

Democratic State Ticket.

For Governor, ROBERT E. PATTERSON, of Philadelphia. For Lieutenant Governor, CHAUNCEY F. BLACK, of York. For Secretary of Internal Affairs, WILLIAM H. BARCLAY, of Allegheny.

Democratic County Ticket.

For Congress, THOMAS H. GREVY. Subject to the decision of Democratic conference. For Assembly, M. FITZPATRICK, of Gallitzin. ED. T. McNEELIS, of Johnstown. For Treasurer, CHARLES J. MAYER, of Johnstown. For Commissioners, PATRICK E. DILLON, of Eder Twp. JOHN KIRBY, of Johnstown.

For Auditor, WILLIAM C. BERRY, of Wilmore. JOSEPH HIPS, of Chest Twp. For Poor House Director, S. W. MILLER, of Johnstown.

GOVERNOR BEAVER on Wednesday granted a respite in the case of Altem H. Smith, the Allegheny county murderer, until November 25.

The Louisville Courier Journal remarks: It is beautiful charity when American manufacturers sell goods cheaper to "foreign paupers" than to American workmen.

The postmaster's convention of Cambria county turned down Captain Thomas Davis as a candidate for Congress. What a wonderful feat the Republican party has for the old soldier.

EX-SENATOR LEWIS ENNEY, JR., says he has proofs of the charge made by him against Senator Delamater. He declares that he will lay them before the public before long in a way that will substantiate every charge that he has made.

CONGRESSMAN SCULL has the conference from Somerset and Cambria. J. D. Hicks has Blair county and John Cameron Bedford county. Mr. Scull, who have you got to give for a conference from Bedford or Blair? Better be ready with something nice and make a good bid at the start.

The census just taken gives the State of Nevada a population of 40,000, 15,000 less than Cambria county. Nevada has two United States Senators, a Representative in Congress, and three electoral votes and was admitted as a State because it would add to the Republican vote in the electoral college.

The Republican party will have to go out of business for want of capital. Its leaders have looked horns on the Force bill and the McKinley tariff bill, which was regarded as a panacea for all the ills that the Government is heir to as declared by James G. Blaine, to be a fraud. There is nothing left but the bloody shirt.

The Census Office at Washington has ordered a recount of the population in the One Hundred and Tenth Enumeration District of Pennsylvania, which embraces Mauch Chunk and Carbon counties. In examining the schedule from this district, the Census officials discovered over 500 duplications of names, and at once decided that a recount would be necessary.

CAMBRIA county's Republican convention on Monday very wisely refrained from expressing any opinion in their resolutions in regard to the Force election bill upon which Senator Quay, Cameron and others on the one side and President Harrison, Senator Hoar, Edmunds, Clear Reed and others on the other, have looked horns. Cambria county's Republicans prefer to wait until the scrimmage is over and then shout with the victors.

If the manufacturers who want to go into the tin plate business cannot go into it without an additional tariff, they had better stay out of it. The people who use tin plates are not caring whether they are made at home or abroad and the cheaper they get them the better. The farmers and consumers, who pay the tariff and get no benefits are getting very tired of these mendicants who are eternally asking for alms. The people have no use for an industry that cannot walk on its own legs.

If it be true that James McManes, of Philadelphia, intends to support Governor Pattison and the Democratic ticket there is likely to be a rattling among the dry bones of the Republican party of that city. Chris. Magee's paper, the Pittsburg Times, has a dispatch from Philadelphia saying that Mr. McManes is very sore over his failure to get his favorite, Robert Laughlin, appointed sub-treasurer, and that he has practically told Gov. Pattison that he will announce himself as a supporter of his candidacy about the first of September.

A TERRIBLE cyclone struck Wilkes-Barre Pa., on Tuesday afternoon about 5 o'clock and left a track of ruin in its path that has rarely been equalled. The heavens were as black as night and the wind blew with a most frightful velocity. Whole rows of trees were blown down. Following this hundreds of houses were unroofed, partially blown over or completely demolished, and worse than all the visitation of death was sent upon a number of people. How many were killed is not known at this time. Large districts in several sections of the city are in absolute ruin and women and children are in the streets crying and wringing their hands in absolute dismay. The damage will reach hundreds of thousands of dollars. At least 15 persons were killed and a great many injured.

