POSSIBLY A MURDER.

THE BODY OF LOUIS DELAHUNT FOUND ON THE RAILROAD-FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED.

We learn from the Johnstown Tribune of Monday that about 8 o'clock on Saturday night last, the body of a man, mangled beyoud recognition, was found by Watchman Philip Dimond on the north track of the Pennsylvania railroad, at Benscreek, a small mining village distant about a quarter of a mile east of Sonman, this county. The trunk was lying between the two rails, and other parts of the body, including the hards and feet, were discovered scattered about promiscuously over a considerable space. The facts were at once reported by the watchman to 'Squire F. J. Burgoon, and Constable E. B Westbrook, of Sonman, who took charge of the remains. After being removed to Sonman, they were recognized by a man ed Martin Hicks as being those of Louis Delahunt, a well known citizen, who had been employed in a coal mine at Benscreek for some time past. An inquest was held and a local physician examined the body in the presence of the jury, and found a cut on the neck resembling knife wound, and a couple of bullet holes in the breast. A number of witnesses were examined by 'Squire Burgoon, among them being Martin Hicks, John Cummins and William D. Williams, of Sonman. They all testified to having met the deceased on Saturday in Altoona, where he bought an over-coat and two caps. They had come home on the same train with him, and saw him sell one of the caps to one William Edavine, of Lilly's station. Hicks recognized the victim y the other cap, which was found near the ody. Except for this cap it is said the unfortunate man could not have been identified, so terribly had he been mangled.

The deceased, it is alleged, was seen to get off the mail at Sonman and start up the rallroad track in company with Gus. Saunders, lr., and Wm. Russell, fellow-miners. Gus. Saunders was put through a rigid examination at the inquest, and it is said told a very crooked story. His father, who was also a witness, testified to having seen the body on the track, as early as 6 o'clock on Saturday evening. After a long session the inquest was adjourned until 5 o'clock Tuesday ev-

A MONSTER INDUSTRY .- A correspondent of the Philadelphia Press furnishes a recent issue of that paper with the following interesting data in regard to the Cambria Iron Works, at Johnstown:

"It (the Cambria Iron Works) is believed to be the largest institution of the kind, managed by one company in the United States. An idea of its size can be obtained from the following figures: Its annual capacity in tons of 2,240 pounds is as follows: Fig metal, 250,000 tons; cose, 300,000 tons; steel ingots, 175,000 tons; steel rails, 125,000 tons; middle bar, 35,000 tons; from and steel in other shapes, 5,000 tons; tron and steel in other shapes, 5,000 tons; total capacity, 200,000 tons; rail fastenings, 4,000 tons; from and steel in other shapes, 5,000 tons; total capacity, 200,000 tons. Its annual consumption during the year 1881 was (estimated): Iron ore inited and purchased 4,000,000 tons; coal mined by the company, 175,000 tons; limestone mined by the company, 125,000 tons; total, 4,000,000 tons. These figures are given by the company. It affords employment to 8,000 pien. The frontage of its mills, farinces, buildings, etc., in Johnstown, is exactly one mile, and they cover sixty-six acres of ground. There are six blast furnaces, a row of coke ovens, machine shops, foundry, blacksmith, car and pattern shops, wire rod. The company has also one furnace at Conomany, and one at Honnington, two at Hollidaysburg and one at Frankstown, operated in the name of the Blait from and Coal Company, under the general manager of the Cambria Company, Hon. D. J. Morrell. The company was organized in 1852. The iron rolling mill was burned in 1857 and again in 1872, and each time quickly robuits. The company has about 20 miles of ordinary gauge railroad in and about its works, as many miles of narrow gauge track in and about its mines, and lifteen locomotives in service. A year ago it owned 46,400 acres of land, 41,000 acres of which contained minerals. The company has built over 250 bouses in Johnstown for its employes, and is constantly making improvements to its works.

[From the Parsons Eclipse.] town at the present time. The improvement the conduct and good order of the town is plain boose, two fights, nor one runaway.

