CHOOSE YE BETWEEN THEM.

The Democratic county ticket was nominated by a direct vote of the Democratic citizens of Cambria. The Republican ticket was nominated by the Court House syndicate of Ebensburg. It requires only six men to make their nominations. It was decreed by them that Barker and Davis should be nominated for Treasurer and Commissioner, and the rest of the ticket should be made to

An Associate Judge is needed nowhere so much as at the county seat. Half the duties of that office must be performed between Courts, in taking bail, hearing applications for the staying of wits, etc. An intelligent and respectable Republican desired the nomination and would have received it had not the syndicate prevented his name from coming before the convention; and gave the nomination to Richard Elder, without intending to elect him. Elder was a candidate for Commissioner, but in order to defeat William Glass, of ARRESTS of prominent members of Munster township, for whom Eider's the Land League, as well as newspaper delegates would have voted and thereeditors, continue to be made daily by secured his nomination, they stole throughout Ireland under the Coercion Elder's delegates from Glass in order to act. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25, 1881. ini Correspondence of the FREHMAN.] My DEAR HENRY-I am exceedingly happy that Riddleberger didn't riddle Wise, and that Wise didn't riddle Riddleberger. I am also happy that Mahone will not kill General Early-that he has no notion of fighting Early, and that the arrest of Mahone was only a play for safety. I am also overjoyed to feel that President Arthur is safe from as-It is pleasant to know that President Arthur can say to President proempore Davis what King Charles II. said to his brother James. "You need not be alarmed, James : no one will ever kill me for the sake of seeing you King of England," This flattering mot, addressed by Charles II. to is brother, can be addressed by President Arthur to President pro am. Davis. Arthur need not be alarmed that any one will kill iim for the sake of seeing Davis in the chair of the Chief Executive. The Republican lican leaders that ridiculed and laughed managers have carefully and very properly alculated that no Republican will under take to kill Arthur that Davis may take his and still less any Democrat. But, ear Henry, my great joy is strangely blend d with deep sorrow that Davy Davis is not happy in occupying the very interesting po-sition of buffer for Arthur. When he calls to recollection the words of Charles II. to his can, and his meetings in all parts of the brother it causes Davy much unhappiness. The unhappiness of John Kelly is also a d damper on mr happiness. Although he is unhappy. Some time ago Mr. Kelly expressed a consuming anxiety to see convention which would dare to northern counties of the State, and throw out Tammany Hall. Mr. Kelly's wish was gratified to its fulk st extent, and yet he I would be happy always if everybody else

When we have something good, we want something better. Every one wants to do better to morrow than he has been doing to-day. We all expect to go mewhere when we die and have a better time when we get there than we have here. Well, perhaps some of us will, and perhaps some of us will fare worse.

> PHILADELPHIA POLITICS AND REPORM. The voters of Philadelphia are now offered the opportunity denied them by some of the nominations of electing to an importint office persons who without reference to heir party predifictions, fill up the measure of capacity and honesty. The Committee of One Hundred has done a good and a proper thing in putting before the people of Philadelphia the names of fit candidates for the ee of County Commissioner-something which was not done by either of the two po-litical parties. Both the gentlemen they have named are qualified for the position. and are, besides, men of irreproachable character and integrity. But having entered into the contest, the Committee of One Hundred should not stop half way. The ommittee has as yet gained no laurels worth the wearing except those obtained in the election of Democrats to office. The Committee owes its existence to the insufferable evils of Republican rule and it owes its vie. ries to the solidity of Democratic support ; and if the Committee is actuated by pure motives and stands up to its principles, it will not hesitate to endorse the candidacy of Major Veale for Recorder of Deeds. O'Donnell, his opponent, is a machine man, his nomination was the triumph of the machine. and his candidacy was a challenge to the Committee of One Hundred, Mr. Veale was a gallant soldier when the country a steadins, uncompromising supporter of its public policy as a whole, believing the same to be thoroughly legal, constitutional and vice platform, and if the Committee does not alculated to lead to great national results, endorse him it will not be true to its principles and professions. As the Philadelphia Record truthfully says: "If it does not, it "If it does not, it may as well put up its shutters." no other way to break down the machine ex es upon the Irish soil, that they should be cept by Democratic co operation, and if the Committe of One Hundred does not assist to ably lodged, and that the absolute repudia- elect Major Veale it is not honest in its professions, and, as the Record aptly remarks, "should put up its shutters."

