A Cow in a Coal Mine.

The Houtzdale, Clearfield county, Joural tells this story last week: "A cow belonging to Solomon Hill, of Brisbin, fell in an old unused coal shaft near that place over two weeks ago and still she 'ives. The query with the owner was how he was to get her out of prison. The shaft was said to be in the neighborhood of 150 feet deep, and the poor animal lived at the bottom of this pit for seven days without anything to eat or drink. Mr. Hill knew that something had to be done, although every known means had been used by him and his neighbors to extricate the animal from its terrible position, and so on Saturday, with the assistance of his friends, he managed, by means of ropes, to pull the poor brute to the surface. She looks much the worse for lack of grub and her fall in life."

Coal Rights in Dispute. County Surveyor W. M. Fraser left on Monday afternoon for Benscreek, where he will be engaged the remainder of the week settling up a land-line dispute be tween two coal companies. The parties concerned are W. H. As a Shortening Route. The Pittsburg Dispatch of last Saturday has the following concerning the Ebensburg and Blacklick railroad: "A railroad that will in all probability phia has just been opened. It is the Ebensburg and Blacklick railroad, and runs from Ebensburg, Cambria country to be an important factor in shortening the Vintondale. It is a branch of the Pennsylvania railroad. The distance is only 23% miles, and by pushing it 23 miles further a short connection can be made with the West Penn division. Through trains could then be run via the West Penn and the Ebensburg and Blacklick divisions and cut down the time between Pittsburg and Cresson nearly an hour. President George B. Roberts, with his inspection party, went over the new line last week, and was well pleased with it. "The new branch was constructed to Company, an Eastern concern. They were naccessable. To get at them and with the idea of shortening the distance from Cresson to Pittsburg the Pennsylvania Railroad Company agreed to extend the Ebensburg branch from the terminus at Ebensburg to the mines at Vintondale. "The extention was completed about ten days ago and the line opened for traffic. One of the stations is called Twin Rocks on account of a high embankment of rock n each side of the tracks. The cut is 900 feet long and cost the "Pennsy" $50,000.

It is estimated the new branch cost at the rate of $20,000 per mile. The country is very wild and much difficulty was had surmounting some of the obstacles that onfronted the surveyors. Notwithstanding the hilly condition of the country the roadbed is the best that could be put down. The bridges are iron and steel, and the best stone was used in building the culverts. The entire work shows that it was done more for a main line than a coal road. This leads to the belief that it will only be a short time unil all the through trains are run around that route instead of down the Conemaugh

District Passenger Agent Thomas E. Watt took a trip over the new branch Thursday. The line is in his territory and e wanted to familiarize himself with the location of the stations. A schedule of rates and train service has been arranged and trains are now running to and from Vintondale. The latter is only 14 miles across the country from Johnstown. Heretofore the nearest way to reach it was by way of Ninevah. The mails are now sent over this route. From Ninevah they go by stage part of the way and are carried on horseback to their destination. In and around Cresson the "Pennsy" is making a number of improvements. That station is now the junction of about four branch lines, and the increased tonnage and passenger traffic is making the summer resort a busy place.
