

It is now said to be the settled determination of Mr. Arthur's friend, William Mahone, to signalize his reputation in Virginia by procuring the election of Riddleberger to the Senate of the United States as the successor of Senator Johnston whose term of office will expire on the 4th of March, 1883.

ALTHOUGH the Irish Land Court is cutting down rents in the western counties of that country nearly one-half, and in some cases more than one-half, and although the landlords are loud in their complaints against the stand taken by the Court in favor of the tenants, outrage against both person and property continues to be committed, showing that great discontent and a spirit of lawlessness prevail among the people.

NO MAN in this country can trim his sails to the political breeze so readily as Charles Foster, Governor of Ohio. He was the obsequious and servile admirer of Hayes and worshipped Gen. Garfield as the noblest of all our Presidents, not even excepting Washington.

UPON the adjournment of Judge Cox's Criminal Court last Saturday afternoon, the prison van with Gutreau seated in it, as usual, for the jail, having one policeman as a guard, who sat on the seat with the driver.

REPORTS continue to come from Washington that when Mr. Arthur announces his cabinet after Congress meets, Gen. Edward Beale will be the successor of young Mr. Lincoln as Secretary of War.

HE always takes a rich man to run for Congress in the Eleventh New York (city) district. It was represented at the last session by Levi P. Morton, a banker, who was appointed Minister to France by Gen. Garfield, and it became necessary to fill the vacancy at the late election.

HE is wealthy, but he started out in the campaign with the public pledge that he would use no money in buying votes and would only contribute to legitimate election purposes. He said he was tired of the question whether a man couldn't be elected to Congress by the decent people of the district without the corrupt use of money, and the experiment was singularly successful, his majority over Astor running up to nearly 3,000. It is a high compliment to Mr. Flower, as well as creditable to the voters of the district, who showed themselves to be above the reach of Astor's gold.

ABOUT twenty-five leading independent Republicans from different sections of the State—men who did not support Mr. Wolfe in his late fight against the supremacy of the bosses, but voted for Bailey rather than that the Republican party should be shattered into fragments—met at the Continental Hotel, in Philadelphia, on Wednesday last week, to deliberate upon and discuss their future action as Republicans. Among those who were present at the meeting were Congressman Bayne, of Allegheny county, Senator Davies, who was slaughtered by the bosses at the Harrisburg convention, Senator Lee, of Venango, Senators Stewart, Kaufman and Thomas, of Franklin, Lancaster and Bucks counties respectively, the editors of the Philadelphia Press and Lancaster New Era, Wharton Barker, of Philadelphia, Thos. W. Phillips, of Lawrence county, the two last named being the only men present who voted for Wolfe, and E. K. Martin, of Lancaster, who read law in this place.

THEIR PHILADELPHIA LETTER. DEAR OLD FRIEND—I sincerely sympathize with you in your deep feeling, and I pray God to grant you all the grace and strength necessary to enable you to bear the heavy burden patiently and uncomplainingly. Your children are both happy in the felicity of God. They are now exempt from all that is evil. Consider your affairs with a grateful heart. Your Father! for so it hath seemed good in Thy sight. You and I may have but a day or two of parting, and I shall be glad to meet us in the here below so that we will be with you for eternity. God bless and comfort you and yours.

LET those who have sorrow not complain, and let those who have joy not boast. Earthly happiness is incomplete. Many magnificent homes have their skeletons hidden in the walls, and still they confront the occupants in secret. Many a seemingly brilliant cup of pleasure is filled with the dregs of misery. It is a great mistake to suppose that the joys and sorrows of life are unequally distributed.

THE FIFTY THOUSAND voters of Philadelphia who didn't vote at the late election are called the "Cameron gang." It is an army of stragglers, who were told off by name, it would seem, by the late Governor, and who were the smallest vote cast in the city at a general election since 1872. Never before in the city was there so general a failure to vote.

THE love of office which inheres in some men in this office-seeking Republic is really wonderful, and in many instances supremely disgusting. A very conspicuous case in point is the candidacy of Greenbury L. Fort for the office of Sergeant-at-Arms of the next Congress, which will meet on Monday work.

THE negro vote has everywhere been prostituted to the worst purposes, but the crowning crime of the negro vote was consummated in Pennsylvania when it was turned over to the tender mercies of the Republicans by the direct agency of Republican party as represented by the late Governor. The negro vote, however, are not to blame for their share in the misdeeds of the Republican party.

