BURGLARY IN LORETTO.—We are sorry to learn that the store of our excellent friend, Wm. Litzinger, Esq., of Loretto, was broken into by burglars on last Friday night and despoiled of goods valued, so far as can be ascertained. ascertained at between sixty and seventy dollars. Entrance was effected by prying open a back shutter with a hatchet, breaking a pane or two of glass, cutting a niche at each side and through the inside shutter, and then inserting some kind of an inplement and raising the bar which held the shutter in place, thus allowing both to drop to the floor. Once inside, the thieves helped themselves to several articles of clothing, shawls, boots ery, nubias, gloves, a lady's skirt, canned fruits, and several minor articles. They also, for some unaccountable reason, took a fancy to an old overcoat which Mr. Litzinger had worn for twenty-one years, as well as a long tailed black dress coat owned by the same gentleman and somewhat scuffed by wear. The safe, which contained but little money, was not tampered with. There is reason t believe that three persons were engaged in the robbery, and it is known that they had a wagon with them, though the tracks were not plain enough to be followed for any considerable distance. What clue, if any, has been obtained as to the identity of the guilty parties, we are not respectively.

parties, we are not prepared to state. A GENERALISTAMPEDE.

-Mrs. Emma Edmiston made information a few days ago before Justice Strayer, of Johnstown, against a young man named Samuel Schetschal for fornication and bas-Sameel Schetzenal for formication and bas-tardy. The prosecutrix was married to Ar-thur Edmiston four years ago, when she was only fifteen years of age. Soon after the marriage Edmiston went to the West, and some time in the beginning of last year Mrs.
E. heard that her husband had married a girl in flows and was living in that State. Soon after this she met Schetzghal, who told her he loved her at first sight. She believed her he loved her at first sight. She believed him, and, after some time, agreed to marry him. Scheischal betrayed her, then grew cool toward her, and, although she repeatedly insisted upon him marrying her, he persistently refused to do so. In April last Mrs. E. gave birth to a boy baby, but the young man still refused to marry her, and she finally prosecuted him. When the parties appeared at the Justice's office, Mrs. Edmiston asked him to marry them, but he Edmiston asked him to marry them, but he refused, for the plain reason that her husband is still living. Schetschal was unable to procure bail for his appearance at Court, and was committed to the county fall. It is a novel case, perhaps the only one of the kind that has ever occurred in this county.
