THE Pittsburg Dispatch, which, tho' opposed to Boss rule, was not carried away with enthusiasm over the candidacy of Davies for State Treasurer, because he did not assert his independence when he ought to have done so, admits that it was slightly led astray last winter when Mitchell was elected U.S. Senator and the result was claimed as a triumph by the independent Republicans. It regards his election as in a certain sense a defeat of the bosses, because they were forced to abandon their own candidate, but it seriously doubts if Harry Oliver himself would have been "so miserably, meanly, cringingly subservient to the superior Senator (Cameron) as this lazy, good-looking and apparently good-fornothing Mitchell, who has proved himself to be Cameron's henchman, even in the very short time he has been allotted for furnishing such proof."

WILLIAM T. DAVIES, who was the candidate of the anti-Cameron men in the Republican State Convention for State Treasurer, is a Welshman by birth, having been born in "ancient Cambria" in 1831 and brought to Bradford county, in the northern portion of the county in this State, when he was only eighteen and a conlition with the Greenback party months old. Sanilac and Huron countles, lying on the shore of Lake Huron, between Port Huron and Saginaw bay, are the theatre of the most destruction, which is growing positively appalling in character. Hundreds of farms are already reduced to blackened deserts-stock, crops, fences, and all farm buildings swent away—absolutely nothing left. Nor is this all. Several lives are known to be lost. Men, women and children, overtaken by the flames, were suf-focated by the stifling heat. It is feared, when full accounts are raceived, the loss of life may prove terrible. The little hamlets of Anderson, Richmondville, and Charleston, nilac county, were all reported wiped out, while Port Hope, Verona Mills, and Badax, Huron county, are reported wholly or partly burned up. It is believed 300 eople have perished, and feared many more have, while thousands are stripped of everything-food, shelter, crops, stock, all swept clean from the face of the earth. Accounts continue to come in of a most harrowing description. George McDonald, of Minden, anilac county, tells a harrowing tale. Over 200 families are homeless in that section, and suffering from want of food and clothing. John Ballentine, of Verona Mills, says that ifty-three lives were known to have been lost in the neighborhood of Sand Beach. The fire suddenly reached Verona Mills on Monday, and the town was soon wiped out. The wind was so strong that Ballentine and wife were picked up and blown fifteen or twenty yards. A woman and her husband were found lying against a tree, dead, the woman being partly delivered of a child. The devastation caused by the fires of 1871 is nothing in comparison to the fires of the last lew days. In the vicinity of Richmondville, Western, Forester and Mercer townships reable information leads one to say that upwards of 300 persons perished in the fiames. There was no escape for them. STIRRING APPEAL FOR AID. PORT HURON, Sept. 11 .- The following

To the imprison People: We have to-night returned from the burnt district of Huron and Sanitac counties. We have seen the burned, disfigured and writhing figures of men, women and children; rough board soffins containing the dead followed to the grave by a few blinded and despairing relatives; crowds of half-starved people as some of the stations asking for bread for their ismilies or neighbors. We hear of more than two burners of victions already burner and more charred same of the stations asking for them the stations of neighbors. We hear of more than two hundred vectors already buried and more charred and bleated bodies daily discovered. Already more than fifteen thousand families are found to be utterly destitute and homeless. They huddle in barns, in school houses, in their neighbors houses, searched, alletered, homeless. Some still wander half crazed around the ruins of their habitations, vainly seeking their dead, some in speechless agony wringing their hands and refusing to be comforted. More than ten thousand people who only one week ago occupied happy, comfortable homes are to-day houseless, homeless sufferers.—They are honerty and almost maked when found, and in such great numbers and so widely scattered that our best efforts and greatest resources fall to supply their tumediate wants. Without speedy nid many will perish, and many more will suffer and become exiles. Our poople will do their utmost for their relief, but all our resources would fall to meet their necessities. -A PRIZE ESSAY .- To the Public: In January last I offered a prize of $200 in gold for each discovery, during the year, in the Uni-ted States and Canada, of a telescopic, un-expected comet. Dr. Lewis Swift, director of the Warner Observatory, discovered Comet A, May 1st, and Prof. Schaeberle, of Ann Arbor, Mich., Observatory, Comet C, July 14, each thus winning the prize. Comet B, or the Great Comet, burst suddenly on the sight in this country in June, though it was first seen in South Africa May 21st, and its appearance was predicted near Beta Aurigaor June 23d last, this prediction being exactiv fulfilled. Comet B was neither telescopic nor unexpected, and yet I was anxious, could the first discoverer be found, to make a special award of $200. Nearly 3,000 letters claiming priority have been received and examined, but Director Swift reports that no conclusion can be reached that would be scientific and satisfactory. This was a disappointment to myself and the claimants, but in order to encourage, so far as possible. popular astronomical study, I beg to an-nounce a prize of $200 to the person in the United States or Canada who shall prepare the best essay on "Comets: their Composition, Parpose, and Effect upon the Earth," on

