FIRST CROW of the CAMPAIGN

The Buckeye Democracy on Top for Sure.

THE Onio election took place on Tuesday last. The Republican parrot ery about the tariff being in danger in the event of the Democrats carrying the election seems to have lost all its force as contrasted with its effect in that State in 1980, and the result on Tuesday is a complete Waterloo for the future prospects of the grand old party. It is conceded that the Democratic State ticket is elected by about ten thousand majority, and that at least ten or perhars twelve of the twenty-one Congressmen elected are Democrats, showing a Democratic gain of five certain, and possibly seven. The indominable Buckeye Democrats deserve well of their brethren throughout the Union, West Virginha also voted on Tuesday, and the meadate for Congress in the Wheelme district, but were successful in the remain-

Bless her little heart.

I was fearful that you would not notice the comet's narrative, but am pleased to find it so magnificently described in the FREEMAN. You, however, should have added that just as its mere appearance had begun to satiate the curious it got up a new sensation by spl three sections, opening a new field for spec-ulation as to the nature and habits of this erratic class of celestial voyagers. I regard it as very kind in the comet in these dull days to give the people something new to A living proof that the old saw that "only the good die young" is a lie from the whole cloth is found in a Kentuckian now twentythree years old, who never spoke a saucy word, told a lie or swore an oath in his life. Here is a truly good man who didn't die young, which reminds me of another good man, a companion of my virtuous boyhood days who man a companion of my virtuous boyhood days, who never sanced his parents, never told a lie or swore a wicked oath. A profane word was an abomination in his sight; yet for extreme provocations he was provi-ded with a gentle litary which afforded to his irrated mind the comfort of swearing without the commission of sin. Under very great provocations this good youth would say, "Darn it." The word "darn," to his conscientions mind, was a comfortable resting place-a refreshment to his accerberated spirit, that shrunk from saying the too familiar word with an m in it. So very tender was my good companion's conscience that he had frequent searchings of heart after saying "darn," and indulged in floods of tence. At times he would pender over that hard word, "damn," and had a desire to speak it with that awful curiosity which gives to an unknown sin a hold mon the imagination. Once he thought, what would happen if he should say "damn" out loud .-He said he dwell upon that subject with an awful curiosity, which his good mother told him was a temptation of the devil. He said he did it and looked up apprehensively to see if the walls were going to fall on him, but th and he covered his head with hed clother and fell degraded. Worldly greatness is a very transitory and nesatisfactory thing. Great men are great only a little while. This city of Washington has at this day nearly, if not altogether, two hundred canotaphs planted in honor of memhers who died while in office, but they are only suggestive of a much larger number of members and high officials departed. Many others of these high functionaries who are out of their graves are in diagrace. So we all go. of Washington, have been arrested at the in-stance of the Secretary of the Treasury on a charge of being engaged in a conspiracy to steal bonds and plates from the bureau of engraving and printing and of endeavoring to bribe employes of that bureau to assis them therein. The proof against them is said to be conclusive. -J. S. Williams showed us yesterday, says the Salt Lake Tribune, one of the most sin gular petrifications we ever saw. It consist ed of a bunch of wheat heads upon which a wicket had fastened itself, and all had been turned to stone in the water at Soda Springs in about six months. There were besides bits of petrified cedar, mosses, ferns, etc. It was altogether a beautiful and singular Bishop Walsh, of London, Ont., who has just returned from Ireland, on Sunday referred to the Irish question. He conden ed in scathing terms agrarian crimes, but he quoted statistics to show that there was less crime in Ireland proportionately than in England, Scotland and Wales. -A singular story comes from Upper Milford township, Lehigh county. A fare named Wittimer has a daughter sevents years of age, whose abundant growth of je black hair was the envy of every maiden i the neighborhood. Some one entered her room while she slept, and cut off the long, flowing locks and carried them off. On the table a note was left stating that no harm was done to the lady and that the hair was all that was wanted. There is no clue to the perpetrator of the deed. The desperate and unserupulous bosses have been exposed in a shameless effort to betray the Irish voters of the commonwealth by ascribing to Mr. Pattison a speech which there is indisputable evidence be never deivered, and which he repels with honest in dignation. The whole conspiracy bears up on its face the earmarks of Quay's boson its face the earthards of Quay's boss strategy. But it won't go down this time. It is burnt powder and however successful it was in exciting race prejudice against the Democratic candidate in 1878, it will flash in the pan with the attempt to revive it. The charge that Mr. Pattison spoke disparaging-ly of the Irish people in a falsehood from beginning to end.

