

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

The first week.
Mrs. John Bender, of Altoona, is visiting in Ellensburg.

Thomas J. Hill, Esq., of Johnstown, is a member of the Cambria club on Monday last.

Black races, foot races, horse races, and a host of other amusements will be given at the fair next week.

Miss Wharton, of St. Augustine, is followed by the school directors of Ellensburg to each one of the schools in the county.

Marion Miller and Harry Clayton, who were in the Second National Bank of Altoona, are ready to start a new business in the books of the bank.

Dr. E. M. Emery, dentist at Crescon, on Monday night, was called to the residence of Mrs. J. H. Taylor, on the corner of 1st and 2nd streets, where he attended to a case of toothache.

A. J. Ferguson, superintendent of the Cambria Telephone & Telegraph Company, has been absent for a couple of days on business in North Carolina.

A TRAGEDY AT TUNNELHILL.

MRS. SARAH McAVOY KILLED BY HER HUSBAND.
Another tragedy was enacted at Tunnelhill, on Saturday afternoon about four o'clock, the result of which is that Mrs. Sarah McAvoy is now in her grave and her husband, James McAvoy, and his brother, Joseph McAvoy, are now incarcerated in the jail in this place.

James McAvoy, aged about twenty-six years and his wife about the same age, occupied a two-story building on Sansbury street, in Tunnelhill. The house is a frame structure and contains four rooms, two down stairs and two up stairs.

On Saturday the two brothers, who are employed as drivers in Mitchell's mines, quit work about nine o'clock and went to James' home where it is said they began drinking quite freely. Nothing unusual occurred until about 3:30 in the afternoon, when the neighbors heard three shots in close succession, but as McAvoy was in the habit of frequently shooting marks in the back yard, no attention was paid to the shooting.

About four o'clock another shot was heard, quickly followed by a scream, and Joseph McAvoy, who lives across the street, started for the house and saw Joseph McAvoy come out and run up the street, with one of his hands covered with blood. He immediately ran up stairs and found Mrs. McAvoy on the landing in the throes of death and James McAvoy, who had been shooting marks in the back yard, was standing by her.

Joseph McAvoy said: "I don't know what happened. I was just standing by the door when I saw Mrs. McAvoy on the landing. She was bleeding from the head and I saw her fall down. I tried to help her, but she was dead when I got to her."

Dr. Ferguson, who was called to the house where he found the woman dead when he arrived. A post mortem examination was made of the body by Drs. Ferguson and W. E. Trossell in the evening.

It was found that the ball entered the body at the upper edge of the left clavicle, or collar bone, passed through the entire upper lobe of the left lung, cut off the subclavian artery, passed on to the back and lodged under the skin. Dr. T. S. Trossell and Dr. McAvoy, who was present when the post mortem was held, reported that the floor of the back room at the top of the stairs was found stained with blood in several places and in the ceiling directly over the bed were three bullet holes.

The husband claims the shooting was accidental. He said he and his brother Joseph were sitting at the table in the kitchen when it was accidentally discharged. The bullet entered the breast of his wife, who had tried to separate them. All three, he said, were in the front upstairs room when the shooting occurred.

Joseph McAvoy, however, claimed that the woman was in the next room when the fatal shot was fired. The husband alleges that he carried his wife to the head of the stairs after she had been shot.

The woman was a daughter of Mr. Samuel Huey, a well known citizen of Tunnelhill. James and Joseph McAvoy were brought to jail on Sunday afternoon to answer for the crime.

On Monday the father of the two McAvoy boys was taken to the court by Frank O'Connor, Esq., to defend them.

Bank Examiner Miller Sues
Bank examiner William Miller, who was working on the accounts of the suspended Second National Bank of Altoona, Friday last committed suicide at 1 o'clock by shooting himself through the head. He instantly died.

The examiner had just returned from dinner, and after talking a minute with J. P. Levan, president of the bank, in the private office, walked into the counting room. A minute later a shot was heard, and when Mr. Levan entered the room Miller was lying on the floor with blood and brains oozing from a hole through his head. He had just completed the examination of the affairs of the bank and submitted the result to Washington.

Examiner Miller's home was at Mercer, Pa. He was an active member of the bank and was appointed a bank examiner about two years ago, succeeding Hugh N. Young. There is no way of accounting for this rash act except on the theory that he was wearying over his failure to detect the fraud work of Cashier Gardner, when he had previously examined the bank some six months previous.

W. C. Bland, Esq., a well known resident of Johnstown, committed suicide by taking a dose of poison at an early hour this (Thursday) morning. "Squire Bland" had been alderman of the Thirteenth ward of that city, but at the recent election failed to be re-nominated. That coupled with financial difficulties that had been accumulating lately, is probably the cause of his committing the rash act.

Within the past week or two several ironing machines had been sent him for embezzlement and on these charges he had given bail for his appearance at court.

Up until a short time ago he had charge of the distribution of the out door paper in that city, and it is said there is a change in his accounts. He was about 50 years of age.

Through to Houtzale.
The Phillipsburg Journal of Wednesday says: The first through train to Houtzale, Pa., is being run to-day, and no charge is being made for transportation. Several trips have been made, and every train crowded with people anxious to "try the new road."

The president, Samuel P. Langston, has been handling the throats and feet of just pride in the completion of his road between this city and Houtzale, and will lose no time in extending it to Altoona and Johnstown. These trial trips to-day have been highly satisfactory to the merchants, who took advantage of the company's generosity in running free trains.