WHAT "SPECIAL REFORM" WAS IT? What "special reform" was that which so moved the Congregationalist when it said: "The taste of retorm during Mr. Garfield's administration is too sweet and wholesome no noble and assuring, to be given up without clamor?" Now what "special reform" was it that so much moved that good relig-ious journal? Was it the nomination of William E. Claudler, or the alliance with Senator Malione? As for my own evuical self, I would like to have a bill of particulars, and the secular reading public are interested n knowing what appears to a religious journal as "thoroughly sweet, whole noble and assuring " As the Congregationalist is presumed to be on the FREEMAN'S exchange list, will the PREEMAN please to ask its respected contemporary for a bill of particulars?

"POLITICAL NECESSITY"-RECEIVERS OF STOLEN GOODS. Rev. Dr. D. S. Muclimore, of the Memorial Presbyterian church, recently preached a sermon the subject of which was "Baalam, Broken-down Politician," The Rev. tleman said "that men who covered eselves with the cloak of Christianity hoosted up and did all in their power to elect men to public office right in their midst, knowing them to be morally rotten in the eyes of the community." He said further: When these so-called pillars of the churchwere asked why they supported men whom they knew to be thieves and scoundreis, they entered the plea of political economy." His discourse upon the career His discourse upon the career of a politician was pungent, and his description of Baalam's downfall and his pitiable ending was pregnant with inferences as to the end of a politician's eareer at the present day. But so long as there are such men as Carpenter, of this city, who in the face of a shameless fraud exposed in an open Court when the returns were computed, accepted a title that was reeking with fraud, and sat in Councils to obey the ring masters, when he knew of the theft of his title, there will be ballot stuffers. If there were not how he would laugh in his sleeve at his be tried in the county in New Jersey in Carpenters and Haveses to accept the fruits of the petty party dependants who pollute the ballots, there would be no Monats to fling their shame upon the people. seems to be no punishment by law for men like Carpenter and Hayes, who receive and enjoy the stolen goods.

PHILADELPHIA LAND LEAGUERS. Elaborate preparations are on foot for the reception of T. P. O'Connor and Dr. Francis Dillon Egan, to take place on the night of the 16th of November at the Academy of but strictly honest. Yet the Chairman of Corkhill that he will stand in need of Music, on which occasion there will be a vigtion of the British government. The indig nation occasioned among Irish Philadel phians by the arrest of Parnell and his assoclates has been most emphatically expressed at the Land League meetings. At all their gatherings resolutions of sympathy for Parnell, of devotion to the cause of the League, and of condemnation for the course of the British government received unanimous and enthusiastic approval. Rev. William Walsh of St. Paul's church, denounced the arrest of Parnell, Dition, Davitt and others, and predicted that in these arrests England was placing the last straw on the back of an almost crushed people. He adverted in glow ing terms to the wrongs which Ireland had suffered for centuries and contrasted the misery of Ireland under English rule with appiness enjoyed by Ireland's sons under the American flag.

A BEAUTHY SENTIMENT AROUSED. Our old Cambria county friend, Judge Cyrus L. Pershing, has aroused a healthy public sentiment, to the end that every vestige of the victous system of marriage insurance may be crushed. Instead of giving the Reiner City Marriage Association a at worthymagistrate gave it a indicial kick Your honorable former fellow citizen magesterially took the Remer City Associatio its inchoate ear and led it out of the Pottsville Court. With Cambrians such a thing from Judge Pershing would be reasonably expected. What he said about aid associa-tions of this character applies with equal force to those of kindred enormity, such as graveyard insurance associations. The uer public sentiment dislodges these systems of frau l upon the credulous from the State the better. It would be well for Pennsylvania were there more Judge Pershings to add their testimony to the immorality of mutual aid associations, and in refusing to charter them.

