of that place. Last Saturday his dead body was found rozen in the ice on the canal at the glass vorks near Cumberland. Three men who were walking near the scene noticed a ucer looking object on the ice, when a loser examination revealed a human head protruding. The body was easily identiied as that of Zufall. On his person was ound a time-book containing his name, a gold watch, a ring, and $16.93. He was known to have had $150 when last seen alive by his friends. Fleecing the Miners. Mountaindale, Pa., Feb. 19, 1895. Persons who have never worked around oal mines do not know the petty robbery that operators practice on the defenceless miners. At mines where no checkweighmen are employed the operators steal from 200 to 300 pounds from every car that the miner sends out.

The miner is charged 50 cents a month or sharpening picks. In a mine that emloys 300 men, the company will receive $150 per month for smithing charges from the miners. One smith will do all the work of the miners and other work for the ompany incidental to the mine. He will eceive from the company about $40 for his abor out of this $150 paid to the operator by the miners. In this way the operator zets all his own work done for nothing and cures over $100 a month from the miners. At many large mines physicians are employed by the company on a small salary.

The men are charged $1.00 per month each. Around works employing 300 miners there yould be about 500 men required, and the company would collect each month about $500. They would probably pay the doctor, who is generally a student just from ollege, or some quack who cannot build up a practice on merit, $100 per month, thus leaving them $400 of the hard earned noney of the miner. They sell powder and oil to the miner on which they make over 100 per cent. Then comes the pluck-me store where the men are compelled to deal out their labor n stale goods at excessive prices.

There is a coal operator in this section who complains of how ill the people here reat him. He is sure they are the most ame man fifteen years ago when he traveled throughout this country with a pack ! on his back begging people to buy his wares. Now he owns a large tract of coal land, store and several coal mines. If he to a post; thence by land of Jacob Eckenstops to contempiate he will see that he has not fared so bad among our people. I place of beginning, containing guess he means that the people were disconest with themselves in allowing a man like himself to "hoodo" them.

Jacob Stineman, our representative in Harrisburg, would do his constituents more substantial good if he would assist in BANK BARN. Jacob Stineman, our representative in nore substantial good if he would assist in legislating against the "pluck-me" stores instead of taking up the law-makers' ime by introducing petty bills that are of little importance. Mr. Stineman is a coal operator and I wonder if he owns a store. 'Sammy" Kuhn, an experienced lumerman, intends to go to West Virginia to engage in the lumber business. The inconsistency of advocating a high tariff on manufactured goods on the theory that it protects our workmen against the cheap labor of Europe, and at the same time importing hordes of paupers from Eastern Europe to compete with our American workmen in the mines and manufactories, is easily perceived by any man with a small measure of understanding.

A Vanderbitt Move. New York, Feb. 18.-Are the Vanderbilts interested in the construction and peration of another trunk line to Chicago? This is the question that inside circles of Wall street wrestled with to-day and tried to solve.

The Vanderbilts have now two lines there to Chicago; but they have no desirable connection with Pittsburg, a point they have been always anxious to reach. And so the story is that they are behind a movement looking to the opening of another trunk line to the Windy City.

The new road will not be constructed sutright, but will be a combination of ines already in existence, with short stretches of track to connect them. It has been known for some time that the Wheeling & Lake Erie will form the western link of the proposed route, but up to to-day the eastern section has been more or less of a surmise. But enough of the facts have come to the surface to show that the Vanderbilts are behind the present move, and that the Beech Creek railroad are to e part of the Eastern system.

The latter road only the other day loubled its capital stock in order to extend its tracks to the Smoky city, and the Wheeling & Lake Erie have only to be built from Pittsburg to Wellsville, O., to complete the trunk line. The surveys for these 24 miles have already been made. Your correspondent learns on the authorty of one of the leading railroad financiers of Wall street that a rich corporation is more than anxious to tap the rich coke, oal and iron fields of Western Pennsylania and West Virginia, and in the light of to-day's developments there can be no uestion that it can be none other than the Vanderbilt people.

The present move is for the Pittsburg Eastern to build their line from a connection with the Beeck Creek road at Mahaffey, 129 miles west of Williamsport, to Pittsburg, a distance of about 150 miles, thus securing a continuous track from Philadelphia or New York to the Smoky
