OW A CONFIDENC CITIZEN OF ALLEGHENT TOWNSHIP TOOK FOUR HUNDRED DOL-LARS' WORTH OF INTERRST IN A STRANGER WHO PROVED A SCOUNDREL.

Joseph Boley, an bonest, unsuspecting and industrious citizen, resides in Allegheny township, in the vicinity of Mr. Wm. J. Buck's store, on the Loretto and Carrolitown road, and is the owner of a small tanyard. Four or five week's age a stranger yard. Four or five weeks ago a stranger who gave his name as Henry Richards, of middle age, medium size, respectably dress-ed, and of fair conversational powers, made appearance at Mr. Boley's residence in edford county, where he had been working for a Mr. Borns, and was in search of a loca-tion in which to resume his trade. He stay-ed at Boley's that night and an arrangement was entered into by which the saddlery buslness was to be started by Bolev and himself on the former's premises. Of course some leather not manufactured by Mr. Boley and a variety of other articles were required to start the business, but Richards had no money, nor had Boley the requisite amount, but latter had credit and a good name among his neighbors. After a delay of a week or more without proceeding to carry out their partnership arrangement, Holey took Richards with him to a neighbor who lived a ple of miles distant, and from whom he borrowed $100, giving lifs judgment note for the loan, payable within one year, Richards at the same time giving Botey his (Richards') judgment note for the same amount. Boley either then or before they started to Pittsburg on last Monday week, to purchase supplies for the proposed saddlery shop, handed the borrowed money to Richards, and in doing so committed the greatest mistake of his Arriving in Pittsburg, Richards suggested that he would like to get a suit of clothes, to which Boley assented and $16 were invested at a clothing store for that purpose. They then visited a leather store and purchased $30 worth of that article, after which they took lodging at the "Helvetia House," not far from the Union depot, in tending, as Boley supposed, to close out their purchases next day. About 2 o'clock_next morning Richards got up, and after telling Boley that he could not sleep owing to oppressive heat, he remarked that he would go down stairs and take a walk out in the fresh air. He went, but did not return to bed, nor was he on hand when Bolev came down the morning. The latter waited at the hotel an hour or more for him and as he did not appear went to the leather store and stated to see the Mayor. He called on that official, but was unable for some reason to procure chards. Boley remained in and about the tel until evening, but Richards did not put an appearance. In the evening Boley went up the Connellsville railroad to Port Perry, where his brother resides, and returned the next morning, when he was told by the barkeeper at the hotel that during his for him. He made search for him that day (Wednesday) in a score of saloms, but could not find him. Thursday was also passed in an unsuccessful hunt for Richards, his unsuspecting victim with the usual cool ness of men of his stripe. That he is a firstclass scoundrel what we have above related demonstrates beyond doubt or question.

We call attention to the advertisement of Dr. Orin E. Newton, of No. 55 Smithfield street, Pittsburgh, on our second page. The doctor is a graduate of a Cincinnati medical college, in which city he practiced medicine with eminent success for over thirty years. So successful was he that he acquired a great reputation for his treatment of chronic distribution. Then, like visit eases, and many who came from abroad to try the docror's skill as a last resort are now living and well, and willing totestify that he positively cures cases that have been pronounced incurable. Leaving Cincinnati in March, 1882, the Doctor came, like a good Samaritan, to Pittsburgh, where he established a proposition of the control lished an office and is now practicing and will continue to practice the healing art. He makes a specialty of chronic diseases, such as catarrh, consumption, asthma, bronchitis, &c., and many who have suffered for years have been snatched from the verge of the grave by a few timely visita to his office. He is the author of the "Scientific and Rational Medical Treatment Quarterly" and several other publications. other publications treating on his profession. By reference to the the advertisement there will be seen letters from a number of citizens of Pittsburgh and vicinity recommending the of Pittsburgh and vicinity recommending the Doctor as a kind and skillful physician. To those who are afflicted with any dangerous or disagreeable chronic disease we would say, cut out Dr. Newton's address and the next time you are in the city go and see him. He charges nothing for consultation.

A BARBER'S STRANGE EXPERIENCE .- On Wednesday afternoon a strange man, about six feet tall and having the appearance of a drover, went to a barber shop on Seventh avenue and Fourteenth street, kept by a col-ored individual named Jason, and made ar-rangements with the proprietor to keep the shop open a little later than usual that night for the purpose of cutting the hair of a young for the purpose of cutting the hair of a young lady who he proposed to bring around. Jason remained as he promised, and sure ecough about 11 o'clock the stranger made his appearance in company with a young woman dressed in black. The female submitted to the operation of having her luxuriant growth of hair cut off short, after the prevailing style in which men were their hair, and when that in which men wear their hair, and when that was done she also asked permission to arrange her toilet in a side room. The gallant Jason consented, and the mysterious young woman disappeared for about five minutes. When she came out she was attired in a light colored suit of men's clothing, her cast off garments being tied up in a shawl strap. The man who brought the young lady to Jason handed him $2 for his trouble and the pair departed. Jason happened to be at the station when the four o'clock train left for the west on Tuesday morning, and he saw his visitors of the night before getting on board. This is a strange story, but Jason is a man of truth and vouches for its correctness. Does anybody know who the parties are?—Altoona Tribune. was done she also asked permission to arrange

A CASE OF MISTAKEN IDENTITY .- Men-A Case of Mistaken Identity.—Mention was made in these columns last week that a Mr. Kelita Woodhead, of Baltimore, had come to Johnstown, and the remains of the boy who had been killed by the cars at the station in that place on the 8th of July having been disinterred, had identified them as being those of his son. Mr. Woodhead took the remains to Bristol, Bucks county, where he and his family resided previous to where he and his family resided previous to their removal to Baltimore, and before their burial at Bristol they were identified as those of his son by the rest of the family and also by their former neighbors. Thus matters remained until Sunday last, when, as we learn from Geo. W. Easly, Esq., of Johnstown, who is one of the Poor Directors of the county, and who received a letter from Mr. Woodhead on Monday, the real son, who had taken the lamented Greeley's advice by going west, turned up at his home in Baltimore as full of life and way wardness as he ever was. This strange denouement has, as we learn from the Altoorn "Trioune" crea. burial at Bristol they were identified as those we learn from the Altoona "Tribune" created a fear in the mind of Mrs. Courtney, of that city, that it was her own son, aged about twelve years, who was killed, as he had left to the mind of the second interested will please address. only a few days before the accident and has not yet returned. LEFTER FROM OUR OLD RELIABLE.

