THE spirit of Seventy-Six is rife in the capitals of Indiana and New Jersey. Not the spirit of 1776, but the spirit of 1876, when the will of the people of the United States was overthrown by a gigantic fraud. In Indiana a member of the Legislature who received a majority of the votes has been thrown out of his seat because he held an incompatible office, and the defeated candidate put in his place. The elected candidate was doubtless not eligible, but it was a flagrant fraud on the right of representation to give his seat to a candidate whom the people had not elected. Similar methods are to be used in New Jersey to overthrow the lawful majority in order that the Republicans may maintain their control of the Senate of the United States. A political party may temporarily protract its existence by such fraudulent and desperate expedients, but it cannot avert its doom .- Phila. Record.
