THE Phtladelphia Times Almanac for 1885 is an improvement on any of its predecessors. It is crammed full of election and other statistics, and contains a vast amount of useful information on a large variety of subjects. It is a very handy thing to have in a printing office.

The facts, moreover are entirely in harmony with what we believe to be the true view of the situation of the counery, a view which we have repeatedly urged, and semetimes, as in May last. when there were many whofte, is ved that we were on the verge of another financial convulsion like that of 1873. That view is that the country is suffering from a reaction from too great and rapid extension of investments in railway adical cause of trouble in this over aclivity was the conversion of a very large amount of available capital into fixed capital paying no profit. It was accom-prises in which capital was sunk to realize the profits expected dashed public confidence in like enterprises and in all enterprises, but it did not absolutely break down confidence. It became more difficult to meet current obligations, but credit had not been so far extended that it was impossible to meet them. The want of confidence was shown not in a universal demand for payment which could not be satisfied, but in the caution with which loans were made and credits extended. The peculiarity of such a situatian is that it is slow, but it is not preceded by general disaster. Business men did not, as in 1873, feel themselves forced to a general standstill, Affairs went on, though slowly and tentatively, and the weaker men were steadily weeded out. The process was a healthy one, and has been recognized as a needed one. it is generally understood. There is very little room for universal distrust, because there has not for a long time been anything approaching that universal blind confidence by which a panic is preceded. The country is recovering its energies gradually but surely, and enterprise, industry and invention of the men of affairs are finding step by step the way out of inaction into profitable activity. There is every reason to believe that we have in the immediate future not a period of "booming," but a period of steady and satisfactory progress, in which every man will have his fair share. - N. Y. ---WASHINGTON LETTER.

As seen by ing in her interest to carry their war- hopeful Democrats, it will be a happy To despondent Republicans, it will be the day of doom. To a class that has grown numerous in Washington of late, it will be a day of mingled hope and despair. The class I refer to comprises a large number of crescent Democrats, those who were Republicans four months ago, but have been growing, growing in the nurture and admonition of Andrew Jackson and Samuel J. From N. Y. Home Journal, January 28th, 1885. Five or six years ago Atlantic City was unknown, except as a summer resort. For a few months in summer thousands thronged its beach and disported in its surf, but with the coming of autumn they vanished, leaving the town to sleep in quiet through the long months of winter. Wise heads, however, saw that there were a midness of climate, an equability of temperature and recuperative properties in the sea air, which would some day attract as many visitors in winter as in summer. An enterprising hotel proprietor kept his house open for one win-ter as an experiment. People came, a few at first, but all experienced decided benefit, and the number increased from year to year, until its reputation as a great winter sanitarium is now firmly established. Last season six or eight hotels were filled with winter guests, and this winter others bave joined the pioneers, and there will be ample accommodations for thousands of visitors.

Many conditions combine to make the place a great winter health resort. Its favorable location on the southern shores of New Jersey at a point, it is said, nearer than any other section of this coast to the Gulf ream, secures for it a gentleness of climate unsurpassed on the North Atlantic. Behind the town is a vast waste of sand, which absorbs the atmospheric meisture, and aids largely in drying and purifying the air.— There is no body of fresh water within fifty miles; the soft sea breezes, tempered by the cean's warm currents, bring to land the health of the sea, while the land winds are robbed of their dampness in their course over the sands. These influences tone down the severity of winter to a degree that is remarkable when the thermometric observations of Atlantic City are compared with those of points of the same latitude further inland. The medical traternity bear overpowering testimony to the efficacy of the llmate in pulmonary and other kindred diseases, and their restored patients are willing witnesses to the same fact.

Apart from these considerations the city self presents a number of desirable feares. It is a well-governed, Laudsomely built, and attractive city of some eight thound permanent residents. All the accessories of city life are at hand. There are miles of handsome avenues, street railway, stores of every description, churches, and an excellent market, supplied with all the abund ance of the land. The, botels originally built for summer use, have been reconstructed and refitted with the appliances neessary for comfort in winter. Open fires upplement the heat of stoves and radiators. vhile they add a charm of cheerfulness to their bright surroundings. The houses are built is full view of the sea, and glass-ensed portices afford both a prospect and a promenade for the invalid too weak to face e eager air.

One's enjoyment of out-of-door exercise is perfect. The bright, bracing air, charged with the freshnees of the sea, is a constant temptation to walks, salis, or drives. For the pedestrian a handsome board walk along the whole ocean front affords a fine field for exercise. A splendid beach drive of ten miles, and a surprising variety of vehicles of all descriptions, offer fine facilities for griv-ing, while the inlet is famous as well for its sailing as for its fishing. There is no need of idleness, if one cares to be active. No epidemic disease has ever prevailed at Atlantic City. The sanitary measures are in the hands of a board of health, the members of which fully appreciate the responsi-bilities of their position. Pure drinking water is introduced from the interior, and a system of sewerage is now being provided. which promises to prove a most potent factor in preserving the health of the growing The topography of the town does not admit of natural drainage, and formerly the refuse and waste were carted off by contract. This plan proved unsatisfactory, and it was determined to employ some more effective methods. a commission was appointed to examine various systems of drain age, and devise the best possible plan from such as had worked effectively elsewhere. The committee studied the question with care, and chose as the best what is known as the "West System," By this method the waste and sewerage are forced through pipes to a central reservoir, and thence pumped out to a point beyond the corporate solid substance is converted into phosphates and the liquid, purified by filtration, is allowed to flow into the bay. This is a most effective method, and one that has been used with great success in this country and in Europe. The work of laying the pipes is being pushed forward with vigor by a New York firm, and the early completion of the work is confidently expected.

In the matter of accessibility no resort is more favored than Atlantic City. From Philadelphia it is a ride of one and a half and from New York four and a bait hours by the Pennsylvania Rauroad. To the residents of the East and North it offers the double inducement of easy access, complete change of climate. In a day's journey they may pass from the rigors of a orthern winter into the geniality of early

To All Wanting Employment. We want live, energetic and capable agents in every county in the United States and Caneda, to sell a patent article of great merst, on its merits. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent. profit, having no competition; and on which he agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county be may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents, and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every hous owner, it might not be necessary to make an 'extraordinary offer' to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its salatility by any agent that will handle with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $150 to $600 a month clear, and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days trial and fail to clear at least $100 to this time, above all expenses can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like ten or more countles and work them through ub-agents for ninety days, and fail to clear at least $750 above all expenses, can teturn ill musoid and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make uch great offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making nore than donnie the amount we guaran teed, and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eigteen orders in one day .our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fally, and these we wish to send everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. WHY THE DOCTOR WAS DISGUSTED, AND WHAT MIGHT HAVE DONE WITHOUT HIM, Might have done without him.

"Well, wife." said Dr. P.—, as he entered his house, which was shouled in a coay village in central New York." I have got back from a long and dreary ride away down among the mountains, and all to no purpose whatever. The messenger said the man wouldn't live till marring, when the fact is be had only an ordinary attack of colic. If the simpletons had only had sense enough to put a BENSON'S CAPC INE PURCUS PLASTER on his stomach be would have been all right in an hour or two. But some folks are slow to learn, added the old physician, swallowing the cap of steaming for his wife had just poured for him. Dr. E.— was right; yet people do learn, even though slowly. The rapidly increasing use of Henson's plaster proves this beyond guestien, and the good doctors are certain to be saved much of their needless ioi!