THE Republican Convention that met here on Monday, was well attended so far as delegates to a Republican Convention go to represent the party in this county, but was remarkable for the beggarly array of men who were postulated to become candidates. Every postmaster in the county had guaranteed Chairman Barker, that his district would be represented, and they were as good as their word, every district in the county with the exception of five, had some patriot on hand to answer at the roll call.

It had been an open secret for some time past that there would be trouble to get suitable candidates for the leading offices, men with bootie to put into a campaign have always had the preference in the Republican party in this county, but this year no patriot with bootie bobbed up of his own accord, and as the time for the convention grew near, it became painfully evident to the leaders that none could be stirred up.

John M. Rose, of Johnstown, who by a trick in the Democratic ranks two years ago was elected as a Republican member of the House of Representatives from this county, and who gained some distinction in the legislature for his ability as a whistler, is not on the ticket. By all the usages of political parties, Mr. Rose was entitled to a second term. By all the courtesy of political gratitude Mr. Rose, owed the Republican party of this county the benefit of his services as a whistler for a second term. But Mr. Rose saw the hand writing on the wall, said no, and was present in the convention determined not to go down with the ticket.

Samuel Patterson, of Barr township, late census enumerator for that township, who has been a chronic candidate for County Commissioner in their party, was finally induced to accept the nomination for Assembly, and as no running mate could be found, but one candidate was nominated.

For Treasurer, William H. Ramsey, of Johnstown, received the nomination. Mr. Ramsey is no doubt, gratified by this mark of distinction. He is a young man, who did not know that he was a politician when he arrived in Ebensburg, and will learn later that his youth and inexperience were the qualities that commended him to the good graces of the leaders of the convention.

The office of County Commissioner was reserved by the present Commissioner, J. G. Lyle, but John Wright of Summerhill township, was put on the ticket with him. Mr. Wright may think he is a candidate up until the eve of the election, but after that he will wonder what struck him.

The balance of the ticket was filled up as a matter of course, without any regard as to whether the men named were candidates or not. Geo. A. Kinard, of Ebensburg, and C. B. Cover, of Johnstown, for Auditors and P. U. Story, of Ashville, for Poor Director. One Auditor is bound to be elected and Kinard and Cover, may make their fight if they think it worth fighting for. One Commissioner will be elected and that one, Commissioner Lloyd. The balance of the ticket nominated on Monday may as well take to the woods in time.

The McKinley bill, says the Pittsburg Post, to humbug the farmers raises the duty on potatoes from 15 cents a bushel to 25. But the potato crop this year, there is scarcely a doubt, will be the greatest failure ever known. The farmers in some sections will be compelled to buy their seed potatoes for next year, and the 25 cents a bushel duty will be a tax on them as well as all other consumers, and especially to the great body of workmen in manufactures and mines to whom potatoes rank after bread as the staff of life. There will be fewer potatoes this year than in 1887, when we imported 8,350,000 bushels and the importations will be larger if the foreign market can supply the demand. The country will take twenty millions if it can get them, for the American crop will be clean gone by winter. That being the case, how is it a protective measure to raise the duty to 25 cents a bushel and take five million dollars from the consumers of potatoes, to be such a glorious benefit to the working people, whether on the farm or in factories and mines? Put on your thinking caps, potato buyers.

We exported 40,000,000 bushels of wheat last year, and imported 1,000,000. The imported wheat was probably wanted for seed, or maybe it may have been raised in some corner of Canada where it could not readily be sold to any other customers than people of the United States. The whole tariff duty collected on this wheat was $389, the duty being 20 per cent. Now it is proposed to raise the duty to 25 per cent., in order to make the farmers think that they are protected on a commodity of which they have an immense surplus to sell, and for which they are obliged to accept the prices paid in foreign markets for wheat raised by the ill-paid laborers of Russia, India and Egypt? We doubt if the Flathead Indians could be fooled by the performance with which Republican Congressmen seek to impose on the tillers of the soil in the United States.

