

Official Returns of Democratic Primary Election,

Held on Saturday, June 7th, 1890.

Democratic County Ticket. For Governor, ROBERT E. PATTISON. Subject to the decision of Democratic State Convention.

Table with columns: Districts, County Treasurer, Assembly, County Commissioners, Auditor, P. H. D., System. Lists results for various districts like Adams Township, Allegheny Township, etc.

Democratic State Convention. The Democratic State Convention of Pennsylvania will assemble at the Academy of Music in the city of Scranton at 10 o'clock A. M. on Wednesday, July 2, 1890.

SENATOR QUAY IS GOING TO THE Republican State convention as a substitute from Beaver county.

PRESIDENT HARRISON'S calibre fits him for doing great many small things, but he draws the line when it comes to kissing a Pittsburg baby.

CHAUNCEY F. BLACK has been elected to the gubernatorial nomination by the York county Democrats.

At the Democratic county convention held in Indiana county last week, delegates favorable to the nomination of Pattison for Governor, were elected.

INQUIRY made in France in order to carry out the new law giving certain advantages to fathers of more than seven children has elicited among other things, the fact that there are 2,000,000 households in which there has been no children.

THE Chicago Tribune, a Republican newspaper in good standing, estimates that the McKinley bill will save the people $70,000,000 on sugar and tobacco, and will increase the annual cost of other domestic articles estimated $237,250,000.

THE Bradford Star says: "After the nomination is made, whoever it may be, the Republican press of the State must bear the burden of the fight, and it will be the most miserable and blundering leadership that will impose upon the press and the party an apologetic, defensive, glass-house campaign."

JOHN WANAMAKER, who bought a Cabinet office, says the New York World, by contributing to a corruption fund, advertises the crankiness which he imagines to be pious by giving a president without wine in honor of a president who goes from morning prayers to breaking his pledges, appointing rogues to offices and abjuring from punishment rascals whose crimes were committed in behalf of the party of "great moral ideas." Oh, for a forty power power to chant the praise, Hypocrites!

On Saturday last Pattison delegates were elected at the Democratic primaries held in Chester, Mautour, Cumberland, Franklin, Luzerne and Cambria counties. Delegates favorable to Senator Wallace, were elected on the sameday in Clinton and Forest counties.

In Blair county Pattison delegates were elected, but as Wallace delegates were chosen some time ago, it is a question as to which set of delegates represent the Democracy of Blair county will have to be decided by the convention.

If the R-republican party had the gratitude which all political parties ought to have, says the Louisville Courier Journal. It would make James Donald Cameron its Presidential nominee in 1892. If James Donald Cameron had a saved the life of Matthew S. Anley (Q. Y. Dr. Benjamin Harrison would not now be appointing good R-republicans to fat offices. It was only the prompt and generous action of Mr. Cameron that kept Mr. Quay from making a McGlady of himself in the Saquehanna.

A MEMORIAL from prominent dry goods dealers of Chicago was presented to the Senate Monday by Mr. Farwell. It protests against the passage of the McKinley tariff bill as a measure in the direction of increased, rather than lower duties. Objection is made particularly to the increase from 35 to 70 cents on manufactured lines; 30 to 60 per cent, on linen laces, lace window curtains and embroideries, and the almost prohibitory duties imposed on cotton hosiery and underwear.

A BILL has been framed by Representatives Oates, of Alabama, which if passed, will compel all aliens holding lands in the United States to sell them at once or have the titles forfeited. The measure is aimed at the big syndicates that now hold millions of acres in the west and are constantly acquiring millions more.

LAST week the Republican State convention of Alabama nominated Noble Smithson for governor and James M. Vernon for Secretary of State. It is now discovered that they are ineligible, having not resided in the State a sufficient number of years.

THE Republicans in this county have scaled proposals out for a man with a "barrel" to run for County Treasurer. The biggest barrel takes the chestnut.

On this page will be found the official returns of the primary election held on Saturday last. As a matter of course, a number of Democrats are disappointed in the selection of the primaries, but that is a natural result and must always be so.

