Sailing Among Glaciers. We had already sailed past several glaciers larger than the Mer-de-Glace, of Mont Blanc, but they were so far away that we got no adequate idea of their extent.

A Philadelphia Ledger correspondent writes from Florida: A short journey through the pine woods southward from Jacksonville to the sea coast took us to St. Augustine, the oldest town in this country.

The upper surface of the glacier was full of deep fissures, and at the water-level there were mysterious caves which no one dared explore. Pieces of ice, large and small, were constantly dropping into the sea.

Curious Experience of Ducks. A curious event occurred near the West Main street railroad crossing in Meriden, Conn., a few days ago.
