Three highway robbers of Adrian, Pa., a one-legged, robbed him of his quarterly "way home from Kittanning, Pa." and a small scalloped seal. The note appears to have been printed from a wood cut plate.

A murder was committed at Curwensville, Clearfield county, on Friday night about 9 o'clock. Thomas Fallero killed Patricia Nera by stabbing him through the heart. He died instantly. Both were Italians. The latter was acting as peace-maker between Fallero and one Mike Morlar, who were quarrelling over some trivial matter. The murderer escaped and is still at large.

The Williamsport Times tells how William Burrs, a well-known farmer residing at Liberty, was using a mowing machine last Wednesday when the horses ran away, throwing Mr. Burrs in front of the knives. He managed to hold on to the lines, and this saved his life. The machine, as it was his clothing was nearly off his body, and his head and body are full of gashes. Both legs were terribly cut and one of them had to be amputated, while the other is so badly crippled that it is feared he will never be able to use it should he recover, which is doubtful.

Six boiler-makers, names unknown, but claiming Chicago as their place of residence, and who have been engaged in building an iron gas tank in Altoona, got into a fight in the Eighth ward on Monday evening, when Patrolman Al. Burkhardt turned on the officer and took his machine, with which he knocked him to death, and then proceeded to kick him to death. He drew his revolver and shot one of his assailants just below the heart. The other three were not fatally injured, while the wound of the man who was shot is considered dangerous. Two others of the party have been caught and are under arrest.

On information of his wife, charging him with desertion and non-support, William Burk was arrested by Constable Roe Saturday afternoon and committed to jail by Alderman Smith in default of $200. The complaint was made on April 23rd, but the husband "drew his time" and skipped to Cambria county before he could be arrested. The warrant was sent to Cambria county, but the same man Burk escaped arrest and returned to Altoona. His father-in-law learned he was here, and under some pretext, induced him to accompany him to the alderman's office, where he was placed under arrest. In five minutes afterwards he was on his way to jail. - Altoona Gazette.

A Great Farmers' Meeting. Will be held at Williams Grove, Cambria county, Pa., thirteen miles southwest of Harrisburg, August 27, the largest agricultural exhibition ever held in the Middle Atlantic states. The exhibits alone will cover over 30 acres of ground. Three meetings will be held daily in the large auditorium, which will be addressed by the speakers. In attendance, President Cleveland will be in attendance if official duties will permit. The secretary of agriculture will be glad to meet the practical farmers of the country on this occasion. There will be free concerts, musical and literary entertainments every evening during the week. All who can attend this great exhibition. For full information relative to exhibit spaces, cottages and tents, wire R. H. Thomas, general manager, Mechanicsburg, Pa.

Excursions over all railroads, one fare the round trip.

A New Pension Bill. Assistant Secretary Reynolds has decided that a soldier of the United States army who was confined as a prisoner of war in a Confederate prison, and who subsequently enlisted or served in the Confederate army for the mere purpose of escaping the hardships of prison life, is not guilty of such voluntary aiding or abetting the rebellion as to bar him from pension.

Where an enlistment and service is sought to be palliated or excused on the ground of duress or that it was not voluntary or was for the purpose of escape to the Union lines, the presumption, Mr. Reynolds says, is that the enlistment or abetting can only be overcome by the most positive, direct and satisfactory evidence. The uncorroborated testimony of a claimant will not be accepted to overcome such a presumption.

The Fair. The fourth annual exhibition of the Ebersburg Agricultural Society will take place on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, August 28, 29, 30 and 31st.

Already the fair gives every promise of being one of the best ever held here. The numerous applications for space from exhibitors from a distance indicate that the exhibition of implements and machinery will be far ahead of anything ever seen in the county.

The premium list is large and one is now out, published in a pamphlet which can be had by calling on the managers or addressing J. B. Denny, Ebersburg, Pa.

Wheat as a Hog Feed. While selling a good many bushels in this market, and a good many of our farmers propose to feed it to their hogs instead of selling it at that price. At fifty cents a bushel it is certainly cheaper than a Cherryhill farmer tell us that he fed 300 bushels of wheat to his hogs last year and that he realized over $1000 a bushel for it. It is said that a constant diet of wheat is not the best; but that every few days the hog should have a feed of corn or oats. It hardly looks right to feed wheat to the hogs, but if that disposition of it pays that is the thing to do. - Indiana Messenger.

Engine of Large Pattern. The Pennsylvania Railroad owned an improved locomotive built at the Altoona shops last week. The engine is a class "P" and number 804. She pulled six coaches between Altoona and Huntington, carrying a number of officials of the Pennsylvania railroad. There are many engines of this class on the road, but this locomotive is the latest model, the drivers being six feet and eight inches in diameter. The test was satisfactory in every respect, and it is said the engineer and his crew will be well paid for their main line service.

Marriage Licenses. The following marriage licenses were issued by the Clerk of the Orphan's Court for the week ending Thursday, July 26, 1901: Charles Gorko and Mary Sopko, Johnstown. Martin Maher and Mary Fitzsimmons, Johnstown. Oliver G. Plummer, Summerhill, and Myrtle A. Lytle, South Fork. Elmer R. Berkeley and Mary A. Hershberger, Johnstown. Peter A. Yeager and Celis Thomas, Elder township. Thomas H. Miller and Martha A. Hines, Blacklick township.

