The Ariel Quartette, at the Star Course concert, last Mondny evening, showed what constant practice will do for good voices. Their uniformity and rich blending as a quartette was at once satisfying and surprising. Some of their numbers were done in an original and "catchy" manner that took the audience by storm, and on the whole they can rank thomselves as one of the first ladies' quartettes in New England. On Wednesday evening Rev. Thomas Dixon, Jr., will lecture on "Backbone." Here is what S. Henson, D. D., said of him at a banquet at the Grand Pacific Hotel, Chicago:

Grand Pacific Hotel, Chicago:

I always feel, a fter hearing Dixon, as if I had been on a spree (laughter), and wanted to go on another (rerewed laughter), for I see angels instead of snakes, legions of angels. You saw them, didn't you? Do you know how it is that Dixon comes to be so eloquent? I have the secret. He was brought up in a state concerning which I learnest from Oiney's geography, a great while ago, that its principal commodities were tar, pitch, turpentine and lumber. Now, what a mass of combustibles? And they are all bound up in Dixon, and fired with genious. That is the reason why he blazes so." (Laughter.)
