The new fashion journals, "La Mode," "La Mode de Paris," and Album des Modes," published by A. McDowell & Co., 4 West 14th street, New York, are the most elegant of their kind ever brought to our notice. The styles are drawn by the best artists; and the books are produced by riartists; and the books are produced by ri-val houses in Paris, each trying to excel the other in the character of its publica-tions. Formerly they were printed only in French, but they are now printed in English for the benefit of American read-ers. These journals furnish the styles one month is advantage. month in advance of any other similar pub-lications; and they have a practical de-partment, in which lessons are given each ohn Flick, Mr. T. the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. He had them locked in a compartment of his cab The prisoner admits having been on Hood's engine, but declares that he is innocent.

Brooks was born in Uniontown, Pa., 41 years ago and became an expert railroad engineer. He held several good positions. He became known in almost every city in the United States. He became general agent for the inventor of a burglar proof door and window lock who lived at Irwin. Pa. He made big money by this and Brooks shared the profits. Agents were sent out all over the United States. He next gave public exhibitions of his skill as running to eatch a ball, in the excitement a picker of tocks. He could do the work with wooden toothpicks. His street lectures were followed by numerous small robberies. Stores and houses were entered. It was thought that Brook's lectures had given the hard characters a clue to use in opening locks without keys. Suspicion never rested on Brooks at the time. During six years ne carned $75,000 which he lost. He lost, also, valuable property at Moringside. He is single.