CEARADALE, July 30, 1883.

DEAR McPrez-I am here enjoying the society of a dear old sister, with several daughters and her daughters' daughters. This old grandmother and myself are the only living members of a once large and, if not a conspicuous, a distinctive family of the Smith tribe. Our parents were both orphans, and weither my sister nor myself ever had a single relative, outside our own family. We never saw an uncle, aunt or cousin. Had our parents died without issue their races would have been extinct; yet, if there were a rennion of all their direct descendants, enough could be collected together s appearance at Mr. Boley's residence in about Pittsburg and its surroundings to make evening and told him he was a saddler trade—that he had come from Woodbury, prose and poetry were written about their vices and virtues, it would make a large if not an interesting volume. If all the de-scendants of the orphans, William and Ag-nes Smith, were collected together, they would almost equal the swarm of descendants of the sturdy Walter Palmer, who lately > lightful spot, overlooking Monongabela City, on the Monongabela river. While it is not perhaps as alluring a spot as Andalusia, it is nevertheless a lovely one. No softer moon-ight baths in floods of silver sheen were ever vouchsafed the orange groves of Andalusia than are shed over Chrisdale. No balmier breezes blow over Araby the blest, or the gardens of Gul and Cashmere in their bloom, than the zephers which linger in loving dali-ance smid the rose beds, janica thickets and honeysuckle arbors of this Eden. No bluer skies bend their sapplifre arch above the Bay of Naples, or the Lake of Como, than here on Monongahela's enchanted shore. On all the beauteous pendant globe, no fairer realm unfolds itself to tempt an angel down. There comes a time in life, however, when wealth, position, and all the fascinations of the world fail to charm-a time when we realize "all is vanity." A time when those we would care to please are no longer with us, when with Tennyson we exclaim:

"Oh, for the touch of a vanished hand, Or the sound of a voice that is still!" The fallen victim looked woe ful, and remained silent for some time, after which he said, "Well, Pil be damned."— When a man makes use of that expression e gives all to understand that he is badly beat, and accepts the situation. Meetings are being held broughout England in advocacy of Victoria Woodbull's election to the American Presidency, and all of Europe and the bulance of the world are likely to follow suit. The American Victoria is said to be very hopeful. Why not have an American Victoria? pleasant in the higher circles here, too, is the news that American society is to be honored with the presence of that Singlish beauty, the 'Jersey Lily," Mrs. Langtry. We have England's word for it that she is the most beautiful woman in the world. This English Langtry "Lily" will eclipse the aesthetic Wilde, the glaring "Sundlower." At this writing, speculation is rife as to where "Chet" will go after the ad-journment of Congress. Some say that he has selected the Soldiers' Home as his sum-mer abode; some declare that he is going to Alexandria Bay; some say he will either summer at Grove Spring, on Lake Kenpa, or at Conemangh Lake, on the Allegheny mountain; some contend that he will summer at Long Branch or Coney Island, but Madame Grundy positively asserts that "Chet" will summer at Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs, and if there is anybody in this wide world who has his secrets and knows what he is going to do, it is Madame Grundy and Madame Grundy, and, although "Chet's" pretty cottage is being arranged for him at Long Branch, I think that what Madame Grundy asserts is true, and that "Chet" will go to Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs. Wherever "Chet" goes I will go, and it may be before this letter reaches you, or is in print, you will know at what point my next letter will be written. THE MARTINDALE COLLIERIES. - We find the following in regard to an extensive and prosperous Cambria county industry in the Altoona Call of Thursday last:

Altoona Call of Thursday last:

The Martindale branch of the Pennsylvania railroad connects with the main line at Portage and extends south nearly three miles to Martindale, the new mining town recently established in the very centre of the extensiva coal property of John C. Martin & Co., Many new miners' houses have just been completed; others are now under contract, and it is the intention of this firm to formish every miner or employe having a family with a comfortable house convenient to these works.—

Mr. Martin, the general manager, has come to the conclusion that there are as many steady, sober and intelligent milners in propertion to the number employed in the trade as in that of any other, and that with care in the selection of men and then in giving them comfortable home, good school facilities and churches convenient, and in banishing the whisky tarill from the neighborhood, will go far to remove the prejudice from this class of skillful workers, and in fact he has demonstrated that this class of men are not strikers, for his miners have been steadily at work during the entire summer, and are carving fair wages and are content. We understand that an every distant day there will be coke ovens established at this point to manufacture coke for the eastern market. It is said that coke made from the "E" seism of coal on this property will equal that made at Connelisville, if made in bee-hive oven said with same core in coking, etc. The steam saw mill at Portage station so long operated by this firm will be removed to Martindale, and will be used at once to manufacture lumber from the large quantities of valuable timber that yet remain on the estate of the firm. There are over one thousand acres of New England spruce, commonly called ecdar, that has never been cut over at all for logging, that will now be manufacture for all purposes for which the latter is used.
