She had one of these sweet, angelie faces, with great, prayerful gray eyes. and no one would think there was any thing of the joker about her. She sat in her front pew in one of the fashionable up-town churches, says the New] York Times. Her pretty head was | avail. bowed over her prayer book. All was as quiet as a tomb in church, and the silence seemed to impress her. Suddealy she looked up and her great gray eyes quickly surveyed the crowd of silent worshipers. Then just the faintest suggestion of a langh crept into her gray eyes, and she coughed two or three cute little coughs. Then the head went down over the prayer book again and the smile on her face broadened as her neighbor coughed, and her neighbor's neighbor coughed, and the cough was taken up here and there and everywhere until the once silent tabesnacle had the sounds peculiar to the consumptive ward in a big hospital.

As the sweet young hely with the big eyes came out of church she was heard to say to her escort;

"Now, you see that coughing in church is largely a matter of habit. One person coughs, and the rest of the congregation follow suit. I know it was very wicked of me, but when I looked up and noticed how silent everybody was I had to try the experiment of seeing how many people would cough if I did. It was such fun."

THE COLORING OF FISHES. Initwence of Sunlight on Their Appear-

Various explanations have been sug gested for the fact that most flat fish have the dorsal or upper surface colored and the ventral or lower surface white. It has been said that the white ventral surface protects the fish, for the surrounding water with the light shining through it has about the same tint, and so an enemy floating below and looking up could not distinguish him. Recent interesting experiments to discover the influence of sunlight on the color of flat fish are noted in the Revu-Scientifique

Having placed a few young fish in a glass vessel the experimenter covered the sides and top of the vessel, placed at on a support and beneathit so arranged a mirror that, the sunlight was reflected into the water and illuminated the ventral faces of the fish while the dorsal faces were in durkness.

The natural conditions were thus reversed. The water was frequently changed and the fish were well fed. At the same time similar fish were placed in a glass vessel and exposed to the light in the usual way.

The result was that out of thirty fish

Two lamps are suspended outside, one red and the other green, and by pressing a button in the entrance hall one or other of the lamps can be lighted at will. The red light brings to the door the conservative "growler," and the green light summons a hansom. This new idea has been so much appreciated by Londoners that it is now proposed to establish a system of carriage calls for theaters and other places of amusement by means of which a carriage could be called from within the entrance hall by the exhibition of a luminous number or sign in a conspicuous position in front of the building.