THE WORLD'S CYCLOPEDIA OF HISTORY.—The first volume of this great evelopedia is announced to be ready in a few days. If it reaches the standard indicated in its prospectus it will be altogether unrivaled in its magnitude, comprehensiveness, and scholarship, and at the same time will be placed easily within the reach even of any industrious laborer. Instead of being made up of brief sketches by unknown authors, as are commonly the historical portions of encyclopedias, it will contain, unabridged, the great standard works of such authors as Green, Macanlay, Grote, Carlyle, Gibbon, Guizot, Mommen, and others. A very comprehensive alphabetical topical index, every comprehensive alphabetical topical index, every can be added to be a such as the works embodied in the cyclopedia, will make ready consultion upon any subject convenient, and will group together such wealth of knowledge and interest as will surprise the ordinary reader and delight the protound student.—Specimen pages received at this office show handsome typography, good paper and good press work. Each volume will contain about foot large, double-column, octave pages, and will be sold at the amazingly low prices of $1.25 for the cloth binding, and $1.40 for the same bound in half Russia, sprinkled edges. The amount of matter contained in each volume, and for so low a price, seems almost startling. Volume I containing, unabridged, Green's Larger History of the English People; Carlyle's History of the Thirty Years War; and Creasy's Fifteen Decisive Battles of the World—all for $1.25. No payment is asked in advance by the publishers, but books will be sent to any part of the United States by express, with the privilege of examination before payment is required. It will be wise for those who want to purchase, to write to the publishers. The Useful Knewledge Publishing Company, 102 William St., New York City.

EDIT OR FREEMAN-Dear Sir: In your is sne of Dec. 23, 1881, I with many others observed an editorial on the Kansas "iron-clad prohibitory liquor law." in which you quote from ex-Gov. Robinson to the effect that there is more drinking in that State now than before the law was passed. In as much as your article has been largely quoted as auhand you some authority per contra.

I enclose you a letter from Rev. Jas. Marvin, D. D., Chancellor of the State University, located at Lawrence, Kausas, and also a slip from the Parsons (Kan.) Eclipse. Will you be kind enough to publish them?
Respectfully, A. S. Monnison.

UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS, CHANCELLOR'S OFFICE, Lawrence, Ks., Jan. 14, 1892. Rev. A. S. Monuison, Ebensburg, Pa.—Dear Sir: I am glad to hear from you. Through the country and in the small towns, and in some of the larger ones, the temperance law is received and made as effective as other laws to prevent vice. In some of the largest places the soverest opposition has used every means possible to defeat the enforcement of the law and to make it unpopular. Gev. St. John's statements are reliable. I enclose two slips which give the right view of the situation generally. Ex. Gov. C. Robinson is doing all possible to defeat the political efforts of Gov. St. John, and, with'a frenty almost or quite inexplicable, has left no means untried to make this temperance law odious. Shall be glad to hear from you again.

Fraternally,

The saloops of Parsons are all closed. We do of believe there is a town in the State where less quer is sold contrary to law than there is in this perceptible to any one. The most rabid anti-pro-hibitionist in the world cannot fail to observe the difference, and admit that it is a good arrange-ment. We would wager a dime with any one that if this state of affairs lasts six months, in all that time there will not be three persons in the cala-

She was a young girl of ability. She got in the car with agility: She sut down on a tack, Got up with a whack, And spoke with great versatility.

And spoke with great versatility.

It is further narrated of the above-mentioned young lady that she wore shoes. And, if the legend goes straight, she bought those shoes from S. Blumenthal, 1119 Eleventh avenne, Altoona, who always has, and has now, the largest and best lot of boots and shoes for both ladies and gentlemen, to be found outside the bur cities. If you haven't time to visit him in person, an order by letter giving measurement, etc., will receive the promptest of attention. In either event—whether you go, or write—the vacility with which the girl jumped off the tack can only be equalled by the rapidity shown by those who flock to Blumenthal's for wear for the feet.
