-Reports from Patrick county, Va., are to the effect that 5,000 persons are starving. The drought last year greatly curtailed the crops in many portions of the county. Hundreds of people are crowding around the settlements imploring aid. A load of corn was received at the court-house a few days ago. Before it could be distributed hundreds of starving women and children crowded around the vehicle imploring to be given a quart or a peck of grain. A courier who arrived at Danville, Na, on Suuday gives a heartrending account of the situation. The court house is crowded with men, women dred of them had not tasted a morsel of food for two days. The county is very isolated and mountainous. The nearest railway sta-tion is 45 miles. In some instances as much as $200 has been offered for a barrel of flour. several wagons with relief have been nushed out from Danville to travel all night in the hope of saving the lives of some.

An acephalic child (without a head) was born in Huntingdon a few days ago, and is causing considerable comment among the medical fraternity. The parents are strong and well developed, possessing ordinary in-telligence, and are not related by any ties other than marriage. Both parents and phy-sician are at a loss to account for the curiesity, or, more properly, monstrosity, and the fact that the mother has given birth fo three creatures similarly deformed within a space of ten years causes greater surprise. The case will be reported to the different medical

Irish Bishops on the Irish Crisis. AN INSANE MOTERN'S A-Chicago dispatch of the 100 A temperate and very important address to the people of Ireland was issued on Sunday last by the Catholic Bishops of that counthe main features of which are given in the following cablegram :

DUBLIN, June 11.—The Irish Hishops have issued an important address to their flocks, promising the support of the clergy to the page is in peace-fully legislating for their rights, but condemning as the worst enemies of their country men, who recommend illegal courses, particularly those belonging to secret secteties. The bishops condemn the recent murders, but believe they were due to evictions, which it is the duty of the government to stop at any cost.

wintons, which it is the daily of the government to stop at any cost.

The bishops in their address point out that what s morally wrong cannot be politically right. "It is an indisputable right," they say, "of the Irish o live on their own soil. It is the right and often Is an indisputable right, they say, "of the frish to live on their own soil. It is the right and often the duty of those oppressed, either by the State or by individuals, to seek redress by lawful means.—On these grounds the national movement has the approval of the priess and bishops and even the approval of the priess and bishops and even the distinction of race or creed, but it is notorious that the means often employed are often utterly subversive of social order." The address specifies these means as reliabling to pay just debts, preventing payment by others, injuring neighbors, in person or properly, forcibly resisting the law, and forming secret accioties and obeying the law, and forming secret accioties and obeying the orders thereof. The bishops say: "Under each of these heads numerous offenses have been committed, fearfully prominent among them being hide outs murders, which even at the present moment disgrace our country and provoke the anger of God and of His Church. We declare that it is your duty to regard as the warst enemy of our tring to kill as bally creed and country the man who would recommend of him the commission of any one of the above named of finese.