IT always takes a rich man to run for Congress in the Eleventh New York (city) district. It was represented at the last session by Levi P. Morton, a banker, who was appointed Minister to France by Gen. Garfield, and it became necessary to fill the vacancy at the late election. Morton's election a year ago is estimated to have cost him $50,000.

HE is wealthy, but he started out in the campaign with the public pledge that he would use no money in buying votes and would only contribute to legitimate election purposes. He said he was tired of the question whether a man couldn't be elected to Congress by the decent people of the district without the corrupt use of money, and the experiment was singularly successful, his majority over Astor running up to nearly 3,000.

THEIR PHILADELPHIA LETTER. DEAR OLD FRIEND—I sincerely sympathize with you in your deep feeling, and I pray God to grant you all the grace and strength necessary to enable you to bear the heavy burden patiently and uncomplainingly. Your children are both happy in the felicity of God. They are now exempt from all that is evil. Consider your affairs with a grateful heart. Your Father! for so it hath seemed good in Thy sight. You and I may have but a day or two of parting, and I shall be glad to meet us in the here below so that we will be with you for eternity. God bless and comfort you and yours.

LET those who have sorrow not complain, and let those who have joy not boast. Earthly happiness is incomplete. Many magnificent homes have their skeletons hidden in the walls, and still they confront the occupants in secret. Many a seemingly brilliant cup of pleasure is filled with the dregs of misery. It is a great mistake to suppose that the joys and sorrows of life are unequally distributed.

THE FIFTY THOUSAND voters of Philadelphia who didn't vote at the late election are called the "Cameron gang." It is an army of stragglers, who were told off by name, it would seem, by the late Governor, and who were the smallest vote cast in the city at a general election since 1872.

THE love of office which inheres in some men in this office-seeking Republic is really wonderful, and in many instances supremely disgusting. A very conspicuous case in point is the candidacy of Greenbury L. Fort for the office of Sergeant-at-Arms of the next Congress, which will meet on Monday work.

THE negro vote has everywhere been prostituted to the worst purposes, but the crowning crime of the negro vote was consummated in Pennsylvania when it was turned over to the tender mercies of the Republicans by the direct agency of Republican party as represented by the late Governor. The negro vote, however, are not to blame for their share in the misdeeds of the Republican party.

IT always takes a rich man to run for Congress in the Eleventh New York (city) district. It was represented at the last session by Levi P. Morton, a banker, who was appointed Minister to France by Gen. Garfield, and it became necessary to fill the vacancy at the late election. Morton's election a year ago is estimated to have cost him $50,000.

HE is wealthy, but he started out in the campaign with the public pledge that he would use no money in buying votes and would only contribute to legitimate election purposes. He said he was tired of the question whether a man couldn't be elected to Congress by the decent people of the district without the corrupt use of money, and the experiment was singularly successful, his majority over Astor running up to nearly 3,000.

HE is wealthy, but he started out in the campaign with the public pledge that he would use no money in buying votes and would only contribute to legitimate election purposes. He said he was tired of the question whether a man couldn't be elected to Congress by the decent people of the district without the corrupt use of money, and the experiment was singularly successful, his majority over Astor running up to nearly 3,000.

NEWS AND OTHER NOTINGS. -In the case now proceeding in the Harrisburg Circuit Court, the defendant asked on Monday for an extension of time to prepare his case, and the court granted it. No objection was made, and with the understanding that there were to be no further dilatory motions the court fixed Monday, December 5, as the day for the trial.

THEIR PHILADELPHIA LETTER. DEAR OLD FRIEND—I sincerely sympathize with you in your deep feeling, and I pray God to grant you all the grace and strength necessary to enable you to bear the heavy burden patiently and uncomplainingly. Your children are both happy in the felicity of God. They are now exempt from all that is evil. Consider your affairs with a grateful heart. Your Father! for so it hath seemed good in Thy sight. You and I may have but a day or two of parting, and I shall be glad to meet us in the here below so that we will be with you for eternity. God bless and comfort you and yours.

LET those who have sorrow not complain, and let those who have joy not boast. Earthly happiness is incomplete. Many magnificent homes have their skeletons hidden in the walls, and still they confront the occupants in secret. Many a seemingly brilliant cup of pleasure is filled with the dregs of misery. It is a great mistake to suppose that the joys and sorrows of life are unequally distributed.

THE FIFTY THOUSAND voters of Philadelphia who didn't vote at the late election are called the "Cameron gang." It is an army of stragglers, who were told off by name, it would seem, by the late Governor, and who were the smallest vote cast in the city at a general election since 1872.

