes, where is his bluff?"

THE CRIMINALS' SOCIETY—John Buchanan, of this city, has perpetrated the exposure of which is solely due to the unsparring pen of the Philadelphia Press. Buchanan's Institution for the insane has been exposed as a place where the inmates are treated with great cruelty and where the inmates are treated with great cruelty and where the inmates are treated with great cruelty.

THE PENNSYLVANIA POSITION.—Hon. Milton S. Eisenhower, recently sent to New York Herald reporter, Hancock first, and then the rest of the South, but every Southern State, New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Indiana and California, with Pennsylvania, Illinois and Oregon, to say the least, are detestable. But with the tide running it is now a debate as to Pennsylvania.

AN OLD MAID'S ASSOCIATION.—THE Old Maid's Association of Geauga county, Ohio, had a picnic on the lake recently. The picnic was held on the 15th of July, and the picnic was held on the 15th of July, and the picnic was held on the 15th of July.

THE TOXIC PEST OF THE AGES.—It would have been well for the world and for the health of the people if the pest of the ages had been destroyed long ago. It is a pest that has been with us for centuries, and it is a pest that has been with us for centuries.

THE STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY has opened its office in this city, and it is expected from the fact that the society has been organized in size all others ever held in the State. It is expected that there will be more interest in the State, and it is expected that there will be more interest in the State.

Every ticket was used, and the excursionists showed a hearty and grateful appreciation of the effort made to give them a day's recreation and enjoyment. The POLITICAL BATTLE: While Till is listening to the wild hurrahs of the Susquehanna at Lewisburg, Cessna is rapturously in the salubrious atmosphere of the Alleghenies, and he is not likely to be moved from his position until the 1st of August.

Some of the Republican followers are inclined to be impatient, and are not so ready for battle as their leaders. They are not so ready for battle as their leaders. They are not so ready for battle as their leaders. They are not so ready for battle as their leaders.

HOW TO GET almost Everything

Do you know how to get in the easiest way to get the advantage that you want for dress and house-furnishing?

First, how? Write for a catalogue; see what you can learn from it about the things you want. If samples can be useful to you, ask for them and state your wants plainly that exactly the right samples can be sent.

Second, where? The place where goods are kept in the greatest variety; where they are sold for what they really are in respect to quality, where prices are lowest, where most care is taken to serve customers acceptably; and where you have the right to return whatever is not satisfactory.

There—no matter where you are—if you make your wants known and avail yourself of your privilege you will get the best things in the best way, promptly and without trouble or risk; sometimes by mail, sometimes by express, almost always at less cost for carriage than the money you save in the price.

HOW TO GET Clothing under Price.

If we could sell a little more of this and a little less of that, we could make things come out even—the last man that came in would carry off the last suit; but we can't. Out of every stock there are a great many sizes left when some are gone. The best we can do with these incomplete assortments is to mark them low enough to set a great many people looking among them for bargains.

This we do every day at this time of year; and just now we have enough of such to stock a little store. Besides, odd pairs of suit left—coats, vests and trousers. We have a room in which there is nothing else. There is in that room cheaper clothing than you have any notion of. We do it the Bargain-Room.

These marked-down suits and garments are of all sorts; they may be among the best in the store. We force a continual decrease of such articles would only embarrass us and keep our stocks always fresh and full.