The primaries are for the purpose of making a selection of candidates and all who participate in the election, either as candidates or voters, are in honor bound to abide by the result.

Let there be no bickerings over the nominations made at the primaries; the successful candidates can afford to forget any wrongs, real or imaginary, that may have been done them in the heat of the contest, while the defeated aspirants, some of whom may have reason to complain, should manfully strive for the election of their successful competitors for the same reason that had they themselves been nominated, they would have had the right to expect and demand the support of the men now on the ticket.

It is the duty of every Democrat to submit gracefully to the will of the majority, and from now until the polls close on the evening of election day to put his shoulder to the wheel and use his best endeavors for the success of the ticket nominated.

Tilden's Will. Judge Beach, of New York, Wednesday rendered a decision in the famous Tilden will case, maintaining the decision of the General Term, and holding that the testator's will, and the fact that the dead testator's estate should be distributed as if he had died intestate.

The clause objected to by Mr. Tilden's relatives is the one which provides a certain trust to be created out of the residue of the estate after all legacies are paid. This trust was to be managed by a Board of trustees named in the will, and the amount of property included in the trust should be laid aside for the establishment of certain public libraries. One was to be established in New York, and the Tilden residence on Gramercy Park was identified in the will as the building to be devoted for that purpose. A second library was to be located at Yonkers and a third at Mr. Tilden's birth-place in Central New York. Others were to be established at the discretion of the trustees of the fund.

There was also a provision which forbade the legatees from contesting the will. A second library was to be located at Yonkers and a third at Mr. Tilden's birth-place in Central New York. Others were to be established at the discretion of the trustees of the fund.

It then went to the General Term, which reversed the decision, declared the will to be void, and ordered a new trial to the Supreme Court for a new trial.

Wednesday Judge Beach upheld the decision of the General Term, and ordered the Tilden trust money—$200,000—distributed and the Gramercy-Park house sold, in order that the proceeds may be divided as the will directs. A stay of proceedings will be asked for, and the case will go to the General Term, and from there to the Court of Appeals, before a final decision may be reached. As a Constitutional question is involved, the case may be transferred to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Death of an Aged Priest. Rev. Father Jacob Nagel, of the Benedictine Order, and also one of the pioneers and early priests of the Pittsburgh Diocese, died at the parsonal residence, at St. Mary's Church in Buffalo a few days ago. Father Nagel, at the time of his death, had been a priest longer than any other in the world.

Must Take Drinks sitting. Over 15,000 tables and 20,000 chairs have just been put into all the bar-rooms of Boston, and the bars are torn away. All drinks must be taken sitting down, at a table, with eatables. All liquors must be drawn in an adjoining room and served with the food, which must be taken sitting. Bills of fare now read as follows:

Ham sandwiches, with lager, 10 cents; hard crackers and cheese, with ale or beer, 10 cents; hard crackers and cheese, with Holland gin, 15 cents; hard crackers and cheese, with pink or claret, 75 cents. And so on over two pages, crackers and cheese, with something else.

Nearly all bars remain in place but a few have separated them from the main bar-room.

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is created in the memory and is rarely wholly the good health has been attained is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health, to the use of the Great Alternative and Tonic. If you are troubled with any ailment of Kidney, Liver or Stomach, or long or short standing, you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 10c, and 5c per bottle at E. James', Ebersburg, and W. W. Reichert's, Loretto.

JUDGE HICKS, of Minneapolis, has just decided that a newspaper has the right to publish a statement of a questioner, when that statement is libelous in itself, when the publication of it is not actuated by malice. Such a decision is of good sense and it ought to be sound law.

Very Owdy. Mrs. Emily G. Mills, "widow lady," likes Harrison better than she likes Cleveland. Her husband was a third assistant engineer during the war, but she was an uniformed and escaped being killed, wounded, "taken" by the insolent foe and sold to slavery, or to fall prey to malaria, rheumatism or any other of the ailments which attend the life of a soldier.

