The coffee cup is a capital barometer. After the sugar has been put in if the bubbles collect in the middle of the cup the weather will be fair; if they leave the center and adhere to the sides, a storm is forming a ring of bubbles with a clear space in the middle, there will be rain; if they scatter themselves indifferently on the surface, the weather will be variable, while a cluster of bubbles at one side of the cup indicate rain.

Ray Lloyd, a thirteen-year-old Westmoreland county youth, after purchasing eight boxes of toy pistol caps, went home with them to his father's house. He had the boy across her knee and proceeded to administer a thrashing. About the second or third stroke the rod came down across the pocket with the caps in it and there was a splash of water which landed on the boy's back, scattered them over the room, and badly burned both the mother and the boy. Moral: When you go to whip your boy, be sure he is loaded.
