Thut Time will from its cheeks the crimson steal,
And is its stead will leave a lighter shade.

It lived it grew—a flower of beauty rare
Unseen by man, enfolding petals wide;
Its fragrance sweet 'twas not too proud to share,
With modest lily drooping by its side.
The oak majestic bent its kindly form,
And leafy branches wide protecting spread.

AN EXTRAORDINARY OFFER.

To All Wanting Employment. We want live, energetic and capable agents in every county in the United States and Canzda, to sell a patent article of great merit, on its merits. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent. profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents, and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every house owner, it might not be necessary to make an 'extraordinary offer" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its salability by any agent that will handle with energy. now at work are making from $150 to $600 a month clear, and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give out business a thirty days trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, above all expenses can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like ten or more counties and work them through sub-agents for ninety days, and fail to clear at least $750 above all expenses, can return other employer of agents ever dared to make such great offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaracteed, and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eigteen orders in one day. our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and these we wish to send everyone out of employment who will send three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the om, and go to work on the terms named our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer, to send us at once the name and address of all such they know.-Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employ-

SPRING WITHOUT BLOSSOMS Late in Life to Look for Joy-Yet

Never too Late to Mend Readers of Hawthorne's House of Seven Gables' will recall the pathos with which poor Chittori's Pyncheon, who had been unjustly imprisoned since his early manhood, said after his release: 'My life is gone, and where is my happiness.' Oh! give me my happiness.' But that could be done only in part, as gleams of warm sunshine occasionally fall across the gloom of a New Fouland anturen day. Readers of Hawthorne's House of Seven Ganumbine occasionally fall across the gloom of a New England autumn day.

KILLED IN A COAL MINE .- From the

gers were about leaving the mine, having completed their day's work. On every train that enters and leaves the mine there are two eated cars for the use of the miners. On one of these cars Sloan and Rolgers had taken passage, but when the engine stopped they got off the car, notwithstanding the protest and advice of Samuel Spencer, a fellow workman, and groped their way along the cars and past the engine. Both were overcome by the gas before reaching the mouth of the pit. Mr. Sloan sank down upon the track a few yards in front of the en-and goods, consisting of poots and shoes, $1 shirts, socks, 'Coacco, etc., amounting to probabl- afty dollars were carried away.ane entrance was effected through a window, the strips that hold up the upper sash being pried off and the sash dropped, when the burglars were enabled to climb in over the top. When they left they tried to push gether. Mr. James Myers, watchman at the $125. railroad station, on passing the store on Sunday morning noticed the window and on going closer to the bullding, saw a new boot lying on the ground that the thieves had missed when gathering up the goods and immediately sent word to the Messrs Davis
