The American Vacht Though Badly Crippled Almost Caught Her Opponent Before the Bace Was Ended A Protest Filed By the Defender's Commander

New York, Sept. 11.-Crippled but still heeling far over in her strength and swiftness Defender followed Valkyrie across the finish line in the second race of the series Less than half a mile separated the two, and anxious eyes kept pace, second by second, with the time indicators as they moved around, and when it was seen that the American Defender had not only lost nothing in the last 20 miles of the course, but had actually gained, a great shout went up for the galiant struggle a gallant vessel had made. There were cheers for the victor, too, although Valkyrie III was the first challenger since '71 to lead over the home line. It was a grievous accident that ruined the Yankee boat's chances-an accident which under the bair-splitting excumstances of jockeying at the starting line looked to be unavoidable Captain Hank Haff had made a rec ord in seamanship on Saturday, and the English skipper prepared to regain the fame which had preceded him. They manocuvred swiftly after the prepara tory gun had been fired, and with Valkyrie to the windward, Captain Hafl made every effort to gain that position. Just before reaching the line, when Valkyrie was still to windward and Defender to leeward, a length astern, but still overhauling her, the American boat was blanketed so much that her baby jib topsail and jib shook. Cap tain Haff seeing this, luffed up a little, evidently intending to let the other boat go ahead, for the purpose of enabling him to pass under her stern, and to windward. Captain Sycamore, at Valkyrie's tiller, noted this move, and luffed up also. It was then that the thousands of watchers on the surround ing boats noticed how dangerously close to each other the racers were And just at that moment, too, a snap and a rending sound was heard, and it was seen that Defender's jib topsail was flying loose in the wind. Valkyrie's main boom had swung around and struck Defender's topmast backstay.

To those who had witnessed the accident and sprang forward at the omi nous sound, it seemed as though Defender trembled with the shock They saw her top-mast bend and her top-sail swing over, as though it would break away, and a groan went up as though the brave boat, which had won so noble a victory a few days before, was wholly debarred from even an effort to secure a second Lightning action was necessary to save the topmast from breaking away completely. for it was already sprang from its fast enings, and Captain Haff, with a master stroke, taking his boat down to leeward, soon manouvred her into a safe position and gave chase. Valkyrie which had crossed the line first had gained a good lead by Defender's disaster, and had probably a little more than half a mile advantage at the end of the first leg in the triangular course over which they sailed. Her gain was something less than four minutes in that beat to windward. From that on nowever, Defender, while not percepti bly closing the gap between them, les sened the time, and they crossed the line not more than two minutes apart. Valkyrie, according to correct time however, wins from the cup defender by just 47 seconds.

Valkyrie's lead, and her better posi tion was not much improved during the first leg. Valkyrie did excellent work, but Defender going just as her mishap left her, clong to her rival. The course was down the Jersey coast. and nautical experts aboard some of the boats, critically observing Defender's progress, expressed themselves as be ieving she was merely following the Englishman over the course without attempting to race. This belief was strengthened by the fact that directly after the fouling at the line a protest flag was run up with a vigor that de noted determination on the part of the American commander.

But Defender was in for a race, and during the progress of the first few miles sufficient repairs were made to enable her to set a baby jib top-sail after rounding the first buoy. In the beat to windward the watches marked Valkyrie 3 minutes and 52 seconds in advance of Defender.

The second leg was expected to try the nerves of those who had set their hearts on victory for the cup defender. for her little jib top-sail looked like a speck compared with the great bellying balloon jib top-sail set by Valkyrie. which was drawing tremendously. But the second ten miles was a veritable victory for the Yankee. She gained slowly, but she gained steadily, and, turning the second mark not far behind ber rival, she now had a better chance by long odds to win than a few miles back in the tourney.

