WILMORE, Pa., May 24, 1894. EDITOR FREEMAN: The reply of J. F. a last week's Freeman to my communi ation in the issue of your paper of the which I wish to correct.

In the first place, I did not indulge i any harmful personality. I entertained the highest regard for J. F. and my remarks about him personally, although, of course, not pertinent to the subject, were intended to be complimentary. I did not think he would be so foolish as to lose his emper, and have not allowed anything he has said to cause me to follow his example. No Agreement.

CLEVELAND, May 17,-The big coal conference has resulted in a failure. After an all-day session of the miners the joint conference committee of operators and miners and took a downward course lodging near reported this evening that they could come to no agreement on the question of wages. The operators offered a 65 and 66 cents scale and the miners held out for 70

President McBride, offering a resolution eciting that whereas a large number of operators who had refused to attend the onference had refused the hand of recondilation and peace which had been extended to them, the miners believed that any settlement arrived at in the absence of these operators would only add to and and accentuate the miserable condition of the miners and that it was impossible to make any settlement with the operators who had met them there.

While appreciating the efforts of the operators who had attended the conference to reach a settlement, the miners asked their co-operation in bringing peaceable and persuasive measures to bear upon the absent operators to induce them to agree to terms with the miners.

These resolutions were offered to the onference as expressing the views of the miners, and as there seemed to be nothing more to do, the conference adjourned sine

CLEVELAND, May 18.- Before leaving for their homes to-day, the miners met for consultation. The subject of continuing the strike and plans to make it effective were thoroughly canvassed. They will resist all attempts to settle by districts, and bring pressure to bear on the non-union miners now at work to induce them to join the strikers. The leaders announce that there will be no compromise. The operators will attempt to settle the strike

A Man Shot in Johnstown

About 7 o'clock on Monday evening Thomas Cush, a resident of the Fifteenth ward, Johnstown, was shot in the stomach by Harry Marsh, a tramp, in front of the saloon of James Cush, a brother of the counded man.

Marsh, in company with two other ramps, entered the saloon of James Cush few minutes before the shooting and Marsh started out alone. When on the teps he seized a dog belonging to Thomas Cush by the collar and threw the animal out on the street, the dog falling on its back. Thomas Cush, who was standing by, remonstrated by saying "Don't you abuse that dog like that again," He had no sooner uttered the words when Marsh grabbed Cush, saying "I'd do that with you if you don't shut up." and a struggle ensued when Marsh pulled out a revolver and while they were struggling, fired. As soon as the shot was fired James Cush ranout and caught the tramp, and together with several citizens, arrested him. Hewas taken to the Central police station along with his two compations.

The wounded man is about thirty-four years of age and has a wife and one daughter. The doctors summoned probed for the ball but were unable to locate it as they considered it dangerous to probe too

The Pennsylvania rail road bridge over the river is standing the pressure solidly, but the city bridges have On Friday atternoon lightning struck | been badly damaged. Four spans of the he barn of Juseph Hogue in Allegheny Market street bridge have been washed away, and three of the four spans of the Maynard street bridge have gone. Both are iron structures and the loss will be heavy. No lives have been lost here. A number of small boats were capsized today, but all of the occupants, many of whom were endeavoring to save logs and other property, were rescued.

The entire city is under water from four to twenty feet. The water is still rising at the rate of six inches an hour. Many sawmills and houses in the lower part of will reach three times that amount.

Flood News From Sonman.

SONWAN, May 22.-The large boilers of . A. Mitchell & Co. were completely ooded out last night, which caused th stoppage of all the pumps in the large shaft. The water poured in a stream into the top of the shaft. At this time the water is being held at the "C" vein, which makes a depth of nearly 200 feet of water n the shaft. The Pennsylvania railroad tracks, never known to have been flooder here, were completely washed out from Sonman station for a distance of 2,500 fee west of here. For this distance the tracks were covered for a depth of 'ifteen to twen ly inches with water. A stock train east ound at 9 o'clock Sunday evening was de ailed at this place while passing through the flood.