It must have grieved Emily G. to know that her brave husband missed every day of every decrepit breeding disease, but in 1873, her spirits rose within her when her husband was brought home dead as a mackerel. He had been shot not by rebels, there were none in 1873, but by a companion who had gone with him on a hunting expedition and who, in firing at one of the rebels, had shot the contents of his gun into the body of Engineer Mills "retired." Emily G., after retiring her husband forever, gave a specific memory gift by getting a little pension for herself, but there was no law in force by which she could be rewarded for the loss of a husband, a specific memory gift by getting a little pension for herself, but there was no law in force by which she could be rewarded for the loss of a husband.

While a traveling circus was delighting the mill operatives of Fall River, Mass., a poverty-stricken mother is said to have sold her 4-year-old son, Michael Monanz, to a side show manager for $25. The side-show manager intended to make an acrobat of the youngster.

A Montreal Judge has decided that it is illegal to try and collect a debt anywhere but at the domicile of the debtor, and that to ask on the street for money that is due constitutes an assault. Canada must be as pleasant a place for debtors as it appears to be for defaulters and hoodlums.

Within fifteen hours, ending Thursday morning, three prominent citizens of Montgomery county were officially declared insane: Charles Streoper, a wealthy resident of Springfield township; Christian Beener, a wealthy butcher of Norristown, and John Conrad, a farmer of White Plains township.

The Lebanon Pa. works have been awarded the contract by the secretary of the navy to furnish all buoy chains for the United States coast from Maine to California, for the ensuing twelve months. This is the largest order of buoys ever given out by the government, and will keep the works running to full capacity for an entire year.

Arthur Connelly, a mill worker, shot and instantly killed his wife, Annie, aged 22, with a Robert rifle, at their home in Lawrenceville, Allegheny Co., Pa., on last Saturday morning. Connelly claims the shooting was accidental. He was arrested and locked up pending the coroner's investigation. The couple were married seven months ago, and as far as known there was no trouble between them.

Mrs. George Marshall, of Anliston, Alabama, was a bride of three days. Their marriage three days ago brought forth congratulations from admirers and friends all over that section. In furnishing the pretty little apartments that were to be their home a slight difference of opinion brought on a quarrel. She wanted to arrange the furniture one way. He wanted it another. The quarrel ended at all violence, but it made a deep impression on the bride. When her husband returned home he found her dead. She had locked herself in her room and taken a dose of morphine. The husband is distracted.

About 5 o'clock on Sunday afternoon a carriage drawn by two white horses, passed rapidly along Saint Catherine street, Montreal, Canada, containing four persons who proved to be Eugene H. Cowles, of Cleveland, his child, wife and brother-in-law. Just opposite No. 4 Fire street station Cowles drew a revolver and shot at his wife, but missed her. The brother-in-law then shot Cowles, the outlet passing through his neck. The carriage was driven to the general hospital, where the wounded man was placed under Dr. Kirkpatrick's charge. Other physicians were called, a consultation held and at last accounts some hopes were entertained of his recovery.

The regular Sunday bridge-jumping performance at Cincinnati, was varied on last Sunday with a tragedy. Dan Wilcox dived from the middle span of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Bridge. Half way down he turned and struck the water flat on his chest. He was taken out of the water bleeding at the mouth and nose. Remarkably the doctor but he walked to his home two squares away, sat down, gave three gasps, and died. The doctors found his liver and stomach had been ruptured and the other internal organs torn from their places. Wilcox was 35 years old, notion was a life saver, having rescued 24 persons from drowning. He had been drinking all the morning, and made the dive because he was battered. The river is 117 feet beneath the bridge.

THE PALMER AND STARR. Rev. F. M. Starr, Pastor of the First Baptist Church, Blue Mount, Kan., says: "I feel it my duty to tell what wondrous Dr. King's New Discovery has done for me. My lungs were badly diseased, and my mother thought I could live only a few weeks. I took five bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery and an sound and well, gaining much in weight and strength."

Arthur Love, manager Love's Funny Folk Combination, writes: "After thorough trial and conviction, I am a convert to Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It bears 'em all, and cures when everything else fails. The greatest kindness I can do my many thousands of friends is to urge them to try it." Free trial bottles at E. James' Drug Store, Ebersburg and W. W. Reichert's, Loretto. Recvlar sizes, 50c, and $1.00.
