Richard Owens, of Cambria township, fell on the ice at his home on Friday last and fractured two of his ribs. The old gentleman is pretty well advanced in years and his sufferings are much more severe than that of a younger person.

On Thursday Luke Weaklin, of this place, hauled from Barker's mill, in Cambria township, to the railroad in this place, 202 feet of green hemlock lumber, on one load with two horses. It was a big load and is an indication that sledding is pretty good in these parts.

Pension Agent Skinner is about to prepare a circular of instructions to fourth-class postmasters as to the execution of pension vouchers. A degree of uncertainty exists, however, owing to the fact that Col. S. W. Davis is to have his choice of the two offices, and until he makes his selection, the balance of the pension vouchers do not know exactly where they are to go.

John Shaffer, of Johnstown, in attempting to get a moving street car on Saturday slipped and was thrown under the trailer and dragged a short distance before the car could be stopped. When taken to his home it was found that his right leg was broken in two places, one at the thigh and the other at the ankle, besides being cut and bruised about the left leg and body.

At the election of officers for the Protection Mutual Insurance Company held at the office of the secretary in this place on Monday last, the following board of directors was elected for the ensuing year: H. J. Hoppie, J. M. Thompson, John V. Evans, Webster Griffith, C. T. Roberts, J. S. Barker, John Lloyd, John G. Bearer, Wm. J. Buck, John C. Gates, D. W. Luke, M. J. Gorman.

Cyrus Burnhart was found dead in a hollow near Somersfield, Somerset county, on Tuesday about thirty yards from the depot. Burnhart was a victim of the recent snow storm. He had been evidently very suddenly overcome while returning from a neighbor's house, and fell face downward in the snow, smothering and freezing to death. He was forty-one years old, and leaves four small children. His wife died a year ago.

The prospects for a speedy settlement of the coal miners' strike are apparently very good, says a dispatch from DuBois. The men are willing to accept a wage of $1.00 a week, if their comrades who were recently discharged are taken back. Mr. Elliott, the general manager for Bell, Lewis & Yates, the owners of the mines in which the strike is in progress, has gone to Buffalo to lay the proposition from the men before the members of the firm.

Each of the 40 priests of the Pittsburgh diocese has been notified of an ordinance recently issued by Rt. Rev. Richard Pheasant, Bishop, prohibiting their attendance at base ball, foot ball or other games of sport, as well as attending the theatres. The order has been authorized by higher authorities and must be observed. The reason given for issuing the order is that the absence of priests attending amusements or sports has caused inconvenience to persons needing their services.

The survey for a branch of the Pennsylvania into the northern section of Somerset county has been finished. It is said to be the intention of the Pennsylvania to anticipate the Pennsylvania Midland by the immediate building of a circular line that will extend from Lovett, on the South Fork branch, to Scarp Level, thence to Port Creek, and join the Somerset and Columbia road at Foyersville. The branch will then be extended up Slide Creek and back to Dunlo, to join the South Fork branch again.

At the coming spring election the citizens of Ebensburg should see that councilmen are elected who will either enforce the law or repeal it, and pass laws which will be for the benefit of the people. The present ordinance was forced through council at the dictation of the few against the wishes of the many and ever since its passage the present council have not had a chance to make an attempt to repeal it. The citizens should get ready to declare their intentions as the voters will want to know plainly how they stand on the cow question.

After an illness of two weeks, Matthew Nagle, an engineer of the Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania railroad, died on Friday night last at his home in Altoona. He was 32 years of age and had been employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for fifteen years. He is survived by his wife and four children, their ages ranging between two and nine years. He is also survived by his father, Michael Nagle, who is 56 years of age and was a resident of Altoona for many years. Mrs. Nagle is 29 years of age and has three children, living on a farm in Chest township. Mr. Pfondfoot, in addition to tilling his farm, was a surveyor, and as such was a frequent visitor to Ebensburg as a witness in the numerous land cases that were then on trial in our courts. In 1879 he was elected a member of the legislature and served one term. About 1890 he removed to Iowa, where he resided until his death, which occurred about 20 years ago.

The Portage opera house, a large frame structure, caught fire about 3 o'clock on Tuesday morning and was totally destroyed. It is supposed that the fire originated from some defects in the furnace, as there had been a fire made the day previous for the purpose of heating up the room for the accommodation of a dancing party from Lilly and Croston. The party failed to put out an appearance and the fire in the furnace was allowed to die out. There was no one about the building at the time of the discovery of the fire. The loss is estimated at $25,000, with an insurance of $1,000 in a company represented by Geo. A. Kinsaid, of this place.

Clearfield county has a family remarkable on account of its longevity. Patrick and Elizabeth Porter, who came to this country from Ireland forty-five years ago, were parents of six living children, all but one of whom are residents of Clearfield. Mrs. Elizabeth Lawrence, the oldest daughter, will be ninety years of age next month. William Porter, the eldest son, has passed his eighty-eighth year, and his second sister—Mrs. Jane Ralston—is eighty-four. Robert, who resides near Curwensville, and John, of Clearfield, are eighty-two and seventy-nine years respectively, while Sarah, the youngest daughter, is seventy-five, and Patrick, the father, died at seventy-five, and the wife at seventy-two.

Communication. You may find space for a few Blue Laws, which have been transcribed verbatim, strictatim et punctatim, to which is appended a bill recently introduced in the legislature, having special reference to our county. The passing strange, nay, marvellous, to see the extreme solicitude which uninterested persons manifest in the management of our own schools. No doubt they consider us far behind the cultured eastern city whose council could appropriate unasked some ten thousand dollars for County dictation, and we will come out all right in the end if they only let us attend to our own business. The strife created by the interference of some people west of us was put to rest forever by the decision of our Honorable Judge Barker; now the eastern folks are about to try their hand at the same game. Would they not do better to confine their efforts to the Penrose bill for abolishing the Public Building Commission? Why open this vexed school question again? Certainly it is not in the interest of education, for the ladies aimed at are numbered among the most competent and progressive teachers of Pennsylvania. Ye gods! how the hoary sage of the Legislature should stare to see an assembly of modern statesmen deliberating over the enactment of a law to regulate the style of dress to be worn by ladies!
