Among the cases argued at the supreme court on Tuesday were four from Cambria connty One of them was the case of John L. Gill, appellant, against the Johnstown Lumber Company. In this case the plaintiff wants to recover the amount of nearly $10,000 worth of logs which were swept away by the high water at the time of the Johnstown flood. The logs had been delivered by Gill, and were held by a boom erect-> not strong enough to hold the logs. The appeal of J. J. Pepperday on a certiorari to the court of common pleas was argued, in which the appellant claims that money in the hands of the sheriff of Cambria county, arising from the sale of property on which Pepperday held a mortgage, should be awarded to him. The Overbeck case, in which each of the two wives of William H. Overbeck, who was lost in the flood, claim the insurance of $2,500 on his life, and the appeal of T. J. Wolfe against Evaline S.
