THE month of March has thus far played havoc with the reputations of weather prophets of both high and low degree. Usually a weather prophet or an almanac in predicting stormy weather at a certain date in March cannot miss it by more than a day or two, but this year the month has given them all the slip and has been remarkable for its gentle and balmy weather. Wonder if fear for the tariff has not had something to with taking the aggressiveness out of the blustry month.

The selection of either date is left to the discretion of the people in the various sections of the commonwealth, each loeality observing that day which is deemed to be most favorable on account of climatic conditions. Governor Patti son calls upon the people to lay aside for a season the habitual activities of the day and devote sufficient time to tree planting. Attention is also called to the importance of forestry and the protection of trees, and the great work now being done by the state forestry com-

Is 1888 the Republicans admitted that tariff reform was necessary, but they insisted the tariff should be revised by its friends and not by its enemies. The people took them at their word, and the McKinley tariff of 1890 was the result, piling protection on top of protection to the disgust of the country. The people at the first opportunity repudiated Mc Kinley and the whole protective policy. If the Democrats in congress shall fail to carry the mandate of the voters they also will be repudiated. The demand for tariff revision made in 1888, reiterated in 1890, and reiterated in 1892 will grow more and more insistent and importunate until the people get what they want. Delay is merely exasperating. McKinley ruined his party in 1890 by turning his face away from tariff reform instead of toward it.

The Carnegie Steel company does not use a pound of iron in the entire range of its equipment and puddling has almost ceased in Pittsburg. No better correction of the claims and assertions of the tariff prophets can be had than this, for protection has ceased to be the salvation in its stronghold. What good is a duty of $3.60 the ton on puddled iron when there is no market or demand for the product? The puddlers of the Lehigh Valleys, reduced to $2.25 the ton, find their occupation gone even at such figures, and Pittsburg puddlers have quit altogether. This is the lesson of the change and not tariff agitation, for masses than it is to secure legislation in the inexorable laws of trade are in force favor of the classes. The classes are and prohibitory duties cannot reverse clamorous and persistent. The masses them. They can only hinder, and if FRANCIS E. Brownell, a historic character of the late war, died in Washington on Tuesday. Mr. Brownell was a private in the Ellsworth fire zuaves of New York city, and was with that company when it went to Alexandria, Va. the day after the ordinance of secession was passed by that state. When the ordinance was passed Mr. Jackson, the proprietor of the Marshall house in Alexundria, hoisted the confederate flag over the building. Captain Ellsworth, on reaching the city, noticed the flag, went to the hotel, and hauled it down. When on the stairway he was shot dead by Jackson, who, in turn, was promptly shot and killed by Brownell. He was for many years a special examiner of the THE Philadelphia Times tells the story pension office, and was holding that position at the time of his death.

The senate has passed the Bland bill for shrewd competition of the day is an the coinage of the Seignorage in the influence so surely and certainly at work | Treasury, without amendment, and the measure is now in the hands of President Cleveland. It was well known that when this matter was first broached the President thought it an unwise step of an industrial change caused by the to take and so stated to members of congress, but he has been careful to express no opinion since the hill has been pending in congress, and now those who are usually well informed express the belief Pittsburg for 25 cents a keg less than that the President will, in deference to the large number of Democrats who voted for the bill in both House and senate, allow the bill to become a law without his signature, thus giving them the benefit of the doubt in his mind as to

The Democratic members of the senate finance committee had to resort to the very unusual expedient of asking the committee to adopt a resolution pledging each member to secrecy while the tariff bill is under consideration be before they could stop the making publie by the Republican senators of everything said and done at the committee meetings. Since the adoption of that resolution very little has leaked out of the committee room. The Democrats on the committee wish, in accordance with senatorial custom, to reach an agreement with the Republicans on the committee as to when the bill shall be reported and when the senate shall begin ts consideration. This they have up to this time been unable to do, owing to the unreasonable demands of the Republicans who act as though they represented the majority instead of the minority. the Democrats will wait until next week and if the Republicans continue obstinate will then report the bill and make their own arrangements as to when the stay quietly at home and say nothing- Pennsylvania is to keep a place in this debate shall begin. Saved by Jumping.

CHICAGO, March 21.-The four story public school building in South Evanston, thirteen miles north of this city caught fire from some mysterious cause shortly before noon to-day and was completely destroyed. Seven of the panic stricken pupils, surrounded by smoke and fire, took the desperate chance of jumping from the third and fourth story windows to escape what seemed to be certain death, and were severely, but probably not fatally injured. The remainder of the children, who retained enough composure to listen to the pleadings of their teachers and the firemen, were marched through the thickening smoke to fresh air and safety. The loss on the building is $50,000.

Lovers Swaug Off Together.

Rose Hill, Ia. March 20.-The bodies or John Reed and Etta Shaw were found last evening hanging to a tree, the coaple having committed suicide. The cause assigned was the fact that the dead couple's parents opposed their marriage because of their youth. The girl was but sixteen and Reed a year older. The deed was probably committed Sunday night, when they were last seen driving in the neighborhood. They evidently unhitched the borse, and standing in the buggy threw a rope across a limb and tying one end to each of their necks swung off into eternity.

His wife had died in the meantime and no tidings had ever been received from the son. The father worked a small farm that he owned, but never entered the store, saying that it should be there as it was when the son came home to claim carried to his hotel. it.