SENATOR QUAY last week offered a resolution in the Republican Senate caucus providing for a vote on the tariff bill on the 30th inst., and to postpone till next December consideration of the federal election bill and other legislation. The Quay resolution has raised a storm in the Republican ranks that threatens to disrupt the party. Quay recognizes the fact that unless he gets the tariff bill through he will have up hill work in raising money from the tariff beneficiaries for the election of Delamater, while the Edmunds, Hoar and Reed element of the party want the Force bill passed in the hope that the Republican party may do their own counting and keep themselves in power.

THERE will be great competition between the Republican Congressional conferees from Blair and Bedford counties. There is a plumb in the pudding for one, and one only. Fruit is awful scarce this year.

Bold Train Robbers.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 18.—The safe of the Pacific Express company was robbed of $90,000 by train robbers on the Missouri Pacific railroad yesterday morning. The train which was the Kansas City Limited express, No. 3, left Tipton, Mo., at about 3 A.M. Two mysterious figures were seen by the engineer looking around the forward end of the train but no particular attention was paid to them. Just after leaving Tipton the fireman turned toward the tender to fire up the engine and looked squarely into the eyes of two robbers in the hands of two masked men, who were lying on their faces on the top of the coal. One of the bandits covered the fireman with his revolver and the other took care of the engineer. They were told to hold up their hands and the engineer ordered to run the train to Ottewille water tank. "Robber's cut," just east of Ottewille. When "Robber's cut" was reached the engineer was commanded to go to the express car and tell the messenger to open the door. He did so under the threat of death if he should fail. When he reached the express car he found the messenger and five confederate stationers at the door. The messenger, a car, all heavily armed and their faces concealed behind masks. They walked to the door of the express car and called out to the messenger to open the door. A very suspicious man, dressed in a dark suit, stepped forward and ordered the messenger to hold up his hands. The order was promptly obeyed and three of the robbers jumped into the express car and the messenger to open the safe, and at the point of a revolver did so. One of the robbers unfolded a sack and into it were placed the contents of the safe. The messenger then made their escape without attempting to molest the passengers. The engineer pulled the train into Ottewille, and the messenger, there a part of the crew were left to search the express car and organize a posse to pursue the robbers. The news of the robbery was telegraphed to the headquarters at Leavenworth and all the available force of the road was sent to "Robber's Cut." The sheriff's posse and the detectives are now scouring the country for the robbers. The exact amount of money and valuables stolen cannot be learned, but it is understood that the other valuable property amounted to about $10,000. The robbers are unknown.

A Light in the West.

It is becoming more evident each day that the need policy of tariffs and Force bills does not suit the Republicanism of the West. A policy which may be conceived as encouraging the Blue Noses down East is too chilly for the warm temperaments of the Western people. The Texas Capital, official organ of the Republican party in that State, has a candid and to the point article on "congratulations." Senators Plumb and Ingalls "for their independence and their consideration of the interests of the people on the last of August." He declares that it can see in the McKinley bill "no effort to revise the tariff for the benefit of consumers." The Omaha Republican expresses the opinion that the Senators of Kansas and Nebraska will manfully persist in their revolt against the McKinley bill for the reason that they are not in sympathy with the tariff. "The West insists that the tariff shall be revised downward, and not upward." It warns the Republicans in Congress that "this is the only policy by which the party can retain its power." Evidence of this kind might be multiplied to show that the Republicans of the West have no sympathy with the hostility toward the measures of the Reeds and McKinleys which may well give pause to wise politicians. While denouncing the McKinley bill as a fraud upon the farmers, leading Republican newspapers of the West maintain an ominous silence in regard to the Force bill. As in the case of the measure of Coercion with Corruption meets with no favor, except from thorough-going partisans who may be expected to apply the machine without regard to pieces. Hence, those who are proceeding to a sort of ballot reform, in order to placate those of their own party who desire a reform in the machinery of the government, are adopting an attitude which is not only unwise, but also unwise. The people of Pennsylvania who hope for such a revision of the election laws as will secure a perfectly secret ballot and so make bribery and intimidation impossible are disappointed. If democracy for its accomplishment. The Democrats of the State had no higher motive than simply the securing of a party victory, which is now very largely denied them. They are to be trusted rather than their opponents whose interest lies in the maintenance of the present election system. But Democrats are not to be trusted. The Australian ballot law, in Rhode Island, New Jersey, Tennessee, Kentucky and Indiana they have put it upon the statute books. In the case of the Republicans of our own Legislature treated with contempt the proposition to adopt it. This issue should be made in every senatorial and representative district in the State. It is either to be adopted or it is to be rejected. It is now the time for the people to move if they mean to get ballot reform from the next Legislature.—Harrisburg Patriot.

