One destination from the track, and he would go crashing down into its depths, to certain destruction. He was hearing the cabin now. Two more sharp turns and it would come into view, and he would slacken his speed for a moment that he might have a word with his little girl.

When he came to himself he was lying on his own bed, in the boarding house, at the entrance to the pass. His mother sat beside him, and Tommy sat on the floor, and he was trying to move his right arm, but it was useless. Then he lifted his left arm to his head, and found it covered with bandages. His mother came forward, and he saw that she was crying.

There was a new view of the matter, and the men were silent, if not convinced. No one opposed Charlie Ruggles' decision, and in a day or two he entered upon his new duties. He was sent into the mountain region to help look after the engines on the highest passes in the State. Until one has crossed the Rocky Mountains by rail it is impossible to form an idea of the awfulness of these passes. The train creeps slowly up the mountain, with laborious steps, giving a sensation of painful exertion. The road winds about to find the easiest grades, now zigzagging back and forth, now crossing itself by means of trestle work or tunneling under, but always going upward, slowly but surely.

There are 82 National cemeteries. A complete list, with the interments at each one, would require more space than the importance of the question warrants. The principal cemeteries and the number buried in each are as follows: Andersonville, Ga., 13,714; Antietam, Md., 4,671; Arlington, Va., 16,264; Beaufort, S. C., 9,241; Corinth, Miss., 5,716; Chattanooga, Tenn., 12,962; Chalmette, La., 12,511; Fredericksburg, Va., 16,257; Gettysburg, Pa., 8,575; Hampton, Va., 3,424; Jefferson Barracks, Mo., 11,490; Little Rock, Ark., 5,602; Marietta, Ga., 10,151; Memphis, Tenn., 13,977; Mount City, La., 5,226; Nashville, Tenn., 16,526; Newberne, N. C., 3,254; Pittsburg Landing, Tenn., 3,389; Taylor Grove, Va., 5,199; Fort Hudson, La., 3,819; Richmond, Va., 6,542; Salisbury, N. C., 12,126; Soldiers' home, D. C., 5,602; Stone River, Tenn., 6,145; Vicksburg, Miss., 16,600; and Winchester, Va., 4,439. About 75,000 soldiers are buried in all the rest of the cemeteries. These monuments, usually consisting of a granite pedestal surmounted by a stone figure standing on end in all or nearly all of the National cemeteries. The government has also furnished headstones for every grave. - Toledo Blade.

Sunday morning - Miss Travis - "Ah, Johnny, have caught you with a fish-pole over your shoulder! I shall go right and tell your father. Where is he?" Johnny Dumpey - "Down at the foot of the garden digging the bait." - Burlington Free Press.

ST. FRANCIS' COLLEGE, LORETTO, PA. Board and Tuition for the Scholastic Year, $200.

Count it a triumph if your venture fails. Pick up the broken flag-staff at your feet; Fling to the winds again its tattered sails; Never is there a loss.

EGGS OF INSECTS. The large and reliable circulation of the Commonwealth... Insects' eggs are not all of an oval form, like those of birds, but some are like a pear, some like an orange, some like a pyramid, and some like a flask.