THE love of office which inheres in some men in this office-seeking Republic is really wonderful, and in many instances supremely disgusting. A very conspicuous case in point is the candidacy of Greenbury L. Fort for the office of Sergeant-at-Arms of the next Congress, which will meet on Monday work.

THE negro vote has everywhere been prostituted to the worst purposes, but the crowning crime of the negro vote was consummated in Pennsylvania when it was turned over to the tender mercies of the Republicans by the direct agency of Republican party as represented by the late Governor. The negro vote, however, are not to blame for their share in the misdeeds of the Republican party.

IT always takes a rich man to run for Congress in the Eleventh New York (city) district. It was represented at the last session by Levi P. Morton, a banker, who was appointed Minister to France by Gen. Garfield, and it became necessary to fill the vacancy at the late election. Morton's election a year ago is estimated to have cost him $50,000.

HE is wealthy, but he started out in the campaign with the public pledge that he would use no money in buying votes and would only contribute to legitimate election purposes. He said he was tired of the question whether a man couldn't be elected to Congress by the decent people of the district without the corrupt use of money, and the experiment was singularly successful, his majority over Astor running up to nearly 3,000.

NEWS AND OTHER NOTINGS. -In the case now proceeding in the Harrisburg Circuit Court, the defendant asked on Monday for an extension of time to prepare his case, and the court granted it. No objection was made, and with the understanding that there were to be no further dilatory motions the court fixed Monday, December 5, as the day for the trial.

THEIR PHILADELPHIA LETTER. DEAR OLD FRIEND—I sincerely sympathize with you in your deep feeling, and I pray God to grant you all the grace and strength necessary to enable you to bear the heavy burden patiently and uncomplainingly. Your children are both happy in the felicity of God. They are now exempt from all that is evil. Consider your affairs with a grateful heart. Your Father! for so it hath seemed good in Thy sight. You and I may have but a day or two of parting, and I shall be glad to meet us in the here below so that we will be with you for eternity. God bless and comfort you and yours.

LET those who have sorrow not complain, and let those who have joy not boast. Earthly happiness is incomplete. Many magnificent homes have their skeletons hidden in the walls, and still they confront the occupants in secret. Many a seemingly brilliant cup of pleasure is filled with the dregs of misery. It is a great mistake to suppose that the joys and sorrows of life are unequally distributed.

THE FIFTY THOUSAND voters of Philadelphia who didn't vote at the late election are called the "Cameron gang." It is an army of stragglers, who were told off by name, it would seem, by the late Governor, and who were the smallest vote cast in the city at a general election since 1872.

THE love of office which inheres in some men in this office-seeking Republic is really wonderful, and in many instances supremely disgusting. A very conspicuous case in point is the candidacy of Greenbury L. Fort for the office of Sergeant-at-Arms of the next Congress, which will meet on Monday work.

THE negro vote has everywhere been prostituted to the worst purposes, but the crowning crime of the negro vote was consummated in Pennsylvania when it was turned over to the tender mercies of the Republicans by the direct agency of Republican party as represented by the late Governor. The negro vote, however, are not to blame for their share in the misdeeds of the Republican party.

IT always takes a rich man to run for Congress in the Eleventh New York (city) district. It was represented at the last session by Levi P. Morton, a banker, who was appointed Minister to France by Gen. Garfield, and it became necessary to fill the vacancy at the late election. Morton's election a year ago is estimated to have cost him $50,000.

HE is wealthy, but he started out in the campaign with the public pledge that he would use no money in buying votes and would only contribute to legitimate election purposes. He said he was tired of the question whether a man couldn't be elected to Congress by the decent people of the district without the corrupt use of money, and the experiment was singularly successful, his majority over Astor running up to nearly 3,000.

NEWS AND OTHER NOTINGS. -In the case now proceeding in the Harrisburg Circuit Court, the defendant asked on Monday for an extension of time to prepare his case, and the court granted it. No objection was made, and with the understanding that there were to be no further dilatory motions the court fixed Monday, December 5, as the day for the trial.

THEIR PHILADELPHIA LETTER. DEAR OLD FRIEND—I sincerely sympathize with you in your deep feeling, and I pray God to grant you all the grace and strength necessary to enable you to bear the heavy burden patiently and uncomplainingly. Your children are both happy in the felicity of God. They are now exempt from all that is evil. Consider your affairs with a grateful heart. Your Father! for so it hath seemed good in Thy sight. You and I may have but a day or two of parting, and I shall be glad to meet us in the here below so that we will be with you for eternity. God bless and comfort you and yours.