Indiana.

Washington, D.C., August 17.—Congressman Bynum, of Indiana, in discussing the situation in that State, says: "The danger to the Democracy in Indiana is overconfidence. President Harrison's administration has been carrying the State. Should the Republicans win, his renomination becomes a necessity. While his administration has not given satisfactory results, I think the disaffection will not amount to much by the time the election comes off. I think the Democrats of Indiana will retain their present membership in Congress. While some of the members had small majorities two years ago they will not encounter the corruption and frauds which the Republicans resorted to in 1888.

"It would be difficult to say upon what issue Republicans will go to the country. All that seems to be left to them in the tariff issue, and they are not united upon that. As for the money, why they are not united upon that. The compromise measure passed does not come up to the promises made during the campaign, and is not satisfactory to those who favored a Service Pension bill.

Heads Split Open.

Bloomington, Pa., Aug. 17.—News of a shocking affair which occurred near Danville last night has just been received here. Pat Monahan and Frank Schurz were engaged in a fight with an axe in the hands of a Hungarian named Minnie. Monahan and Schurz approached Minnie's house at a late hour, presumably to steal some property. Minnie, who was a woman, followed her husband to the door. The latter became furious, and seizing an axe struck right and left at his assailants. Schurz received a blow in the head which almost severed half of it. His companion, Monahan, fell similarly by being struck in the forehead. Strange to say both men are alive, but cannot recover. Minnie was placed in jail to await a hearing to-morrow.

John Burns, who led the great London dock strike, has gone back to work. He thinks the good results of a strike, when there are good results, do not compensate for the loss to the strikers.

Wolfe for Pattison.

At the annual harvest home picnic of the Union county farmers held at Lewisburg on Friday, Charles S. Wolfe, the great independent Republican leader of 1882, boldly declared for Pattison in a lengthy speech, in which he said: "Four years ago Mr. Hulings, a former Republican member of the House from Venango county, in the Republican State Convention offered a resolution pledging the party to the simple enforcement of the anti-discrimination provision of the constitution. The convention refused to adopt the resolution, thereby showing their complete subservience to the railroad power. Six weeks after the close of the last session of the Legislature, after a Revenue bill had passed both Houses that gave very substantial relief to the farmers, the Governor of the Commonwealth happened to discover that it lacked the signature of the President of the Senate, and therefore could not become a law.

"With his knowledge of the way in which things are done at Harrisburg, he was quite sure it was no accident. Just what official or officials were responsible, he could not say; but he was quite sure it was the fault of a high official and not the result of a high and unscrupulous power.

"When Mr. Pattison was Governor he had the courage to obtain an injunction against the Pennsylvania Railroad in its purpose to buy up and absorb the South Penn Road. He had the courage to take by the throat the freight pool against the Pennsylvania Railroad, and to face the proceedings pending against them in the Courts. His only escape was to select a Governor who would continue the litigation. He would like to ask Governor Beaver what had become of those suits?

"In all his official acts Governor Pattison has shown the courage to stand by the farmer against the hoodwinked and oppressed farmer against the chicanery and arrogant oppression of corporate power, and thereby had incurred their enmity. Let us hope that the farmers have been the especial guardians of the corporate interests, and while professing to have very great concern for the farmer, have been doing him wrong and feeding him on husks."