THE MICHIGAN CALAMITY. - Saturday night in the fire-swept district of Michigan was the most horrible since the flames broke out. To the sufferings of the homeless peoale were added the tortures of cold and rain ntil then the days had been hot and the lights warm, and those of the homeless housands who could find no covering but the sky were not compelled to bear up against the depressing influences of cold. Saturday night the sun went down enveloped in clouds and a cold wind began blowing Before nine o'clock it began to rain, and for rents which would have checked the deruction had the rain come five days sooner and saved many lives, but which now only wet the sufferers to the skin and left them shivering in the raw night air. The scarcity of food may be imagined when it is stated that the representatives of the Herald who have been sent to the burn ed district have had to rely entirely on what they could take with them. Almost the only staple crop there is wheat, and now is seeding time. Fifty thousand bushels of grain must be scattered over the burned district in ten days or next year no crop can be obtained. Every steamer which can be obtained has been pressed into the service to the narrow guage railroad through the country has been loaded in the same way. In reviewing the losses the welcome word 'insured'' is found to be modified to an extent which makes it worthless by the fact that such insurance is in neutual companie the stock in which is owned to a large extent by the sufferers themselves.

A FIERY GRAVE. - The Westphalia papers give an account of a terrible catastr which occurred in the northwestern part of that province on the 18th ult. There has for some time in operation in the neighborhood of Solingen, not far from Barmen, a strange phenomenon. A part of the soil of a hilly heath became excessively hot, so much so that some people living close by availed themselves of the heat for domestic purposes. The explanation suggested was that some inflammable subterraneau gas, or set on fire. Some water had been brought to the spot by an artificial channel; but its contact with the burning soil had only produced violent explosions, which seemed to shatter all the ground around. Yesterday week some persons drove out in a carriage from Remscheid to inspect the spot. When arrived at a distance of a quarter of an Engfish mile, they heard a strange, rumbling noise, which so terrified the horses that they had to alight, and send the carriage back some distance. They walked on, discussing the likelihood of any danger, when suddenly a space of the hillside, about 100 metres square, opened, disclosing a guif of liquid fire, and throwing up flames. The house where the family mentioned above fived was at once surrounded by the flames, and was, before their eyes, swallowed up in the liquid fiery caldron at their feet, apparently feed ing the flames. It is known that several ons were in the house; none were saved, out it has not been ascertained how many perished .- London Times.

-It is said that startling facts have been scovered in settling up the estate of the late A. A. Stewart, of Greensburg. It was supposed he left a fortune of $30,000 to $100,000. It is now reported the estate is insolvent, and that the money of clients has not been accounted for. It is believed Mr. Stewart committed suicide to escape the disgrace of exposure.

-Gen. Ambrose E. Burnside died at his home in Bristol, R. I., on Tuesday last, after a very brief illness, in the fifty-seventh year of his age. He is best remembered as the successor of Gen. McClellan in command of the Army of the Potomac in the autumn of Weller. 1862, and by the defeat he suffered in December of that year at the bloody battle of Fred-ericksburg. At the time of his death he was member of the U. S. Senate from Rhode Island, of whice State he had formerly been Governor.
