EBENSBURG, CAMBRIA CO., PA.

FRIDAY, - NOVEMBER 24, 1893.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND'S health was never better than it is at present.

At Philadelphia, on Wednesday Terence V. Powderly was re-elected Grand Master Workman of the Knights of Labor.

In the last ten years, 140,000 residents of the province of Quebec have emigrated. Most of them have taken up their residence in the United States.

Among the appointments made Friday was that of J. Scott Harrison as surveyor of customs for Kansas City. This is a brother of ex-President Harrison and a staunch Democrat.

In California during the second week of this month nearly five million pounds of fruit were shipped by railroad from Santa Clara county alone. Of this amount nearly three and a half million pounds, including 800,000 pounds of Bartlett pears, came east.

Mrs. Peter Hanel, of Lebanon, Pa., has brought suit against the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad company, claiming $10,000, for injuries received on a train near Philadelphia in December, 1890, by which her nervous system was completely shattered and her eyesight destroyed.

Jeremiah M. Rusk, Ex-Secretary of Agriculture under President Harrison, died at his home in Virginia, Wisconsin, on Tuesday, aged 63 years. The deceased served three successive terms as governor of Wisconsin, and in 1888 was favorably spoken of as a candidate for the Republican nomination for president.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad has been tied up for several days by a strike of its employees. Without entering into any discussion as to the complaint of the employees and the cause of the strike the present time, when there are thousands of unemployed men in every one of our great cities, seems to be a very unpropitious time for quitting their work.

AWFUL loss of life, probably reaching a total of 1000, and immense destruction of property has been caused by the terrible upheaval of the earth at Kuchan, Persia, according to dispatches from Meshed. The town was completely destroyed, the large buildings in the town being toppled over without warning, catching hundreds of terror-stricken people and crushing them to death. Great crevasses opened in the earth, through which water flowed in torrents, causing the Atrak river to overflow its banks. The fertile region around the city was inundated and the large gardens and extensive vineyards were swept out of existence.

ANVIL loss of life probably reaching a total of five hundred was caused by a furious hurricane that swept Great Britain and Northern France. The storm commenced on Thursday of last week and continued until Sunday. The greatest death harvest is on the French coast, where it is believed that at least 500 persons have been engulfed by the hungry waves.

On the English and Irish coasts the number of lost seamen is also heavy. Seventy men are known to have perished and scores of points on the coast are still inaccessible because of the dismantled wrecks. Whole fleets of coasting and fishing vessels like the storm-swept coasts, the shattered hulls bearing sad witness to the fury of the tempest. The property loss in vessels and cargoes destroyed will easily reach millions.

A WASHINGTON dispatch says: Mr. Eckles, the comptroller of the currency, is hard at work on his report and expects to have it finished by the end of the week, probably. It is understood that he will make several recommendations for changes in the banking law. It is expected that among other things he will recommend a system by which the national bank currency may take the place of all others in existence, the purpose being to allow the national banks to deposit in addition to bonds, gold and silver and treasury notes and certificates and to issue bank notes to the par value of all deposits in the treasury.

The treasury's available cash balance was still further depleted to-day to the extent of $700,000. The receipts of the government for this month are not as heavy as hoped, and the deficit in the government's accounts show already a total deficit so far this fiscal year of $29,000,000.

His first annual report issued on Tuesday, Prof. Shaffer, Superintendent of Public Instruction, says the increased State appropriation from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000 has not shown the fruits that had been expected of it. He says: "The total increase in the cost of tuition was $701,779.85, and the decrease in the amount of tax levied for school purposes, $821,795.95. Add to these amounts the interest in the cost of building, purchasing and renting, $777,501.73, and the increase in the cost of fuel, contingencies, debts and interest paid, $1,072,277.37, and there remains a balance unaccounted for in the three million increase of the annual appropriation amounting to $125,259.12, which must have accumulated in the treasuries of some of the districts instead of being expended upon the improvement of the schools."

"Unfortunately the spirit of progress has not permeated all parts of the Commonwealth. In too many districts the directors have yielded to the temptation to reduce the tax rate to less than a mill, and to run the schools on a cheap plan by hiring cheap teachers."

BEHINDING Monday last every man found on the streets of Chicago between the hours of 1 and 6 a. m., must give an account of himself to the officers.

It is now probable, says the New York World, that the present Congress will make an income tax a part of our fiscal system. The reasons for doing so are many and conclusive.

The government must have greater revenues to meet its expenses, and there is no better, fairer or surer way of raising the money than by a tax on incomes.

It is an equitable tax, because it is levied upon wealth and not upon industry.

It is a flexible tax, because its rates of imports may be increased or diminished from year to year, according to treasury needs, without in any way changing the conditions of ordinary business.

