On Monday, Senator Alfred H. Col quitt, Dem., of Georgia, died in Washington from paralysis. He was 70 years of age, and was an officer in the army, where he rose from captain to governor of Georgia.

AT Abbeyville, Ala., last Sunday, little Dick Vant, the 10-year-old son of James Vant, colored, asked a 12 yearold brother for a piece of a biscuit which he was eating, and on being refused drew a pistol and shot him in the head, inflicting wounds from which he died. Two months ago Dick killed a 6 yearold prother with a club because he would not give him some marbles, and one hand of his little sister with an ax. The murderous youngster is now in jail.

It is to be hoped that a full delegation will be in attendance at the meeting of the Democratic county committee, to be held at the court house in Ebensburg on Monday next. It is important that whatever may be done, may be for the best interests of the party, and every district should be represented. Committeemen before coming would do well to talk over the situation with their constituents and any sug gestions that may be useful and benecial to the party should be discussed at the meeting.

The senate committee on finance was to have had a meeting on Tuesday but, owing to the funeral of the late Senator Colonitt, no quorum was present. The committee is going over the tariff bill, and while the rates have not and probably will not be changed some committee amendments of minor importance will be made. Senator Vorhees will call the bill up next Monday, according to the agree ment previously made and will make the first tariff speech, a speech which he vill be a brief statement relative to the bill rather than a discussion of the subject in general.

General Coxey's Commonweal Army has started on its march for Washing ton. He left Massillon, Ohio, on Suu day last with about one hundred followers mostly tramps and bums and on Wednesday night camped at Salem, Ohio. The accessions to the ranks do not keep pace with the desertions, the cold weather being disheartening to the vagabonds who otherwise would be willing to march along with the prospect in view of being fed and cared for by the people along the route. The Commonwea! will in ail probability disband be fore reaching Washington.

On Tuesday an Elmira, N. When the body had this disgrust is removed, as doubtless it been got ready, and just as it was being laid in the casket, to the astonishment of all, signs of life became apparent, and soon the child emitted a cough, followed by a strangling fit, during which a large amount of mucous membrane was raised. Consciousness soon returned. and the little fellow was put back in bed and immediately began to improve. He is now considered out of danger.

FEEDING wheat to stock is one way the farmers employ in disposing of the sur plus when prices are not profitable enough to entice them to a market. The indicated stock of 1893 wheat now in the elevators is 114,060,000, or 28 per cent, of the volume of the crop. This is 21,000,000 bushels less than the esti mate for March of last year, and is the computation of the department of agriculture, which gives the harvest of 1893 at 381,500,000 commercial bushels, the bushel rating at 56 pounds. Independ ent of this surplus there is a big propor tion of the crops for 1891 and 1892 still held by large growers. With wheat commanding only 65 cents a bushel and the list of growers on the increase the prospects ahead are not at all flattering and the demaned from foreign markets | ceived any intimation that could be reis anything but encouraging. Consumption in wheat is regulated by the laws of supply and demand, as is everything else, and the farmer who recognizes that fact is the farmer who directs his attention to other things.

The Johnstown Democrat of Wednes day makes the following sensible suggestion to the Democratic county committee which meets on Monday next. pleases for office. It is not under the

The joint resolution prepared by a House committee providing for the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people, says the Harrisburg Patriot, ought to be adopted, though it is doubtful if it will be, as the senate will be likely to prevent the passage of any measure that will in any degree militate against itself. Such an amendment to the constitution is necessary. There was a time when the United States senate was composed of dignified men who had ability as legislators and were made members of that body for that reason by the legislaure of their states. In those days the senatorship was an honor not easily obtained nor lightly conferred. In those days also the legislatures were not themselves corrupt as now, there were no po-Mexican war and also in the Confederate litical machines and no Mulhooleys. All this is now changed. The machine, brigadier general. He was four years in most cases, elects members of the state legislature and directs the election of the United States senators, in which it is aided by the money of the candi-

Ability is no longer a matter of much consequence. A rum hole politician who has a pull with the machine and can spend a pocketful of money can be elected to the United States senate from many of the states as easily as the greatest lawmakers of any age. Indeed he can be elected more easily than they, month ago he cut three fingers off the for by some curious freak of fortune the ablest legislators are often the poorest in purse. It is folly to expect a collection of professional politicians and capitalists, interspersed (with stock jobbers and other jobbers, to legislate for the people; it is folly to speak of such a body as "dignified" and to hold that it is a necessary check upon the more radical and at times dangerous House.

The thing to be considered in relation to election by the people is, will this plan reduce or remove the evil? It will reduce it and may remove it. The ordinary legislature is composed of ordinary men, as men go, with ordinary weaknesses, and many of them are made legislators because of these weaknesses. It is at times easy to coerce or to buy the necessary majority of these men. But t is nearly impossible to coerce or to ouy a majority of voters in a state. It s true these voters elect the corrupt state gislators, but to them the United States enate is very different from the state egislature and they would hesitate beore putting a corrupt man in the champer whose traditions are still sacred to then the fact should be taken as an indication that the senate should be wiped

How could President would subject himself to criticism if he annonced his purpose, and if anyone in his confidence should betray it it would not be much better. President Cleveland has devoted the greater part of this week, night and day, to listening attentively to arguments for and against the Bland coinage bid, although it is known that he has long been a close student of the question involved. It is because of the differences in opinon among Democrats on the matter that he has been anxious to hear all that both sides have to say. Up to last night he had not indicated what disposition h would make of the bill. In view of the record of the President it is a waste of space to say that there is absolutely no foundation for the stories sent out from Washington making him a party to a bargain with the silver men in congress. They are simply sensational libels upon the President as well as upon the silver men. No man ever occupied the White House who was clearer of bargaining, either for person or political gain, than is Grover Cleveland, and, while his decision must necessarily be against the be set down in advance that it will be the result of his honest convictions, and cepted by the Democratic party at large. Since the tariff bill was reported to the senate the Republicans have been making desperate and concerted attempts to make it appear that there is formidable Democraict opposition to the bill in the senate. That the bill will be changed before it passes the senate is altogether probable, inasmuch as it will produce, in its present form, according to the latest estimates, something like $30,-000,000 more than will be required, and it is the policy of the Democrats only to levy sufficient taxes to raise the money necessary to run the government. Democratic senators who favor changes looks ing towards a reduction of the revenue to the amount required will state their reasons and ask their Democratic colleagues for the votes to make them, but it is not believed that any of them will seek Republican votes to get those changes, or will vote against the bill should the changes desired not be made. The four appropriation bills—the District of Columbia, the general pension, the fortification and the sundry civilalready passed by the House, represent a reduction of $24,334,958 from the total amount carried by the same bills for the current fiscal year. The Democrat says: There is no question about the fact that all the members Bland bill has been the deadfall over the timber. This so incensed Collins that he of the party feel the need of a change in the rules governing the Democratic party in this county. The rule requiring the registration of candidates two or three weeks before the meeting of the convention should be abolished, as well as the other one relating to instructions to delegates. At the last convention a set of amended rules were favorably acted upon, making these and a few other minor changes, and they should be passed finally at the coming meeting of the committee. Every committeeman should ascertain the sentiments of his constituents, so he can act in accordance with their wishes. A convention should be a deliberative body, free to name whom it