In conclusion he challenged any one present to stand up and refute any statement he had made. What he had said was true, and he would be glad to meet Mr. Quay or Mr. Delamater or any other Republican and discuss with him, before the people of Pennsylvania, the question of the complete domination of the Republican party of Pennsylvania by corporate power.

Ballot Reform.

The burning question of the present political canvass in this State is that of ballot reform. A perfect secret ballot is the beginning of every political reform. The present system, which is naturally and necessarily conservative of the laws, just or unjust, wise or otherwise, under which it is administered, is a barrier to every great political reform. It is a barrier to the great political reforms which are now being proposed in this State. It is a barrier to the great political reforms which are now being proposed in this State. It is a barrier to the great political reforms which are now being proposed in this State.

The Mammoth Cave Surprised.

A dispatch from Normandy, Tenn., says: "There is intense excitement at this place over the discovery Tuesday morning of a mammoth cave, which surpasses the Mammoth cave in size and number. Tuesday morning, as a party of gentlemen were inspecting the country in the neighborhood of this cave, they discovered a cave, and directly beneath it and Tullahoma, they accidentally discovered the entrance. Previously there had been a report that the cave had been awakened a few nights before by a rumbling sound in the earth. The mouth of the cave seems to have been exposed by slide of dirt and rocks from the side of the hill. The party entered the cave and walked a good distance by the light from the lanterns, which is about 5 feet in height and 12 in width. No light was seen further, returned to Normandy, got lanterns, and then went back to the cave, arriving there about 5 o'clock in the evening. They walked a good distance, and it seemed to be a direct line all night, but found no end. There was a small creek running through the cave from north to south, and the water was very high and seemed to be smooth. Except here and there stalactites hung from the roof of the cave, the passage was clear. The distance traveled could not have been less than twenty miles. Retracing their steps, they arrived at the mouth at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. They say there seemed to be no end to the cave. In some places the passage is hundreds of feet wide. As the mouth of this cave lies at the foot of what is known as the Laurel hills, it is believed it extends under the whole table land, and the people at this place have gone wild with excitement over the discovery. An exploring party will go in the cave and will stay three or four days or find the end."

NEWS AND OTHER NOTINGS.

Two young women of alleged questionable character were tarred and feathered by young men of Manor, Pa., Monday night.

One dead, one fatally injured and one imprisoned, was the result of a gas explosion in a mine at Farmersburg, Ind., on Tuesday.

A carpet being in a room of the Mint after being in wear some years, was burned the other day in pans, and yielded $2,500 worth of gold.

William Neely, a butcher residing at Derry, Pa., sustained an internal injury while lifting the other day, and on Tuesday morning he died from the effects.

Ex-Congressman W. L. Scott sold from his farm in Northampton county last year $85,000 worth of truck. The farm expenses were $63,000 a year, so a net profit of $22,000 was made.

A huge catfish was found alive imbedded in a hollow log in a mill dam at Martinsburg. It swam in a small boat when a little fish was unable to find its way out and grew in the log.

Fred Babner, of Reading, suddenly experienced a loss of weight from 156 to 96 pounds, and a few days ago found the cause of it to be five lizards that had been living in his stomach.

A gang of barn burners is at work in the vicinity of Canonsburg, Pa. Five barns have been burned in the past few weeks, the last one being that of C. E. Strothers, causing a loss of $4,000.

The color line is drawn in Nova Scotia restaurants. A colored clergyman of Halifax has sued the proprietor of the railroad restaurant at Cabot, N. S., for refusing to allow him to sit down at the same table with white folk.

John H. Jamason, a millionaire banker and broker, of New York, Saturday evening committed suicide by hanging himself with a sheet to the knob of his bedroom door. His wife was ill in health. Deceased leaves a wife and child.

One of the largest forests in the world stands on ice. It is situated between the Ural and the Okhotsk Seas. A well was recently dug in this region, when it was found that at a depth of 136 meters the ground was still frozen.