THE RESPONSIBILITY FIXED. inhumanity. It was manifest to every one that somebody was responsible for the terrible calamity, and the jury fixed the responsi-bility without hesitancy. The verdict of the jury meets with universal approval. It is a disgrace to Philadelphia that Afteen hundred of he building of her buildings in which tens of thousands of her citizens daily congregate are without proper facilities to enable their inmates to escape in case of fire. The picture of several hundred frightened factory girls frantically tumbling over each other in their desperate attempts to make use of an insuffi-

compelled to do so by law. A HISTORIC CHURCH. An item of the greatest interest connected eith the Yorktown Centennial was that of a Te Deum service in St Joseph's Catholic church, in this city, on Sunday last, in comremoration of the occasion of thanksgiving held within its walls one hundred years ago, after the capitulation of Lord Cornwallis. -The organ used on Sunday last in St. Jochurch in the grand diapasons of Havden's War Mass is the same organ that rang out its swelling tones in the grand anthem of "Columbia" one hundred years ago, and a century's strains, it seems have not essened its powers, but rather added to the sweetness of its tones. The service held in this church one hundred years ago was nomarked the rejoicines which took prace on account of Cornwallis' surrender. St. Joeph's church on the present occasion was beautifully decorated with the national colors. After a Solomn High Mass the Te Deum was sung by a full choir, with orchestral accompaniments. After the gasnel a discourse opropriate to the occasion was delivered by Rev. William Frances Clarke, of Baltimore, who delivered the Fourth of July discourse in the same church in the Centennial year. The services in St. Joseph's Carbolic church. Willing's alley, this city, throws a light upon an incident not generally known in the listory of thanksgiving services of the different churches throughout the land that followed the surrender of Lord Cornwallis at day. In Andrews' English history of the American Revolution we find the following: "A discourse was delivered in the Roman Catholic church of that city (Philadelphia) by Monseigner de Bondole, Chaplain o the French President, at which Congress

The descendents of the illustrious men who took part in the siege at Yorktown are to enjoy the hospitally of the Academy of Natural Sciences. When distinguished persons are to be entertained it is thought to be most proper to arrange a programme of ex-ercise which will afford them the greatest gratification. Opinions differ as to the influence of dancing upon the taste and manners of a community. Some of our citizens enthusiastically claim for this accomplishment the dignity of a fine art, and say it is "the poetry of motion," while others demour. nique figure, however, of the programme is e a dance, and the magnificent hall of the institution is to be especially arranged for the festive occasion. The entertainment will be of such a character that the visitors at the Academy of Natural Sciences from both sides of the Atlantic will long remember it. The savans of the Academy are re ceiving professional histructions, so that they will be able to acquit themselves with perfect grace and accuracy of motion, althomany of them have not indulged in exercises 'on the light fantastic toe" for a long time It is to be regretted that all can't see the performance, but happily all can imagine the scene, where splendidly dressed ladies brilliant with costly jewels and animated ountenances, foreign dignitaries in magnificent court costumes and dignified professors in plainer garments move gracefully to the measures of entrancing music. If your correspondent had a pair of new legs be would be a precipitator with the distinguished descendents of the illustrious men who took part in the siege of Yorktown in the dance

A BRADFORD COUNTY MYSTERY. - About o'clock in the afternoon of September 20, 1881. Dora Mann, an adopted daughter of Andrew Mann, between 13 and 14 years old, near Leona, Pa., was sent to fetch the cow, After she had been gone about three-quarters of an hour Mrs. Mann went after her. At dusk she returned, stating to her family, which consisted of her mother-in-law and her daughter, that Dora could not be found. Several of the neighbors turned out and spent the night in the adjoining fields and woods in a fruitless search. The following day the search was continued without mak-The neighbors by this ing any discovery. time suspected that the girl had been abducted or had gone to her relatives, and the search was discontinued. On Tuesday last, October 18, a lad 12 years of age discovered the remains of the girl suspended from a sapling pine which stood in the open field. The remains were identified by the hair and clothing to be those of the lost girl, and had the appearance of baving been placed in the position in which she was found after death. Her knees were upon the ground, her head thrown backward and her hands hanging almost to the ground. Upward of two hundred people visited the place where the remains were found, and all were convinged that the girl had met her death by violence.
