FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1892

The navy department spent $5,000,000 in preparing for war with Chile.

The Democrats will hold their state convention at Harrisburg on Wednesday, April 13th, and the Republicans one week later at the same place.

MISSISSIPPI reports that 14,000,000 lbs. moderate estimate of the sufferers from famine in Russia who require aid, as they are without other means of support.

A resolution was introduced in the House and Senate at Washington on Tuesday authorizing the President to return to Mexico twenty battle flags, captured by United States troops during the war with that country.

The President on Tuesday issued a proclamation in regard to reciprocal trade relations with Germany, and making public the modifications of the tariff laws of the German Empire as to certain products of the United States.

Timbering and two sisters of John W. Birgin, the sister of the Baltimore, who was one of those killed by the mob in Valparaiso, and whose home was in Philadelphia, has sent to Washington a formal claim against the Government for indemnity.

The Indianapolis News (Ind. Rep.) which helped to carry Indiana for Harrison in 1888: "We do not believe any Republican candidate can carry Indiana against Cleveland. With him for the Democratic candidate we think Indiana is as safely Democratic as New Jersey."

"A prominent Democrat" is cited by the Washington correspondent of the Louisville Courier Journal to the effect that in 1892 there will be a Democratic President, a Democratic House of Representatives and a Democratic Senate. There is certainly every indication at present that such will be the case.

JUDGE FIRST, of Bellefonte, has concluded that he will not grant naturalization papers to any foreigners who have not read the Constitution of the United States. On Monday he refused to give papers to a young German, who has lived in this country over ten years. Ex-Governor Curtin says the decision is illegal.

THAT man proposes and Providence disposes was beautifully exemplified in the case of William D. West, who died in the hospital at Leadville, Colorado, on Monday. Letters were found in his trunk showing that he had proposed and was engaged to marry 12 girls in different parts of the United States. He had a picture of each one.

The delegates from the four remaining territories of Oklahoma, Arizona, Utah and New Mexico are loudly knocking at the Statehood door for admission. They feel confident that the Democratic House will pass the necessary bill for their admission, but the Republican Senate will likely obstruct the legislation, since three of the four Territories are Democratic.

In the case of the Commonwealth vs. J. A. Mellon and W. H. Porter, of the Beaver Store, convicted a short time ago of libeling Senator Quay, Judge Wickham at Beaver, Pa., on Monday sentenced the defendants to each pay a fine of $600 and undergo an imprisonment in the county jail for a term of six months. The punishment is looked upon as being oppressively severe and unjust.

An important decision was rendered at Wilkesbarre, on Monday by Judge Rice, in which the question was whether banks are rendered exempt from local taxation on securities upon the payment of the six mill state tax. The issue was raised by the Wilkesbarre deposit and savings bank, and the court decides that the act of 1889 does not exempt banks from the payment of the local state tax. The case will probably be taken to the Supreme Court.

The National Education of Albion, Pa., claims to have settled beyond doubt the question as to who is the oldest and youngest school teacher in the United States. Both honors belong to Pennsylvania. Samuel Campbell, principal of the Port Royal, Juniata county schools is the oldest. He is 75 years of age and has been teaching for 57 years. The youngest is Miss Clara Greenwald, of Greenwich township, Berks county. She is teaching her second term and is 15 years of age.

The United States Supreme Court on Monday upheld the constitutionality of the Anti-Lottery Act of the last Congress, affirming the decision in the test case of the publishers of the New Orleans States and Mobile Register, who were indicted on charges of sending through the mails newspapers containing lottery advertisements. There is no abridgement of the freedom of the press, for the reason that the Government does not prohibit communications by other means, but simply through the Government agencies, which it controls.

In some parts of the state farmers are adopting the system of planting trees along the road side, the kind selected being the cherry, walnut, plum, mulberry and chestnut. The rural highways of continental Europe are lined with fruit trees, the custom having been in vogue there for centuries and has always been regarded as a religious duty for the benefit of the multitude. It could be adopted in the United States, especially as a benefit for animals as well as men in shade during the heat of summer when heavy hauling is done on the highways.

New York, says the Harrisburg Patriot must not be made doubtful. It is Senator Hill cannot carry a practically unanimous party with him, of course he cannot and would not insist upon being the party nominee. And if Mr. Cleveland's nomination should be made with a strong faction in his own state opposing him the fight would be begun with folly and end in defeat.

When Mr. Cleveland was last nominated he was even more loudly opposed in New York than Senator Hill now is. No public man ever so virulently assailed at a national convention by party leaders from his own state as was Cleveland at Chicago in 1884. Not content with simply attacking his political methods as in the case of Hill, these party opponents assailed his private character.

They thundered their protests and denunciations in every public place in the city of Chicago for two days prior to the assembling of the convention. They held their own state delegation in doubt for months and it was not until this body had gone to Chicago that the one vote needed to secure a majority of the delegation—that of Senator Jacobs—was obtained and New York's vote by this narrow margin first made a unit for Cleveland.

