Mr. J. B. Stahl, of Susquehanna township, spent a few hours in town on Wednesday.

Mrs. Isabel McLaughlin, of Croyle township, is visiting her son Mr. D. A. McLaughlin in this place.

Mr. O. L. Lloyd, of the Altoona Times, visited his home in this place a couple of days this week.

It was a man, of course, who said that the new returning card would add to the work of the female postal employees.

The fellow that "told you so" is now around and is laboring under the impression that you ought to consider him a prophet.

The first sleigh and sleds of the season made their appearance on our streets on Thursday.

Mr. William Richardson, of Conowingo, visited his parental home in this place on Tuesday.

Mr. William Garret, a respected citizen of Munster township, died on Tuesday, aged about 55 years.

A midnight switch caused a freight train at Ebensburg on Tuesday night. Two cars were broken up.

What a pile of money was scooped in the Democratic election on the county as the result of letdown was?

The fall of snow on Wednesday has started out the hunters who are scouring the woods after turkeys and other game.

From now until the 1st of March next the new papers of the county will be busy manufacturing a calendar for President Cleveland.

The school directors of Wilmore have decided to furnish the books for the pupils in the schools in that place hereafter.

Miss Annie O'Neill, of Pittsburg, who had been visiting in Ebensburg for some time past, returned to the Smoky City last week.

Mr. Ed. Mower, brakeman on the branch train, has been transferred to a similar position on the Hollidaysburg branch.

Judge Barker is holding court to-day for the purpose of counting up the election returns. J. W. Leveah and H. A. Englehart are the clerks.

An exchange gives the following as a summary for bookshelves: Put on equal parts of common salt and alum, and apply to the book.

Mr. Cornelius Dever, of Munster, who was killed at that place on Thursday evening, was in town on Wednesday, the day before his death.

Misses Gill and wife, of Northern Cambria, have come to spend the winter with their son, Mr. Thomas Gill, of 1228 Second avenue, Altoona Times.

Mr. Boratanzki, a lineman on the Pennsylvania railroad, fell from a telegraph pole near Saug Hollow on Tuesday and fractured his left arm.

A. S. Evans, of Johnstown, while working at a planer on Saturday, in attempting to change the feed, had the first horizontal his right hand taken off.

Misses Foss & Miller have bought out the business of Robert Cassidy in this place and will continue the business in the brick building in the rear of the post office.

Mr. Mary Jones, widow of Joseph R. Jones, of Portage township, died at her home in that township on Sunday last of pneumonia. She was about 55 years of age.

There are so few young men enlisting with the United States service in and about Allegheny that the recruiting station over there is to be discontinued sometime this month.

Mr. Joseph Gutwald, of Cresson, who is a resident of Ebensburg, died of pneumonia on Saturday, and was a most popular visitor to our town on Monday.

The day last week Miss Minnie Kirsch, of Cambria township, was thrown from a cart and was rendered unconscious for a time after her fall but luckily escaped serious injury.

Mr. Abraham Varner, of Jackson township, died on Wednesday of last week, aged about 75 years. She leaves to survive her a husband and four children, three sons and one daughter.

Mr. Mary Horan, a young woman of ill repute, made an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide in Johnstown on Tuesday by taking kerosene. The dose was not sufficient and she will recover.

On Thursday of last week a daughter of Walter Westover, of Susquehanna township, aged 23 years, died of typhoid fever. Two other members of his family are now with the same disease.

The campaign that will find temporary employment explaining how it all came about; after that he will be qualified to take the road as a peddler.

We received copy for a change of "ad" for Messrs. Simon & Co., of Gallitzin, this week but it came too late for this week's issue. Look out for it next week.

The glass for the largest mirror in Philadelphia was made recently at Irwin, Pa. It is 165x100 inches. The mirror is to be located on the Chestnut street side of John Wanamaker's store.

It seems that Senator Quay was correct when he said before the Minneapolis convention that if Harrison was nominated he would resign. The senator should have stuck to his prophecy until the campaign ended.

—Abram W. Smith, the Republican candidate for governor of Kansas, who is well known to a number of people in this county where he resided about thirty years ago, was defeated by Lowellding, the Fusion candidate by a majority of about 1,200.

—Messrs. E. Singer, of California, Pa., Samuel Singer, of Bradford, Pa., and Isaac Singer, of Wichita, Kansas, visited Ebensburg last week. They are sons of Isaac Singer, deceased, who some thirty odd years ago was a resident of Ebensburg.