The last leg was a run home with the wind abeam and there was a rush of steamers in he direction of the light ship. Town ds the end it was evident that the gap was closing, and Valkyrie had scarcely crossed the line and got out of the way when Defender came tearing at it like a thoroughbred under the wire. She must have put on an extra burst of speed to gratify those who had kept their eyes on her while canvas on, for she was well on her side with the force of the driving breeze, as a roar of whistles and a volley of cheers and cannonading gave her adoration for the struggle. It was feared that after the Defendar's mishap the contest would prove so unequal as to lose its interest. But it was this very accident that gave the Englishman a fighting chance against | Defender. With a strong breeze and a high sea for the third series. Valkyrie may do better. If the oup committee accepts the protest made by the Defender's commander, the race may have to be resalled. The statement is made that Lord Dunraven has offered a pension of 30 shillings weekly to every member of the crew of Valkyrie should they succeed in winning America's cup. The ages of the 26 men will average 30 years They are all strong and healthy and their expectations of life may be set as 70 years. In that time if the expectation be realized, they will have received £3,120, or $15,600, and in the aggregate £82,160, or $400,000.

WALKER MAY SUCCEED LAWLER.

A Lively Fight on For Senior Vice Commander-St. Paul, Denver and Buffalo Hustling For the Encampment Next Year-Reception Last Night.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 11 .- The grand parade of the G. A. R. veterans is taking place today. It is estimated that there are 55,000 men in line. The parade is being reviewed by Commander-in-Chief Lawler and staff and the governors of several states. Ned, the famous old warhorse from Pennsylvania, is riding in the parade in a float, as he gave out in the parade at Pittsburg last year. There was a reception by the Woman's Relief corps last night to Commander Lawler and staff. Thousands of old soldiers, both of the blue and of the gray, attended. The reception began at 9 o'clock, and for two hours veterans, blue and gray, and their wives" paid their respects to the receiving party. It is estimated by veterans who have attended every annual encampment since the Grand Army was organized that the reception surpassed anything of the kind ever held in its honor. It is claimed that 10,000 people passed through the Galt House, where the reception was held.

Senior Vice-Commander Burchfield and the members of the executive council of the national encampment at Pittsburg last year have arrived on a special train, in charge of Colonel Sam Moody, assistant general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines. In recognition of the courtesies extended the Louisville workers at Pittsburg last year, Commander Burchfield and his 20 associates from Pittsburg and the members of the Louisville executive council were ten dered a banquet here by the citizens at the Pendennis club. OHIO REPUBLICANS.

Their Campaign Opened by Sherman McKinle . Foraker and Others. SPRINGFIELD, O., Sept. 11.-The opening of the Republican state campaign here was a great success. It is estimated that about 50,000 strangers were in the city. The streets were nearly impassable. Senator Sherman, Governor McKinley, General Jones. Chairman Kurtz and delegations from Columbus and the northern part of the state and ex-Governor Foraker and delegations from Cincinnati and southern Ohio arrived about the same time, and the distinguished guests were dined by General Bushnell at his home. The parade was nearly two miles long, fully 8,000 men being in line. Chairman J. P. Goodwin of the Clark county central committee called the meeting to order at the fairgrounds. After prayer, Senator Sherman, as chairman, spoke first. General Bushnell followed Sherman, then Governor McKinley followed, then ex-Governor Foraker, and General Jones, candidate for lieutenant governor, closed the speaking.

Governor McKinley left immediately for the Grand Army of the Republic encampment at Louisville. In his address Senator Sherman said the Republican convention at Zanesville declared its intention to do three things: Elect Bushnell and the other nominees, send Foraker to the United States senate and to support McKinley for the presidency at the next national Republican convention. "The Republican party during 30 years of power furnished for the first time a truly American currency. It swept from the field the entire system of State bank paper and produced a national currency composed of notes issued by the United States, gradually lifted to par in gold, and notes of national banks secured by deposit in the treasury of United States bonds, so well secured that not a dollar has been lost by the holders of these notes. It has coined and maintained at par gold and silver coins amounting to $50,000 .-000, several times as much as were in circulation at any former period. All this beneficent policy is threatened by the Democratic party, and we have the sorry spectacle of the employment by the administration of a syndicate of foreign and domestic bankers buying bonds of the United States at less than their market value upon condition that they will protect the government of United States from demands for gold for United States notes.