We raise our revenues mainly from tariff duties their amounts must greatly vary. Some years there must be a surplus tempting extravagance. In other years there must be a deficit suggesting changes in the rates of duty. But frequent changes in tariff duties are disastrous because they alter the conditions under which business and industry must be carried on. This is the chief vice of a revenue system which relies upon tariffs mainly and has no easily variable tax with which to check surplus or supply deficiency.

All experience shows that an income tax meets this requirement more perfectly than any other. Changes in its rates no way affect the prices either of raw materials or of manufactured products. It may be 5 per cent one year, 20 the next and 10 the third without in the least altering any of these conditions upon the stability of which the merchant and manufacturer must found their business calculations.

Ignorant and interested opponents of this most scientific tax are trying to create a prejudice against it by calling it a "war tax in time of peace." But so is our present 47 per cent tariff. It was increased to an enormous average for war purposes at a time when no less an excuse would have gained popular consent to the advances made. The duties were raised with very distinctly implied promises that they should be lowered again when the war necessity passed away. Instead of that they have still further advanced until now their imposition upon all the people if boldly claimed as a right by that small part of people whom the system enriches.

The income tax is no more a war tax than is the internal revenue tax on whiskey, beer and tobacco. But what if it were? Have we not war burdens upon us to the extent of more than $200,000,000 annually? And is it not our war burdens that create the present necessity for increased revenue?

The income tax meets a revenue necessity. It happens also to be the best, most equitable and least disturbing of all devices for raising the money which the government must have.

For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain, the Hawaiian policy of the United States, says the Philadelphia Record, is peculiar. A little further light was shed upon the situation yesterday by the apparently surreptitious publication of an abstract of the Blount report, which goes to show that the Provisional Government was the creature of a conspiracy in which the United States Minister bore the leading part, and to which United States marines contributed the backbone. As to this phase of the matter the evidence is so contrary that it cannot be explained upon any other theory than that of deliberate lying either upon the part of the supporters of the Queen or of the defenders of the Provisional Government.

But if it be granted that a mistake was made by landing United States marines to help turn out the Queen and install her successors, why should another mistake be made by the forcible turning out of the Provisional Government to install the Queen? It has been conceded that the present Government of the islands is the best they ever had. In the exercise of its dominating influence over the fortunes of the islands, whatever form of rule they may establish for themselves, the United States Government is bound to first consult the public welfare. As long as this government shall insist that the independence of Hawaii must be respected by all other powers it will continue to exercise a qualified protectorate which will be none the less real because it is not a matter of stipulation. The United States would not be justified in ousting the present authority in the islands to set up a worse one. They would not be justified in undertaking to right one wrong by committing another. If Liliuokalani have been aggrieved, she has himself suggested the proper method of reparation by offering for a monetary consideration a quit claim of her monarchy. The United States, by refusing to annex the islands, have refused to take advantage of the opportunity brought about by the change of government.

Happily, the failure of the original plan to overturn the existing Government of the Sandwich Islands by a sudden stroke of diplomacy has opened the way for a rectification of the policy of the Administration, if the Administration be wise enough to see it. To nip the present equitable rule and turn the islands over to the joint control of an equally odious monarchy and monopoly would be an act of amazing folly.

ANOTHER steel rail trust has been organized in New York within the past few days. The companies in the combine are said to be the Carnegie Steel Company, the Illinois Steel Company, the Bethlehem Iron and Steel Company, the Cambria Iron and Steel Company and the Lackawanna Iron and Steel Company. They have fixed the price of rails at $24 per ton which will give the manufacturers a profit of $7 to $8 per ton. The lowest price under the old pool was $27.

Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 18th 1893.

The fool killer ought to have been in Washington. President Cleveland has not yet worked twenty-four hours every day without completing his job. Although there is no cable to Hawaii and no possible way that any news could have been received from there since that which reached here by telegraph from San Francisco on Monday, and that which came to the State Department from Minister Willis has not been made public, the town has been full of stories giving details of what had or had not been done there. They are all alike—mere guesswork, and a majority of them are but stupid guesses.

No one in Washington knows to a certainty whether the provisional government, bulldozed into abdicating in favor of said provisional government, although those who have seen the communication of Minister Stevens could doubtless make a guess that would be very near the facts. A good many of those who went off half-cocked, as the saying goes, when Secretary Gresham's report recommending that the wrong done by Minister Stevens should be righted by the present administration, were now saying they were now sorry they did not do more thinking and less talking. A man cannot be a good judge who would decide upon his verdict as soon as the testimony of one witness is heard. Only one witness has been heard in this Hawaiian business yet. When all the evidence which is in the possession of the administration shall have been made public, the case will be in the hands of the people and will have any reason to blush for the verdict of the people, but some Republicans who have been prominent may blush at shame, if they have not forgotten how.