G. A. R. National Encampment.
For the meeting of the National Naval Association to be held at Pittsburg, Pa., September 8, and the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, to be held at the same place, September 10 to 15, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell to the public, from September 6 to 10, inclusive, round trip tickets to Pittsburg and return at rate of one lowest first class fare for the round trip, except from nearby points. These tickets will be valid for return passage until September 25, inclusive.

Detailed information in regard to rates, stop-over privileges, date-trip excursion tickets, etc., can be obtained upon application at ticket offices.

Where Was the Opium First Fined?
This (Monday) morning at 1:30 o'clock Judge Barker filed at the court house, in Ellensburg, his opinion in the celebrated Gallitzin school case.—Johnston Tribune.

The opinion was published in the Tribune on Monday evening without the Tribune being under the necessity of getting it from the court house, the jury naturally arises as to in which place the opinion was first filed; which had the reference, the court house or the Tribune?

Communication.

Loretto, Pa., August 23, 1904.
ED. FREEMAN:—What meat doth this give us that grows so great? A person signing himself Joseph McDonald, 78 Union street, Cumberland, Md., commutes the enormity of the acts of sovereign Democrats in Loretto, Carrolltown and Gallitzin, through the medium of a Republican paper.

In behalf of the would-be dictator, Lord Gorman, this person says "I am a storker for the sacred rights of petition, a child of Maryland," and "I rebel with all my power against the tyrannical rule of the potentates of Loretto, Carrolltown and Gallitzin have culminated."

Our public schools will open Monday, September 3rd, for a term of seven months. During last term there were 269 pupils enrolled, 93 of whom attended every day, this being 27 more than were perfect during the term of 1893. Out of a term of 120 days 204 pupils attended over 100 days.

By these figures we see that 65 pupils—nearly one-fourth of the total—were absent over one-sixth of the term. In looking over the record of examinations for promotions I find that 68 pupils have failed to be promoted, either on account of not being present or failing to pass a satisfactory examination, and that 27 of these have been absent over one-sixth of the term. Making due allowance for absence on account of sickness, it appears that a large percentage of our pupils have not sent themselves from school without any reasonable excuse, and that nearly all failures in examinations were due to irregular attendance.

There seems to be little excuse for irregular attendance in a school containing no outdoor work to keep pupils out of school. Teachers cannot do efficient work if pupils are absent from school one month out of six, it does not mean that he has received five-sixths of the benefits of that term. It means that he has had no opportunity to advance during the entire term, that he has retarded the advancement of other pupils, or that he himself has learned little or nothing, and that finally he becomes so much discouraged that he drops out of school entirely.

Should not parents zealously strive to have their children in school every day of the term, that one of the difficulties to successful work may be overcome?

The daily report cards will be sent home with pupils every Monday for the inspection and signature of parents. Pupils will not be admitted to the ground nor building until 8:45 in the morning and 1:15 in the afternoon.

The attention of parents is called to the following regarding the school district. Parents must necessarily strictly adhere. Pupils must be regular and punctual in attendance, and in case of absence or tardiness, they shall bring a written excuse from their parents or guardian, unless such has been given by the teachers on acting in accordance with the school district regulations without a written request.

Parents are requested to speak to teachers about the interests of their children, to aid the teachers in carrying out the regulations, and to encourage their children to do faithful work. T. L. GIBSON, Principal.

The Gallitzin School Case.
On Monday Judge Barker filed the following decree in the Gallitzin school case: "And now, August 23, 1904, this case having been previously heard and fully considered, it is ordered and decreed as follows: That the school district, heretofore granted be dissolved in so far as the same restrains the school district of Gallitzin borough, the school directors of said district and their successors from employing the other defendants named in the bill as teachers in said public schools, under the certificates issued by the county superintendent in their religious names, and permitting said teachers to remain as such while wearing the garb of said order."

"And it is also dissolved in so far as it restrains the teachers from permitting the pupils to address them by the title of 'sister' or 'brother' as fathers."

"And the said preliminary injunction is made perpetual in so far as it restrains the defendants from permitting the use of the catechism of the Roman Catholic church as books of instruction in said public schools, during school hours or otherwise, and from using the said catechisms for said purposes therein, and from giving or permitting any religious sectarian instructions therein at any time, and from using or permitting the use of the office of the clerk of said court, or any other office, for the purpose of the collection of a fee common school purpose."

"And it is further ordered and decreed that the defendants pay the docket costs taxed in this case and the costs of their witnesses and services of subpoenas thereon, and that the plaintiffs pay the costs of their witnesses and the services of subpoenas thereon in the court."

Correspondence.

Gallitzin, August 21, 1904.
ED. FREEMAN:—The home of M. Andrew Basil, Sr., was the scene of a happy event and one long to be remembered by all who were present, it being the 70th anniversary of Mrs. Basil's birth.

The sun had not rightly cast its golden rays upon the waving corn when the rumble of wheels was heard coming from many directions spoke plainly to the old couple. It was their children, grand children and others who were coming to spend a day at the old homestead, which they all did to their satisfaction.

While the children romped through the fields to their hearts' content, the elder ones chatted and laughed and talked to the remembrance incidents of their childhood days. By this time dinner was ready and they were invited to surround the table which fairly glowed under the weight of good things.

After satisfying the inner man and many congratulations with tokens of love and esteem for the aged couple, who among the most respected of the neighborhood. All wended their way homeward after wishing the aged couple many returns of the happy occasion.

The following persons from this place were present: Mr. T. J. Stevens and family, Mr. Andrew Basil, Jr., and family, and Mr. Arnold Lentz and family, also Mr. D. G. Myers, his family and Mr. George Elwanger, of Ashville, a. r. v.