$1,000.00 Mortgage. A Hollidaysburg dispatch says the Pennsylvania Midland Railroad Company, owing to a line extending from Altoona to Ashlota, Somerset county, a distance of 30 miles, has bonded its indebtedness for $1,000,000. A mortgage for that amount in favor of the Provident Life and Trust Company, of Philadelphia, has been recorded. The mortgage is now being engaged on construction work and the cars will be running by December 1.

Communication. Carrolltown, Pa., July 16th, 1894. Ed. Freeman: In your issue of the 13th inst. I see a communication by Mr. Luke Behe, in which, referring to mine of the 25th, on the single tax theory, he says: "The side of the argument advanced is another side of the same question, and might be well to scrutinize. The lands in Cambria county average in value about twenty dollars an acre. The amount of tax required is about $100.00. Now how much would this be per acre?"

Suppose this valuation is correct, taking into account the value of the land, and all that does the single tax theory propose to do? Simply to tax all these lands at their true value exclusive of all improvements. For example: In a town, a lot worth $100.00 would be assessed the same as one thousand acres of farm land worth ten dollars an acre, no matter whether either of them is occupied or used or not. If there is anything unjust in this I would like to have it pointed out to me. As Mr. Behe admits the beauty of the theory, I presume he does not theoretically deny the equal right of the farmer and the miner of the earth, and that the value of the land (not the intrinsic worth, as caused by the presence of population in a community. He says, "I fail to see how land owners are responsible for strikes or any other of the ills which we hear so much of, at present."

Nearly all students of our social conditions claim that the land question is at the bottom of the whole labor problem. Of course the land owners are not the cause, but land ownership, that is, the false principle of creating land as if subject to the same right of private property as the products of labor, thus shutting out the masses of men from the common inheritance—the right to the use of the earth—and allowing capital to monopolize the natural resources, by which men's labor is reduced to the condition of helplessness at the feet of capital, begging for work. No land owners are not personally to blame. Indeed many of them have been cruelly wronged by having been compelled to pay heavily for a bit of land on which they found a home and apply their labor, and are continually harassed by unjust taxes for the purpose of enriching monopolies of various kinds, such as railroads, "protected" manufactures, etc.

I think Mr. Behe's strictures on corporations are too sweeping. In any case, a corporation cannot be properly called a monopoly unless it infringes on the rights of others. Let "equal freedom" be the watchword. Whatever will not stand this test, should be restricted, modified, abolished or controlled by government for the common good. This done and our labor troubles will soon be a curiosity of the dim and shadowy past.

Yours Respectfully, J. E. Killed at the Tunnel. The mangled remains of Daniel McKinney, aged 19, and James Nolan, aged 18, both residents of Cambria, in this county, were found on tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad near the east end of the Gallitzin tunnel about four o'clock on last Sunday morning by Michael Hynesek. When found they could not be identified and were buried in a box at the Blair county almshouse. On Sunday evening Philip McKinney, a brother of Daniel, and Peter Sheridan both of Delaney, went to Altoona and after viewing the remains identified both bodies. The two unfortunate men had left Delaney on Friday last with the intention of going to Westmoreland county for work. It is supposed that they were unsuccessful and were on their way home when they were struck by a train. Both bodies lie buried in the freight cars along the ties for a distance of nearly a hundred yards.

The Great Difference. One great difference between the Harrison administration and the Cleveland administration is this: Under the Harrison administration we were paying off and cancelling government bonds, and under the Cleveland administration we are issuing new bonds and rapidly increasing the national debt. Does any one think the change from Harrison to Cleveland a good thing? - Herald.

And Cleveland's first administration left in the treasury over $100,000,000 in pay bonds with the Harrison administration not only left the treasury empty, but had managed the finances so badly that Cleveland's administration was compelled to issue bonds to tide over the extravagant expenditures incurred during the Harrison administration.

The Coal Miners. Phillipsburg, Pa., July 24.—If the long strike in this region is not effectively broken by the end of the week, it will not be the fault of the operators. To-day fifty grants were placed at the Atlantic shaft, foremen of a large body of new men expected to arrive to-morrow, perhaps to-night. Captain Clark has been transferred from Punxsutawney to this section and will be in command of affairs. The mass meeting which was to have been held at Houtzdale to-day has been postponed until to-morrow, the committee sent to Philadelphia on Sunday to confer with the Herwind-White Company not having returned. They wired that the company would not pay more than forty cents for mining where the veins are three feet or more, but would allow a higher price for veins under three feet. Interviews with a number of miners to-day are to the effect that the proposition will not be accepted.

The hearing of the miners charged with having burned down the tippie at the Imperial mine was continued at Osceola to-day. In the warrant are the names of some prominent citizens who are the chief causes the hearing to be attended by hundreds. W. I. Shaw, of Houtzdale, counsel for the defendants, secured an adjournment of the hearing until Thursday.

Discussed Democrats. Last week two good old Democratic farmers were in Ebensburg and had word for word the same conversation. One of them, who was well informed of the low price at which wool was selling and that the low price was the direct cause of the Democratic party, in putting forward the low price, exclaimed, with emphasis, too, that if God would spare his life he would never again vote the Democratic ticket. The other declared that if his life was spared and he were permitted to live for one hundred and fifty years, he would cast a vote for a Democrat. The above cases are actual facts.

And yet those "two good old Democrats," if they exist at all, and have brains enough to be Democrats, know that wool is now selling under the duty imposed by the McKinley tariff, and that the price of wool is being advanced by the passage of the McKinley bill. If "two good old Democratic farmers" should go in partnership with the people who believe that the duty of 75 cents a ton on coal is to enable the coal barons to pay American wages—35 cents a ton for mining.
