EXILED FROM HOME.

It is said that at this time there are twenty-two ex-sovereigns residing in different parts of Europe, none of them in the countries they once ruled. PIUS IX., the late pontiff, was driven from Rome during the stormy days of 1848. He fled in disguise to Gaeta, and remained there until restored by foreign aid.

EMPEROR CHARLES V. lived in voluntary exile during the last years of his life. His chief occupation in his retirement was devising new viands to tempt his gluttonous appetite.

A GREAT many of the popes have been forced into exile, generally by emeutes among the turbulent Roman populace. A few were restored, but most of them died in exile.

MARIE DE MEDICI, the mother of three queens, was driven into exile by the influence and address of Cardinal Richelieu. She lived in great poverty, often wanting the necessaries of life.

JEROME BONAPARTE remained in exile from 1815 to the revolution of 1848, when he was restored to his military rank and made governor of the invalides. He died in Paris in 1860.

WHOLE families have sometimes been exiled at one time. The Stuart family was twice driven from England, and at different times the Bourbons and the Bonapartes have been expelled from France.

A UNIQUE FACTORY. Where Medicine and Food Is Manufactured for Dogs.

One of the two factories of this country for the making of patent food and atent medicine for dogs has been de eribed in the New York News. The founder of this novel establishment was a Scotchman. He was employed in London kennels, studied the needs of dogs, thought out special treatment for them, and finally took out patents on food and medicines, and in his unique business amassed a fortune.

On the second floor the visitor enters the receiving room of the raw materials. Thousands of pounds of butchers' scraps are brought here in the cour c of a month. Ontineal in wholesale quantities and tons of herbs are used. The old-fashioned dog's bane, boneset. catnip and beet root, under various scientific names, find a use as food or as medicine. The second floor is occupied by four curious machines with great cylinder attachments. After the fat and the ment have been sorted, they are ground separately in these machines, and then placed in great wooden tubs where carious mixtures are added.

The next process seems so much like the ordinary baker's work that one is quite disposed to taste things, and when the round and square cakes of a tempting brown have been taken from the brick ovens, one really envies the aristocratic dog. After cooling, the bisenits are packed in neat pasteboard boxes.

According to size these boxes are labelled for pet dogs, for greyhounds and for St. Bernards. There are specially prepared dishes for cats. Suilicient food to keep pussy for two days may be had for five cents. But it costs a pretty penny to keep a dog. A large dog must have six or eight cakes bedde a quantity of meat. The meat costs probably about ten cents and the cakes are four cents apiece. The most interesting department is that of the patent medicines at the top of the building. The mixture of herbs and chemicals are builed in great kettles, and the liquid is brought up to this floor to be put in bottles of various sizes and labelled "cure for mange. "liniment for sprains," and "to prevent baldness." Sure cures for seventeen diseases, and pills as well as liquid medicines are made. This curious establishment also makes dog collars, dog soaps, crates for carrying or shipping dogs, dog brushes and combs, blankets and mack intosh waterproofs with hoods, for greyhounds.

How He Replenished and Maintained the Imperial Treasury.

Among other expedients to raise money. Ivan resigned the crown in favor of a Tartar khan, who was baptized under the name of Simeon, say the Gentleman's Magazine. Ivafeigned to withdraw himself from pul lie affairs, but in realty he held on t them, and made the new ezar call in all the charters formerly granted to the monasteries and bishoprics and all the charters were canceled. The curious nterregnum, or by what other name should be designated, lasted nearl year, and then Ivan declared he did like the new regime, and dismiss the baptized heathen, again took the scepter which, as a matter of fact, he had never really disearded. He issued fresh charters to the mona teries, but was careful to keep back several fine slices of the revenues, ev torting from some of them fifty thousand and from some others one hundres thousand rubles annually. We shall see, as Ivan character is unfolded, that this spoliation of the monasteries was not the only thing in which he resembled our own merry monarch. Henry VIII. He would send his agents into the various provinces, there to buy up at low prices the whole of some partieular commodity for which the province was noted. After retaining the monopoly for awhile he would sell for a high rate and even compel merchants to buy at the prices he named. He followed a similar course with foreign imports. creating a monopoly and forbidding others to sell their stock until he had disposed of his own. By these means he cleared two hundred thousand rubles in a year. A Yankee Skipper's Cordwood. Capt. Robbins had an experience with the peculiar taxes in Sicily, saythe Portland (Me.) Press. He took over a cargo of oil from Philadelphia to Marseilles and had thirty cords of ordinary four foot firewood to pack the oil barrels with to prevent their rolling. It is called by the sailors "oil wood." He paid for this wood one hun dred and fifty dollarf in Philadelphia He did not sell in Marseilles because he expected to get more for it in 'rapani. But the dealers there offered him only fifteen dollars for the whole of it, say ing that the enormous tax upon it would not allow them to offer more. He declared that he'd bring it back to America before he'd sell it at that price, and so he did, and it is here in Portland now, after traveling eight thousand miles over the ocean, and it may go three thousand more, because if he can't get a decent price for it here he will take it back to England, where he is going from here with spool wood. There he can get about one hundres dollars for it. England doesn't want cordwood. She has got enough coal, and less is paid for cordwood there than

JAMES FENIMORE COOPER has been called the Scott of the Seas, from his stories of marine life. CHARLES I. was called the Man of Blood by the Puritans and the Royal Martyr by the royalists. SIR PHILIP SIDNEY was the Poet of Kissing, because of the amatory character of much of his verse. HENRY FIELDING was called the Prince of Novelists, from his skill in depicting character in fiction. HAYDN was called the Father of Symphony, from the prominence he gave that form of composition. CHARLES JAMES FOX was called the Man of the People, from his generally taking the opposition in politics.

A CASE OF TRANSFUSION.

Curious Suit Recently Brought in an English Court.

The legal possibilities of transfusion were brought out in a recent suit in an English court. A man, says the New York Ledger, who was very ill was treated by transfusion of blood as a last resort. He recovered, and after a time his gardner, from whose veins the vital fluid was taken, fell ill. Some one suggested that his contribution to his employer might have caused his illness, whereupon he brought suit, claiming sixty thousand francs' damages. After a good deal of legal investigation experts were appointed to examine and report on the case. This took so long that the man died before the report was finished. The widow, however, continued the suit, even though the post-mortem examination demonstrated that death was caused by cancer of the stomach. The courts decided in favor of the defendant, on the ground that even though the man's vitality might have been impaired by the loss of blood, his voluntary offer for the benefit of another individual released the recipient from all financial liability that might be claimed on account of the transaction.
