A MAIDEN'S RAID UPON THE TREASURY. -The following story of a determined little woman is told by a correspondent in Washington of the Atlanta (Ga.) Republican: "One bright morning last spring the Hon. John Sherman was sitting in his office, when suddenly a bright-baired, pretty girl dashed into his presence. She was apparently 16, and had about her an air of business which even the cold gaze of the Ohio statesman could not transform into maiden fright or flurry. Deliberately taking a seat, the girl said, 'Mr. Sherman, I have come here to get a place.' 'There are none vacant,' was the reply. 'I know you can give me a place if you want to, and I am as much entitled to it as anybody. My father spent his life in the United States army, and when he died he left nothing.
