An Incident of Onmy Life,

James Milson Cherrod said he had a peculiar experience once while he was In samp on the Pondre, in Colorado, "We went over from Larmy," said he "In July, eight years ago-four of us. There was me and Charcoal Brown and old Jos and young Jos Connoy. We had inst got comfortable down on the lower Fork, out of the mach of everybody and sixty miles from a doctor, when Charcoal Error of sick. Well, we had a highly of D. You can imagine - something about it. Long in Brown bogan to groan and 11 at baller, and I made a diagno-Ha didn't have much sand 619 -The west 'rsing to get a penanyhsion the government on the grounds of descrition and failure to provide, or some such a blame thing or other, so I didn't feel much sympathy for him. But when I lit the gas and examined him I found that he had a larger ferer on hand, and there he was without a doggon thing in the house but a jug of emigrant whiskey and a paper of condition powders for a mule. I was a good deal nattled at first to know what the dickens to do fur him. The whickey wonldn't do him any good, and, besides, if he was goin' to have a long apell of sickness we needed it for the watchers.

"Wall, it was rough. I'd think of a thousand things that was good for feversand then I'd remember that we hadn't got em. Finally old Joe said to e James, why don't we eask his foat?' save he, 'Rouk outbin' t save I: what would ve and tom is 91. Wo had a long-bandled fraine and we could heat water in it of course but is was for shaller to do not mod, so howso we abandoned that avponsis right off. First I thought I'd try the condition powders in him, but I hated to go into a case and prescribe so reckloso. Finally I thought shout a case of cheminal's that I had up in Bitter Creek years ago and how the hove filled their socks full of hot ashes and put 'em all over me and I got over it. So we began to skirmish around the tent for socks, and 1 hope I may be testotally sknn if there was a blame sock in the whole syndicate. Ez fur me, I never wore 'em, hus I did think young Joe would be fixed. He wasn't though. Said he didn't want to be considered proud and high string, so he left his socks at home.

"Then we begun to look around and finally decided that Brown would die pretty soon if he dian't break up the fever, so we concluded to take all the ashes under the camp fire, fill up his close, which was loose, the his aleevee at the wrists, and his nants at the arankles, give him a dash of condition the taste out of his mouth and then see what nature would do.

So we stond Brown up agin a tree and poured hot ashis down his back till

Take a Country Paper.

Every citizen should subscribe and pay for a newspaper printed in his own county. It is right and advisable to take a city paper, or several of them, if it can be afforded, but to take a city weekly to the exclusion of the home paper, is the embodiment of foolishress. Of course, a country paper with one ortwo thousand sufserifers, cannot be issued for the same and a city paper with 100,000 subscribers and The reasons are too obvious to mention.

No paper that goes to the fireside of the farmer is so eagerly read as the country paper. The head of the fam and the wife and children, awalt will impatience its coming and more columns with great interest. It is the coucty paper that records the deatoand marriages of the persons of your acquaintance; that informs you of hold ing court, the names of jurors, the cases to be tried and the partles interested-in fact, that gives you all the legal news and informs you of all other local matters of interest. This is news that no city paper can furnish, and if a man should receive a dozen of city newspapers he st l' could not do with out a good local paper.

A WONDERFUL GIRL,-Here is a most extraordinary story, which is commended to the perusal of the young and to be sarefully treasured in memory -

"Once in a large city there dwelt a mulden whose mother, being in moderate circumstances, was put to great straits to so educate her daughter that she might occupy a higher walk in life, She worked hard and deprived herself of every comfort. And how was she rewarded ? Strange to say, this young lady appreciated her mother's sacrifices and did all she could to lighten her labors. Upon returning from school, she devoted her time to the kitchen until the hour for her music lesson arrived. and then she would make the plano how). She arose party and assisted with
