Father Jutz says the Indians do not want to be disarmed. This is the keynote of the conference. If General Miles says they will not be disarmed, a instead of a gold basis, with such a repeacable settlement will take place. A lan has been suggested to separate the Brules and Ogallalas, and send the Brules back to their reservations and turn the Ogallalas over to Captain Pierce, the newely appointed agent, to be disarmed or not, as he pleases.

Light-Weight Dollars.

The gist of the silver controversy lies wholly in the fact that 4121 grains of silver will not sell for a dollar. If so much silver should be worth a dollar there would be a sudden abandonment of the pressure for free silver coinage If so much silver should be worth a dollar the issue of bullion certificates for the market value of the metal would satisfy the owners of bullion.

Suppose that Congress should law that three pecks of wheat should The injustice of such a make a bushel! proceeding would be manifest.