The contract for the construction of the South Fork water works has been let to a man named Stark, of Greensburg. His laborers received their first week's wages on Tuesday.

—The official returns show that a number of voters in the different districts in the county made the mistake of marking the cross (X) in the square opposite the name of the candidate for whom they intended to vote, instead of in the square at the head of the ticket opposite the party name. On this account the men who head the different party tickets will be found to run ahead of their colleagues on the same ticket.

—J. R. Still, an old and respected citizen of Adamsburg, died on Thursday of last week, aged about 70 years. The deceased was a leading citizen of his neighborhood for a number of years and leaves several children all grown up. Paralysis was the cause of his death.

—T. H. Bell, an engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad whose home is at Derry, while leaning out of the cab window of his engine near Cresson on Monday was struck on the head by a box car on the adjoining track and received injuries which will in all probability cause his death.

—The Democratic roster in this county had a hard scrimmage on Tuesday but it came out victorious in the end, although in the defeat of Allen and O'Connor the noble bird lost a couple of his finest feathers. Cambria is still his own dingy hill and he will maintain it to the last.

—Mrs. Kantz, widow of Jacob Kantz, deceased, of Susquehanna township, died at her home in that township on Monday, aged about 70 years. The deceased was a mother of Mrs. Clara, wife of Prothonotary J. C. Darby, of this place. Her remains were interred in St. Benedict's cemetery at Carrolltown on Wednesday.

—The Democrats and Republicans jointly received the election returns at the sample room of the Mountain House on Tuesday night. Each dispatch received added a look of joy to the countenances of the Democrats while a look of gloom stole over the Republican friends as each ticket of news seemed to bury them deeper for four years more.

—Landlord Craver, of the Blair House in this place, as the result of an election wager, got inside the shafts of a wheel on Wednesday evening and was wheeled to George Sherry, of Barr township, from the Blair House to the Mountain House and back. The procession was attended by quite a crowd, who enjoyed the fun and cheered the man who furnished the motive power and his passenger.

—Henry Ford, a young man whose parents reside at Summerhill, on Saturday evening about 10 o'clock attempted to board a moving freight train at Mineral Hill. He was thrown with his right arm under the wheels and that member ground off between the elbow and the shoulder. The young man was also badly hurt about the head and neck. His mother began shrieking and about 6 o'clock expired.

—Mr. John Elizabeth, fifteen years ago proprietor of a hotel in Ebensburg, then for many years of Hollidaysburg hotelery, and for the three years, just past, of the White Springs Hotel in Upper York, was engaged in the hotel business in Akron, Ohio, for a couple of months, returned to Johnstown a few days ago to make arrangements to remove his family to the new hotel in that place. He was on his return to-day. The remainder of his family will follow later. —Johnstown Tribune.

—Miss Clara Eastright, aged 22 years, residing in the Oak Lawn property, met with a terrible accident Saturday afternoon. She was riding on a bicycle and fell from the eye-sight of both eyes. She had purchased a vial of sulphate acid and quick silver mixed, for the purpose of removing freckles, and in snatching up the mixture from her face and eyes, burning them in an awful manner. Dr. Purinton is attending her, and he hopes to be able to save at least one of her eyes. —Indiana Democrat.

The Mountaineer this week attempts to give a description of the form employed on the FREEMAN in retaliation for the Mountaineer's "entire force." As everyone has a right to employ whom he pleases, the point in the Mountaineer's article is not visible "to any large extent." The point in the FREEMAN's rebuff was that the Mountaineer was trying to happen what it was not, and it may have been a little cruel on our part to show up the "shoddy." When you catch the FREEMAN blowing, rub it in.

The Pennsylvania railway company has arranged to build four new locomotives of the heaviest pattern for freight hauling purposes. The Baldwin Locomotive works will build forty-five locomotives and the remainder will be built in the company's shop at Altoona. The new locomotives are being constructed at the building of 5,000-hp. freight and passenger cars, for which contracts will be awarded soon. The past year has been a prosperous one for the Pennsylvania and in view of the business expected during the World's Fair the additions are somewhat larger than before. —Altoona Times.

—This is the way I shot a dog this morning. Mr. Ehrenfeld, a boy, aged 21, was formerly supervisor at Gallitzin, was called upon Monday morning by a number of division foremen of the branch and presented with a handsome sum of money to enable him to visit Germany. He pockets about $200, having soon the most of it from Conductor Waite, of the Somerset & Cambria Branch, —Johnstown Tribune.

