Logansport, Ind. Dec. 1, 1880.

For a long time I have been a sufferer from stomach and kidney disease. My appetite was very poor and the very small amount I did eat disagreed with me. I was annoyed very much from non-retention of urine. I tried many remedies with no success, until I used Brown's Iron Bitters. Since I used that my stomach does not bother me any. My appetite is simply immense. My kidney trouble is no more, and my general health is such, that I feel like a new man. After the use of Brown's Iron Bitters for one month, I have gained twenty pounds in weight.

THE BURNING OF HANNASTOWN.

The following account of the burning of Hannastown, then the seat of justice of Westmoreland county, by a band of Indians, under the command of a famous Seneca chief, Guyasutha, is taken from a detailed account of the affair published in the Greensburg Argus in 1836. The burning of Hannastown and the massacre that followed took place July 13, 1782-one hundred years | Lochry's ill fated campaign, many of the ago last Thursday. The centenary was observed with appropriate ceremonies at the scene of the tragic occurrence, and this account of that terrible day will be read with interest: About three miles from Greensburg, on the road to New Alexandria, there stands two modern built log tenements, to one of which is a sign-post and a sign appended, giving due notice that at the "Seven Yellow Stars" the wayfarer may partake of the good things of this world. Between the tavern and the Indian gallows bill on the west once stood Hannastown, the first place west of the Allegheny mountains where justice was dispensed according to the legal forms by the white man. The county of Westmoreland was established by the provincial legislature on the 26th of February. 1773, and the courts directed to be held at Hannastown. It consisted of about thirty habitations, some of them cabins, but most of them aspiring to the name of houses, baying two stories of hewed logs. There were a wooden court house and a jail of the like construction. A fort, stockaded with logs, completed the civil and military arrangement of the town. The first prothonotary and clerk of the courts was Arthur St. Clair, Esq., afterwards general in the revolutionary army. Robert Hanna, Esq., was the first presiding justice in the courts; and the first Court of Common Pleas was held in 1773 --Thomas Smith, Esq., afterwards one of the judges on the Supreme bench, brought from the east the most abstruse learning of the profession, to puzzle the backwoods lawyers: and it was here that Hugh Henry Breckinridge, afterwards also a judge of the Supreme bench, made his debut in the profession which he afterwards illustrated and adorned by his genius and his learning.-The road first opened to Fort Pitt by Gen. Forbes and his army passed through the town. The periodical return of the court brought together a hardy, adventurous, frank and open-hearted set of men from the Redstone, the Georges creek, the Youghiogheny, moreland."

SUDDEN WHITE HAIR.

With so many professors of the art of rejuvenation proclaiming their readiness to turn old faces into new ones, smooth out wrinkles, obliterate crow's-feet, and restore the hair to its original abundance and color, the putting of young heads on old shoulders should be easy enough; but the proverbial impossibility of putting old heads upon young shoulders still seems to hold, although the feat has sometimes been accomplished by Nature herself. Sorrow, not Time, frosted the bright tresses of Mary Stuart and Marie-Antoinette; and theirs were not the only queenly heads that have been prematurely whitened by care and anxiety. White Hanover was waging an unequal contest with Prussia, a lady in attendance upon the consort of the brave blind king, wrote thus of her royal mistress: "In the last two months her hair has grown quite gray, I may say white. Four months since one could scarcely discern a gray hair; now I can hardly see