-On Monday morning Jacob Becker, a On Monday morning Jacob Becker, a young man in the employ of Barney Farrell & Co., lead pipe works, Pittsburgh, Pa., met with a peculiar and horrible accident, which resulted in his death. He was standing on a scaffolding cleaning the rust off a shaft which was making one hundred and fifty revolutions a minu'e, when by some means his right leg became entangled in a telephothe wire, and, losing his balance, he grayned the wire, and, losing his balance, he grasped the shaft. In an instant he was whirled around with fearful rapidity, and the telephone wire was wrapped around his leg until the limb was severed from the body, when he fell through a hatchway to the ground below. When picked up he was dead. His head was a shapeless mass, and his leg was still dangling from the wire.

News reached Springfield, Mo., on Saturday of a terrible accident which occurred about five o'clock on Friday afternoon near Mountain Store, Wright county, on the line of the Kansas City, Springfield & Memphis Railroad, eighty-seven miles east of Springfield. Men were engaged in blasting rock in a cut on the railroad, and put in ten kegs of powder, when one of the men gave the tamp-ing rod a blow which struck fire from the stone and caused the blast to prematurely explode. Four men were killed instantly, and six others seriously injured. Among the killed was Gordon McDouald, a foreman. His remains were forwarded to Williamsport Ont., where his wife and relatives reside The other victims were inborers, except one man, who was standing by, looking on.

A STRANGE CASE - A correspondent of the Newport News tells the following: Some time in the fail of 1872, Mrs. Catharine, wife of Levi Ditty, visited her brother, who resides near Fisherville. Dauphin county. When she left home she istamiled to stay two weeks, but while at her brother's house she became siek, and during her litness her reason forsook her to such an extant that she did not know any person. Her hus hand was motified, and visited her, but she declared she had never seen him. She also divowned two of her grown daughters, and averred she here was married. About six months after coming two of her grown daughters, and averred she never was married. About six months after coming to her brother's she got away one day and they were under the impression that she had gone house, but when it was discovered that she was not at home, a search was instituted, and after searching five days they found her in the woods lying heside a leg, and almost starved. After being recruited up she would not stay with her brother, but decised her has harmed. which she did, and since that time has lived wi returned as suddenly as it had loft her, and she wanted to go home. When arriving at home she recognized the family except the two youngest children, who had grown beyond her recognition. She says it appears as a great dream. INVITATION

Strangers passing through the city are cordially invited to visit the store, and make free use of its conveniences leaving their luggage under check at any of the doors, or in the Luggage Room in the Department of Public Com-

Really we meant to have this important department in full operation before every. body got back from sea and mountain. It is made for strangers; and they seem to enjoy it, so far as it has got. It consists of a free Reading Room for gentlemen, a free Resting Room for ladies, free writing facilities in both, closets, and other little conveniences; a soda and mineral-water fountain that isn't free; and a lunch froom to be added.

We make the great public welcome there, beyond the wont of any other house, so far as we know. We think it will pay us to look after Public Comfort a little, as a means of advertising. There's nothing sly or crook. ed about it. We want visitors to Philadelphia to have a good time, and to connect our store with it.

New things are coming. and fall trade is already begun. New things do not come all together. They come in a steady stream from now till Christmas. And they go in the same way, They have to. You may easily believe It, when you see our house full all the time, of goods and of people taking them away. I would be hardly worth speaking of so obvious a fact, but for the moral; which is: Buy when you find what you want; for tomorrow somebody else will be after it.

New things will crowd upon us now for mention every day. Only a few can get into the papers, except in the most general way. It will be fair to come for whatever you want, and expect to find it.

New foreign wraps have come. There are jersey coats, jersey ulsterettes pelisses, and others. The writer of this hasn't even seen them. He has only heard of the flutter they are going to make.

Wonderful silks have come. But we must say more about the least of them than we have time for

We have neither time nor knowledge today to go into particulars. This is only an early notice that the store is filling up with goods for fall.

We need to say further to you who live at a distance that you needn't go to the city every time you want any-thing. We take so much pains to send you what you want, that you rick little is writing for goods. Let us know, as nearly as you can what you want, and we will send you samples and prices or take other means of finding out exactly what you de