—Mr. Fred Ehrenfeld, supervisor of the South Fork R. R. branch, from Greensburg (formerly supervisor at Gallitzin), was called upon Monday morning by a number of division foremen of the branch and presented with a handsome sum of money to enable him to visit Germany. He pockets about $200, having soon the most of it from Conductor Waite, of the Somerset & Cambria Branch, —Johnstown Tribune.

—The girl's story was that she was injured by a man whose name she did not know while visiting Pittsburg. A short time ago she injured herself in a fall. The girl's father and several members of the family were drowned in the Johnstown flood.

Her mother is still living in Johnstown and is said to be a respected lady. She was a few weeks ago searching for her daughter, but could not find her. As there was no evidence of a criminal nature produced at the investigation the prisoners were discharged.

EXECUTIVE NOTICE — Notice is hereby given that Lettie Poston, late of Carroll township, Cambria county, deceased, has been granted to her heirs, who are named in the annexed list, a full and complete release of all claims against her estate, and that she is to be held as if dead. —E. K. HUNTER, Executor of Lettie Poston, deceased. St. Augustine, Pa., Oct. 20, 1922.

Leaf By Leaf.

The dropping of the leaves is not always caused by the ending of summer, or the advent of the fall season, but indeed by many causes. So with the health and life of the human being. One by one they are carried to an early grave. You take a cold and say, "Oh, well it is nothing but a cold" and so it is, but if not checked in time and neglected, it leads to consumption and other diseases. Prevent it, stop it, by using a pure vegetable. Ministers, physicians and hospital superintendents agree in recommending as a perfect stimulant, Klein's Silver Age or Duquesne Bys. The former sells at $2.50 and the latter at $1.25 per full quart. Sold by Ludwig & Son, Johnstown, Pa.

—Mr. Joseph Swoyer, of Chest township, was a visitor to our office on Wednesday.

WITH OUR LITTLE CAMERA.

A SNAP SHOT TAKEN AT THE POSTOFFICE WEDNESDAY MORNING.

Coronius Never Killed at Munster.

On Thursday evening about half past five o'clock the north-bound train for Hastings struck a man at Munster and threw him down over the embankment. The train stopped and when picked up the man was dead.

The lack of his head was crushed in, but otherwise he was not disfigured. Some one on the train supposed it was Matthew Black, of Altoona, who had been attending the funeral of William Garret, near Munster, that day. The body was placed on the Ebensburg train, which arrived at Munster shortly after the accident, and brought to Ebensburg. When here Esquire Jones summoned Alex. Kinckel, J. J. Hotel, G. E. Jones, Thomas D. Evans, Aaron Davis, and H. J. Crouse as a jury and proceeded to hold an inquest on the supposed Matthew Black. While viewing the man's body one of the jurors recognized the corpse as the body of Coronius Dever, a well-known citizen of Munster, who resided close to where he was killed. Word was at once sent to the home of the unfortunate man's wife but at the hour of going to press the messenger had not returned.

We have learned since that Mr. Dever had been over at the residence of Mr. William Garret, deceased, who died on Tuesday, and was buried on Thursday. He left there after eating supper with the family and started home. It is supposed that when he reached the railroad he started to walk on the ties to seek out of the mud, and that, being slightly deaf, he did not hear the train that struck him. He was about 20 years of age, a man of upright character, of sterling honesty, and held in high esteem by all his neighbors. He leaves a wife and one daughter, the latter being married to Michael Noel, who resides at Harrisburg.

A Former Johnstown Girl.

McKENROFT, Pa., November 8.—Anna Kuhf, a girl claiming to be eighteen years of age, but who does not look to be over fifteen, was arraigned a prisoner before Mayor Titbork this morning, charged with child-murder. Anna Hoeker and Mrs. Barclay were arraigned as accessories.

The remains of the child had been buried on the Youghiogheny river bank. The girl took the officers to the place where the body had been buried and it was dug up.

The girl's story was that she was injured by a man whose name she did not know while visiting Pittsburg. A short time ago she injured herself in a fall. The girl's father and several members of the family were drowned in the Johnstown flood.

Her mother is still living in Johnstown and is said to be a respected lady. She was a few weeks ago searching for her daughter, but could not find her. As there was no evidence of a criminal nature produced at the investigation the prisoners were discharged.