One of the features of an electrical exhibition at Frankfort is to be the transmission of power (500 horse) a distance of 14 miles. It is not pretended that this can be done economically, but the mere doing of it will be one of wonders of the exhibition.

County Judge Max Stein, of Edinburg, Texas, was shot and killed by Mrs. Della McCabe at Reynolds, Mexico. He had succeeded Mrs. McCabe's husband as judge, and she killed him in revenge. Before being overpowered, the woman knickered down several policemen with her revolver.

Dalton, the American swimmer, swam the English channel, Sunday night, from France to Folkestone, a distance of 60 miles. He was in the water 23 hours and 25 minutes continuously. A great crowd at the shore cheered him when he completed the feat. He fainted on the beach from exhaustion.

A jam of logs on the Donganess river, Washington, has backed up a body of water eight miles long by two miles wide. The people living miles below the dam are in great danger of being swept away and their property ruined. When the break does come they say it will be another Johnstown affair.

John Williams and his white paramour, Mrs. Jennie Smith, were warned by White Caps a few days ago to leave Uniontown. The woman went but Williams remained. Friday night a number of masked men broke into his bedroom and gave him a terrible whipping with rawhides, lacerating Williams fearfully.

It is not generally known that a single mouse turned loose in a grocery window will catch more flies in a single evening than a paper catcher can do. And, besides, he catches and don't give them flying around loose. Don't give the mouse his little mischief, he is a good fly and roach exterminator.

Clinton Schueck, who shot himself in the head with suicidal intent five weeks ago, after murdering Louisa Brunet, at Swamp, Northumberland county, died on Sunday in his cell in the county prison. Soon after the discovery of the murder Schueck was found hidden in Brunet's barn, and rather than face the angry crowd that had assembled, he shot himself in the eye and ear.

At a recent marriage in Boston, the bridegroom, who is interested in mining in the West, conceived a very pretty idea in regard to his wedding ring. Instead of purchasing a ring in the conventional way from some jeweler, he himself mined the quartz, panned it out with his own hands, and it jeweled under his own eyes and took it to a jeweler and had it made into a heavy gold band which his wife now wears.

Oil City has a woman who is the mother of five children. Besides looking after her offspring, she washes for her neighbors and milks the cow. Her husband, after his labor is done in the evening, returns home and lays the foundation wall for his house with the stone his wife has collected and carried in her arms from the adjacent hills during the day. She also prepares and mixes the mortar he uses in laying the wall.

There is a wonderful well near Del Norte. The force of the water brings up from the depths a constant lump of native silver or a gold nugget. Local scientists claim that at a great depth and under enormous pressure the water is washing away a ledge of rock, whose softer parts go into solution and give the water its mineral qualities, but whose gold and silver, not being dissolved, are brought to the surface in a metallic state.

A shepherd dog fell into a dry well in Oglethorpe county, Ga. A young man went to the cabin's rescue, and as soon as the animal heard his voice, went into raptures of delight. The man propped a rope long enough to reach the bottom of the well, and lowering it was surprised to see the dog grasp the end firmly in his mouth and hold on until he was drawn to the top. The dog had received no injuries, and, being given a hearty beef meal, was as frisky as ever.

A man of figures at Saginaw has calculated that the average person trims off a thirty-second of an hour of all from each finger every week, or three inches a year. The average of human life the world over is 40 years. Ten feet of finger nail for each finger—a round 200 feet from the 20 fingers and toes. There are 1,300,000,000 people in the world, and altogether they waste no an average, 300,000,000 feet, or 56,818.15 miles of finger nail in a generation—sufficient to reach around the earth and still leave 10,000 miles to do our scratching with.

William H. Smith, the Pittsburg wife-murderer, was removed to Dixmont Insane Asylum on Monday morning. A telegram was received from Sheriff McCandless on Saturday evening ordering his removal from the jail to the asylum. The Sheriff had gone to Harrisburg to consult with Governor Beaver on the case. Sheriff McCandless was in doubt whether a mandamus from the Court was sufficient. It is presumed the Governor refused to interfere with the authority of the Court. Smith was backward about leaving the jail, fearing that he would be killed.
