

AN HISTORIC BRIDGE.

The Karlsbrücke of Prague and Its History.

For centuries it has spanned the Moldau, but recent floods have threatened its destruction.

A short time ago the dispatches from the famous Karlsbrücke or Charles bridge, across the Moldau at Prague were dooming to destruction by the great floods which have been creating such havoc in central Europe.

To write a history of the Karlsbrücke, says the Chicago Post, would be to write the history of Prague during the past five centuries.

Prague was the favorite city of that splendid monarch, Charles IV., "the scouter of the empire, but the father of Bohemia."

KEEPING WATCHES IN ORDER.

They should be subjected in Perfect Regularity of Treatment.

In order to keep the "going" of a watch as regular as possible, says Chambers' Journal, it should be subjected to regular treatment.

People should wind their watches in the morning, not only because they generally rise more regularly than they go to rest, but also because a spring fully wound up will more readily overcome the disturbances which affect the correct going of a watch during the day.

The capacity of a watch, or more correctly its keeping correct time, is very much governed by its construction and its more or less perfect finish.

A watch should be cleaned every two or three years, if it is desired to preserve it. In time the oil decomposes, gets mixed with the particles of dust which enter the works of even the best cleaning watch, begins to act as a grinding material and wears out the working parts.