President Cleveland must feel like asking himself sometimes whether a man forfeits all his rights he is supposed to have as a citizen when he becomes President. When he does not advertise his intentions in the newspapers he is accused of surrounding himself with mystery. Because the newspapers were not informed beforehand that the family of the President was to move this week from their suburban residence to the White House that simple domestic event has been heralded to the country as a sudden and mysterious change of residence on the part of the President, and a lot of foolish reasons given to account for it. After seeing his family settled in the White House the President considered that the ludicrousness of going to New York in company with Secretary Lamont to attend to some pressing private business, without telling the newspaper men about it. As soon as they found he was going they made the wisest but with stories about his having gone to New York for the purpose of having a dangerous surgical operation performed, etc. Now could anything have been more absurd? How probable it seems that a man having two comfortable homes in Washington where he could have the constant attention of a loving wife would prefer to go to New York for a surgeon, if he had need of one, instead of having the surgeon come to him at his home. President Cleveland is back at his desk and there is nothing to talk with him, except that he believes he has the right to regulate his private affairs to suit himself; but some people seem to think that a serious complaint.

It is not considered probable that the new tariff bill will be completed in about ten days. There is a possibility, however, that it may not be made public until after Congress meets, as there is quite a strong feeling among Democrats that it will not be made public until after the meeting of the House that it will save time, not to mention annoyance and backings, to have the full bill submitted to Congress before the meeting of the House. It is reported to the House that it will not be made public until after the meeting of the House that it will save time, not to mention annoyance and backings, to have the full bill submitted to Congress before the meeting of the House.

Robbed by Masked Men. NEW CASTLE, Pa., Nov. 19.—Last night about 10 o'clock Mrs. Mary Williams, who lives with her son near Egan Valley, was startled by a knock at her door. She asked what was wanted and was told that a traveler had taken sick by the wayside and desired shelter. Mrs. Williams opened the door, and was confronted by three masked men, who pulled her over her head and warned her not to make any noise. She was terrified and fell helpless to the floor. The villains pulled her roughly to a chair and thrusting the muzzle of a revolver into her face, demanded where she kept her money. She refused to tell, whereupon they beat and gagged her, at the same time making threats of torture.

Robbery on the Lehigh Valley Road. GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 19.—A large golden eagle was captured in Greene county a few days ago and is now confined in a dry goods store. When discovered it was peacefully walking about with a flock of turkeys. Golden eagles are very rare in this section, their habit being the Rocky mountains and upper Canada.

Royal Baking Powder ABSOLUTELY PURE

Soured in the River.

PLYMOUTH, N. H., Nov. 20.—Six miles from Plymouth on the shores of Squam lake, in the little town of Holderness, live Mr. and Mrs. George W. Marden, with five daughters and one son. Bertha, one of the daughters, 12 years old, was last Wednesday stripped almost naked and dragged so severely by her mother that her body was covered with ugly gashes.

It was first intended to keep the matter quiet, but it became known, and last night a party of masked men went to the Marden house and called for the father, who was sleeping at the time of the assault. Marden came to the door and protested his innocence, but he was not believed. The men took him to the river in his night clothes and some iron links he was attached. They let the woman off with a severe lecture. The matter will be taken to court to-day.

Swept Over Niagara Falls. Two young men went over the Horse Shoe Rapids of Niagara at dusk last night. The bodies have not been recovered, so that the identity of the men is not well established, but the fact is true. When the Michigan Central train stopped at the new station the passengers saw two men in a boat in the Horse Shoe Rapids, opposite the third and fourth islands, and immediately took the boat to the shore and made frantic endeavors to reach some rocks, and it looked as if they were about to gain.

When the train brought the report to the city a great rush was made across the Great Island bridge to get a glimpse of the men. The gates were closed, which caused some delay. The first of these to get in sight of the boat was John Supple, of Niagara Falls. The name of his companion is not known. They started up the river duck hunting in the afternoon, and permitted their boat to drift down the river. Search is being made for the bodies.

Mexico's Revolution.

JUARRE, MEX., Nov. 20.—The reports of further engagements between the revolutionists and the federal troops have produced much excitement. Though the fighting has been of the kind of present, evident favoring of the revolution, it is evident the government is fearful of the result. Palomas and Concepcion have been invaded and the former completely captured. President Diaz has ordered that all the revolutionists caught be shot like dogs. In every town along the river secret agents are existing recruits for the revolutionists and spies of the government marking suspects to be arrested and put to death.

Old Liberty bell, in Independence Hall will be enclosed in a glass case.

The New Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 19.—Chairman Wilson, of the Ways and Means Committee, this evening authorized the committee together with the House on November 27. The meeting will be called for 11 o'clock in the morning, and that hour the bill, upon which the Democrats have been working, will be laid before the Republicans. It will at the same time be made public through the press.

Striking British coal miners have returned to work at the old rates.