"The administration came into power by the delusive cry for reform. The alleged reform they have attempted is the repeal of the McKinley tariff and the enactment of the Wilson tariff. Its first fruit was insufficient revenue. Its most important provision was held by the supreme court to be unconstitu-tional. It sacrificed at one blow the sheep industry of the United States. Our Democratic friends denounced me for voting for a bill in 1883 that reduced the duty on wool from 12 to 1 cents a pound, though I had opposed the reduction, and now they are called upon to support a measure making wool duty free. When I appealed to Senator Brice, my colleague, and the other Democratic senators to prevent the injustice they said that wool was a raw naterial and that it was a dogma of the Democratic party that all raw materials should be admitted free of duty. Coal and iron ore are raw materials and were by the house bill admitted free, but these raw materials were being developed in the south and by the vote of southern Democrats a protective duty was put upon them by the senate bill But wool, chiefly the product of northern farmers, was made After calling upon Ohio Republicans to stand by their principles in triumph as they had in adversity, Governor Me-Kinley presented an historical sketch, showing that Ohio has establisher her right to be called a Republican state. He spoke particularly of the senatorial elections, saying: "From 1861 to 1869, the Republicans had two senators-Wade and Sherman This year, 1895, we are going to resume our rightful place. Mr. Foraker will take the seat of Mr. Brice The Ohio Republicans are united firmly and resolutely on that proposition. We intend to give Senator erman a Republican colleague. We have no contest among ourselves. Our contest is entirely with the Democratic party. We have but one candidate, and he enjoys the great distinction of having the endorsement of the last Republican state convention, an endorsement given without division or dissent, unanimously and enthusiastically, and the distinction is one which, so far as I can recollect, is exceptional in the history of the Republican party in Ohio cannot enjoin upon the people of the state too strongly or too earnestfy the importance of selecting a Republican legislature, which will elect a Republican United States senator. In the present political divisions of the senate of the United States, which are extremely close, a single senator may determine the political complexion of that

CONVENTION IN SESSION TODAY.

A Hot Fight Being Waged Against the Nomination of Judge McCarthy, a Present Member of the Court-Reynolds Refuses to Run.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Sept. II.-The Democratic state convention convened here today.

The interest centers in the judicial places on the ticket, and owing to the fact that there are fully 20 candidates tonight for the places, the politicians are all at sea. The fight seems to be the country against the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburg, with a fair prospect of the country winning. The active scramble for the judicial nominations is due to the fact that while the superior court consists of seven judges, the Republicans at their recent convention nominated only six men, so that at least one Democrat is bound to be elected.

Judge Henry J. McCarthy of Philadelphia, the present Democratic member of the court, appears to be the principal bone of contention. The Philadelphia delegation, casting 84 votes, is divided, not more than half favoring him This fact is operating against him, and his opponents claim that he will not be nominated. The friends of ex Judge Theodore F. Jenkins of Philadelphia are making an active canvass in his behalf.

National Chairman Harrity says he is absolutely neutral in the contest over Judge McCarthy, preferring to let the delegates fight it out among them-B. F. Myers of Harrisburg will be the nominee for state treasurer. District Attorney John M. Garman of Luzerne will be permanent chairman A Washington special says: Assistant Secretary Reynolds of the interior department has telegraphed Chairman Wright of the Pennsylvania state Democratic committee declining to accept a nomination to the new superior court of the state.

"NO MORE DOCTORS FOR ME! hey said I was consumptive, sent me to Florida, told me to keep quiet, no excitement, and no tennis. Just think of it. One day I found a little book called 'Guide to Health,' by Mrs. Pinkham, and in it I found out what alled me. So I wrote to her, got a lovely reply, told me just what to do, and I am in splendid health now."