But the party management was in the hands of Mr. Cleveland's friends, as it now is in the hands of Senator Hill, and by a desperate strain the state was won for the party and Mr. Cleveland carried New York by a small, but sufficient, majority.

It would be doubtful wisdom to repeat the experiment of 1884 in behalf of any candidate simply to get a New York man. The party is rich with men equipped for the presidency outside of New York. To any of these New York would come, somewhat reluctantly perhaps, with victory. But to nominate a New York candidate we must take heed of aids and grave difficulties. We may as well now as later determine that some other state shall furnish the nominee.

There is one feature which cannot escape notice. As the conditions now are it lies in the power of Senator Hill's friends to name the candidate, outside the Senator himself. Whether they could nominate Hill may be in doubt. By a word Mr. Hill could make Cleveland's nomination unanimous. Not so easily, but just as certainly, can his friends make the nomination of another candidate upon whom they may unite, excepting of course, Senator Hill himself. Whether this situation is or is not pleasing to the Democrats of the country, it is a fact which the best informed observer of the situation admits.

In the matter of the petition of Hiram De Walt and other members of the Prohibition party for permission to file in the Supreme Court a bill in equity attacking the constitutionality of the new election law of June 19, 1891, of which bill the court was asked to take original jurisdiction, the petition was refused in a per curiam opinion at Philadelphia on Monday.

In his opinion Judge Paxson said that there had been sufficient time since the passage of the act to have the case considered in one of the local courts and brought there on appeal. Under the circumstances the Supreme Court had no jurisdiction in the case.

FRED FITZSIMMONS, who shot and killed Detective David Gilkinson, of Pittsburg, was also killed Detective Murphy, saved his way out of jail just before he was to have been tried for five months in which the detectives of the land was captured on Tuesday night in New Orleans. Fitzsimmons had pentch for writing letters and it was one of his epistles, sent to Holmes Anderson, a fellow prisoner in Pittsburg jail, that led to his capture. This letter made an appointment with Anderson to meet Fitzsimmons at New Orleans some days ago. The detectives thus got a clue to his whereabouts and succeeded in his capture. He will be brought to Pittsburg as soon as the necessary requisition papers be forwarded to New Orleans.

A LEADING medical journal of London pronounces the "grippe" an infectious disease, and urges the line of treatment which experience has approved in such cases. Great stress is laid upon the need of warm woolen clothing, wholesome and easily assimilated food, avoidance of exposure to cold winds, and a general care for the tone of the system. This is a wise regimen on general principles, whether it have specific value against "grippe" or not, and equally sound is the advice of the journal in question that the patient should never attempt to fight the disease, but give up and go to nursing immediately.

The United States Supreme Court, at Washington, on Monday decided in favor of Boyd in the Nebraska Governor case. James E. Boyd, the Democratic Governor, was by the split of the Farmers' Alliance vote from the Republican ticket, elected Governor in November, 1890. Just previous to the time for inauguration the claim was made that Mr. Boyd, who had previously been a member of the legislature and had held several offices, was not a citizen. Governor Thayer, the Republican Executive, refused to surrender the office, but under the ruling of the Supreme Court must vacate.

Hon. CHARLES H. GIBSON was last Wednesday elected United States Senator in joint convention of the General Assembly of Maryland, to fill the unexpired term of about five years in place of the late Hon. E. K. Wilson.

Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Jan. 29th, 1892. CHILL'S apology has deprived Mr. Harrison of the glory he had anticipated from the conducting of a victorious foreign war, glory which would in his mind, at any rate, have resulted in his certain nomination and in adding largely to his chances of reelection, and it is still prejudicial to his cause, and it is still prejudicial to the cause of the United States and Secretary Blaine, that they destroy all of his fondest hopes. The story as it is told here says that Mr. Harrison knew that the House had received such assurances from the Chinese minister that the apology would in due time be forthcoming from his government, he sent the minister to China and the fact that the credit of obtaining the apology through the ordinary diplomatic channels would all go to Mr. Blaine and the credit of the minister to China and the credit of his message to Congress, in order that he might claim the credit for having frightened China into apologizing. Mr. Blaine resents this stealing of his thunder, and is credited with having said that it would cost Mr. H. the Presidential nomination of his party.

Whether this story be true or not, it is highly creditable to the Democrats in Congress that they accepted of the President's message in perfect faith and were prepared to support the demands of the administration, even to the extent of a declaration of war, when the situation was clearly Mr. H.'s apology. They recognized the demands of this Government as just, and that was good for them, as good citizens and patriots. A farmer of Durbin, Ore., has three timber tracts, which he intends to send to the World's Fair, though he has been offered thousands of dollars for them. It is now claimed that the Duke of Clarence met his death, from excessive cigar smoking. The Prince of Wales and Prince George are expected to visit the United States in the month of June. A four-story tenement house in New York city, occupied by eight families of Russian Hebrews, burned on Monday. Many of the inmates were seriously injured from jumping.

