THREE WEEKS DOWN SOUTH

Next morning Saturday, we had set apart for attending the "Exposition." Street railroad curs left the city every few moments for the grounds, and steamboats left the Canal street wharf at stated intervals. The distance about five miles by the Mississippi, ou direction up the river being northeasterly. We found the Exposition building on the Western front of the river, and in sight of it. It is on an extended plain containing 245 acres, known as the Upper City Park. 1 shall not attempt to describe the buildingthe fact that it covers over one and a half millions of square feet sufficiently speaks its immersity. To say that the whole building cutside and inside is grand and imposing is a mere common place-yet my want of architecural knowledge precludes my going into particulars. I thought too the arrangement of the various productions of the different States could not be more happy. To attempt anything like a particular description would tire, without informing the reader. Each State was represented by its favorite productions and the number and variety ex ceeds belief. There was no exhibit in the whole building that excited more favorable comment than that of the Cambria Iron

In the Mississippi counties the cotton tree, the cedar and others formed the embellishment. (The State is not divided into counties. What is counties in other States, is called Parishes in Louisiana )

The intense heat of the day made it a relief when evening approached. It was the most oppressively hot day we experienced during our whole journey. After a luncheon at the Exposition restaurant we sought the return steamboat and reached Canal street about sundown.

This street is the great business street of from the steamboat landing. It is the great Gauntner, aged about 35 years. business centre of New Orleans.

FIRE. -At about a quarter after ten ! clock on Wednesday night the citizens of our usually quiet town, were startled by the light in the saddlery establishment of Isaac Davis, above the store room of John Lloyd they attached a small bose to their hydrant and commenced throwing water on the fire. As the fire was in a back room it was difficult to ascertain the exact locality of the fire, and when the lose carriage arrived and the hose attached to the plugs, water was thrown into the building through the door and windows and also holes were cut in the roof and a stream of water poured into the garret. In a short time every vestage of fire was gone and the water was the element likely to do the most damage, as it began coming through from above into the store room of John Lloyd & Sons. They immediately set to work to protect their goods as much as possible by covering them with gum blankets, coats, etc., and thus saved a large amount of their goods that would otherwise have been damaged and company, and I could not fail to exult in destroyed. Their loss will be considerable, the triumph of machinery and productions however, as they only covered the most valuable goods and a great many were wet. Mr. Isanc Davis' loss is estimated at about $200, he having tost several new saddles and a lot of new and partially figurished harness on which he had no insurance. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER. The great popularity of this preparation.

after its test of many years, should be an assurance, even to the most skeptical, that it is really meritorious. Those who have used HALL'S HAIR RENEWER know that it does all that is claimed.

It causes new growth of hair on bald heads—provided the hair follicles are not heads—provided the hair follicles are not dead, which is seldom the case; restores natural color to gray or faded hair; pre-serves the scalp healthful and clear of dandruff; prevents the hair falling off or changing color; keeps it soft, pliant, lus-trous, and causes it to grow long and thick.

Hall's Hair Renewer produces its effects by the bealthful influence of its vegetable ingredients, which invigorate and rejuvenate. It is not a dye, and is a delightful article for toilet use. Containing no alcohol, it does not evaporate quickly and dry up the natural oll, leaving the hair harsh and brittle, as do other preparations. other preparations.

Buckingham's Dye WHISKERS Colors them brown or black, as desired, and is the best dye, because it is harmless; oduces a permanent natural color; and, produces a permanent them, is more con-being a single preparation, is more con-venient of application than any other. PREPARED BY