LET those who have sorrow not complain, and let those who have joy not boast. Earthly happiness is incomplete. Many magnificent homes have their skeletons hidden in the walls, and still they confront the occupants in secret. Many a seemingly brilliant cup of pleasure is filled with the dregs of misery. It is a great mistake to suppose that the joys and sorrows of life are unequally distributed.

THE FIFTY THOUSAND voters of Philadelphia who didn't vote at the late election are called the "Cameron gang." It is an army of stragglers, who were told off by name, it would seem, by the late Governor, and who were the smallest vote cast in the city at a general election since 1872.

THE love of office which inheres in some men in this office-seeking Republic is really wonderful, and in many instances supremely disgusting. A very conspicuous case in point is the candidacy of Greenbury L. Fort for the office of Sergeant-at-Arms of the next Congress, which will meet on Monday work.

THE negro vote has everywhere been prostituted to the worst purposes, but the crowning crime of the negro vote was consummated in Pennsylvania when it was turned over to the tender mercies of the Republicans by the direct agency of Republican party as represented by the late Governor. The negro vote, however, are not to blame for their share in the misdeeds of the Republican party.

IT always takes a rich man to run for Congress in the Eleventh New York (city) district. It was represented at the last session by Levi P. Morton, a banker, who was appointed Minister to France by Gen. Garfield, and it became necessary to fill the vacancy at the late election. Morton's election a year ago is estimated to have cost him $50,000.

HE is wealthy, but he started out in the campaign with the public pledge that he would use no money in buying votes and would only contribute to legitimate election purposes. He said he was tired of the question whether a man couldn't be elected to Congress by the decent people of the district without the corrupt use of money, and the experiment was singularly successful, his majority over Astor running up to nearly 3,000.

THE RESULT IN THE STATE. Following is the full vote by counties in this State for President in 1880 and State Treasurer in 1881. The figures are taken from the official returns and note the large decrease in the vote at the recent election in comparison with that of last year.

Table with columns: COUNTY, 1880, 1881, PRESIDENT, TREASURER. Lists counties and their respective votes for Adams, Cleveland, and Hancock.

Charles S. Wolfe, Ind. Republican, 42,994. James W. Jackson, Greenbacker, 4,407. James W. Wilson, Protectionist, 4,262.

FROM "THE TIMES." Editor Times: See an article in your paper last week from Arnold Parker, I was impressed with the earnestness with which he applied to me to continue to enlighten the world in regard to the means by which he was so miraculously cured of rheumatism and hip-point pain.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD COMPANY had a disastrous accident during the past summer on account of the drought in obtaining water for their locomotives. They are now endeavoring to obtain water from artesian wells at different points along the line of the road.

THE SEVENTH COMET OF THE YEAR—Dr. Director Swift, of the Warner Astronomical Observatory, has discovered a faint comet, P. M. of the 16th inst., discovered a faint comet, tailless comet in the constellation Cassiopeia, which was being in position at 1 hour and 50 minutes and a declination north of 71 degrees with a motion slowly westward. This comet was first discovered on the 7th of December since the first of May last.

THEIR PHILADELPHIA LETTER. DEAR OLD FRIEND—I sincerely sympathize with you in your deep feeling, and I pray God to grant you all the grace and strength necessary to enable you to bear the heavy burden patiently and uncomplainingly. Your children are both happy in the felicity of God. They are now exempt from all that is evil. Consider your affairs with a grateful heart. Your Father! for so it hath seemed good in Thy sight. You and I may have but a day or two of parting, and I shall be glad to meet us in the here below so that we will be with you for eternity. God bless and comfort you and yours.

THE PITTSBURGH WEEKLY. Democratic Organ. No Lowering the Flag. No Coercion. But the Renewal of the Old Time War.

THE PITTSBURGH WEEKLY. Democratic Organ. No Lowering the Flag. No Coercion. But the Renewal of the Old Time War.

THE SUN. Next week the Sun will publish a special number containing a full and complete account of the late election in this State.

THE PITTSBURGH WEEKLY. Democratic Organ. No Lowering the Flag. No Coercion. But the Renewal of the Old Time War.

THE PITTSBURGH WEEKLY. Democratic Organ. No Lowering the Flag. No Coercion. But the Renewal of the Old Time War.

THE PITTSBURGH WEEKLY. Democratic Organ. No Lowering the Flag. No Coercion. But the Renewal of the Old Time War.

THE PITTSBURGH WEEKLY. Democratic Organ. No Lowering the Flag. No Coercion. But the Renewal of the Old Time War.