An incendiary pointed out to the officers of the German Royal Castle at Koenigsberg Sunday and set it on fire. The thought was extinguished before any damage was done.

—H. G. and Schindler, of Washington, shot and killed his wife and her brother on Sunday night. He did this because she refused to live with him longer on account of his dissipated habits. The district court was made that prisoners at the Ohio state penitentiary have been digging a tunnel and would have escaped in a few days. They have been at work on it for over three months.

—Another national warfare, for which Kentucky is noted, resulted in the death of thirteen last week. The end is not yet, and many more will doubtless be killed before the outlaws are brought to justice.

—At the meeting of the agents of the New York coal producing companies it was agreed to advance coal 25 cents a ton on all grades. The production for February was fixed at 2,500,000 tons, the same as in January.

—William Bonville, who disappeared from Cambridge, Pa., seven years ago, arrived there on Tuesday. Four years ago he found himself in Omaha, and then for the first time in three years remembered his home.

A serious wreck occurred at New River, Kan., last Friday, between the Lehigh Valley and Pennsylvania railroad trains, both being on the same track. Engineer and fireman were killed and several more badly injured.

—Recently a little girl slipping on the Missouri fell into an air hole. The current drove her under the ice and she floated to smaller air hole 112 feet further down. She was rescued and her injuries are not so bad. She was some the worse for the mishap.

—At a meeting of the Pittsburg Presbytery on Tuesday, resolutions were adopted which were as follows: On motion, on Sunday's and the sale of liquor prohibited on the grounds, they would not visit the fair and would, use their influence to prevent others from attending.

—Eusebius Sage, Jr., who has been seriously ill ever since the tragedy which befell him so narrowly escaped death, is now lying at death's door at the Windsor Hotel. The question was raised when he presented his credentials of being some irregularity in his appointment by the Governor of Texas to serve out the unexpired term of Senator Reagan, who resigned.

—By a premature blast in the Rush Run coal mines, Fayette county, W. Va., five men were killed and five wounded. All were caught and killed, were Clarence Hill, John Porter, James Roake and two whose names are unknown. These ten men were the only ones employed in the mine.

—Elihu Sibley Richardson, inventor of the machine used in plating tin on paper, a machine that handles books and rolls in the same manner apparatus to roll and finish the petty publications intended to be printed at Chicago on Monday. He also assisted in many other notable inventions and indirectly helped laying the Atlantic cable.

—Barbara T. Probst, of Sharpshooters, near Pittsburg, 22 years old and the mother of six children, died suddenly Saturday night. A post-mortem examination developed that death was due to the consumption of Jamaica ginger. Her stomach was literally cooked. The coroner's jury recommended that the authorities stop the indiscriminate sale of impure patent medicines.

—The most energetic, resolute and persistent journal in America when it sets out to accomplish any great object; it even holds its own against Democratic friends and foes.

—The World for 1892. The World is now printing an average of over 300,000 copies a day. It has made a net average gain of 30,000 a day during the past year. It will circulate next year, on the basis of this increase only, at least 100,000 copies of the ablest, strongest and best newspaper ever printed.

—The World is recognized as distinctly the best newspaper in the world, and is dedicated to the public service. The World's policy and conscience is in its work as well as in its words. It is the shining light in the darkness, the friend of the friendless, the help of the poor, the strength of the weak. Realize that its power comes from the people, it gives back to the people what they deserve.

—With a perfect equipment, a thorough organization, capable direction and deep determination to move on and carry to high goals and greater achievements, the World publishes its multitude of readers a happy new year and confidently bids them to expect from it during 1892 even more wonderful things than it has already accomplished.

NEWS AND OTHER RECORDS.

—Boston manufacturers have petitioned Congress for five years.

—A fire in the Mission House of the Trinity Church Association, Fulton street, New York caused a great panic among the twenty-five children gathered on the top floor of the six-story structure, on Monday, last one of the sisters, with great presence of mind, collected the pupils and teachers and led them over the side of the building, saving from injury which they escaped to hospital. The fire was soon extinguished, with a loss of about $3,000.

—The New York assembly has passed a bill allowing newspaper representatives to witness electric executions.

—It was not until the eleventh century that books were used in our schools. The modern use was still in use at that time.

—Wood pulp is now employed in the manufacture of bath tubs, the material being transported to powerful hydraulic press.

—Fears are entertained that March will see the largest strike among coal miners of the Kanawha, W. Va. district ever known there.

—Robert Christian was slain by his son Richard, near Eikhorn, W. Va. The young man is 29 years old. He claims his father treated him badly.

—The increased demand for platinum for the manufacture of dental plates has caused the material to about 400 a pound over times the value of silver.

—Samuel Tilden will come out of the contest over his uncle's will without apology. He has always insisted the lawyers do not discuss it too heavily.

—A farmer of Durbin, Ore., has three timber tracts, which he intends to send to the World's Fair, though he has been offered thousands of dollars for them.
