House of Commons.

Fir William Harcourt, the Liberal Leader, Makes a Friendly Speech-Balfour, the Government Leader, Does the Same Radicals Will Back Up Arbitration.

PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT CERTAIN.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The Radical party of the house of commons has decided to to support the general principle of arbitration in any differences arising between Great Britain and the United States.

Mr. George J. Goschen, Jr., Conservative member for the East Grinsted division of Sussex. In moving the address, in reply to the queen's speech in the house of commons, said he trusted that the negotiations regarding the Venezuelan question would result not only in a satisfactory settlement; but, in a complete reconciliation and firm friendship between Great Britain and her kindred across the Atlantic.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt said he was rejoiced at the paragraph in the queen's speech with regard to Venezu cla, as it held out the hope that the

SIR WILLIAM PARCOURT. question would be settled at an early He added that no words that could impede such a settlement would fall from him. This remark was greeted with loud cheers, as it disposes of the report that that the Liberal leaders had determined to make an attack upon the government's policy in regard to Venezuela. which course necessarily would have led to an exchange of warm remarks, which might have impeded the progress of settlement of the dispute.

Continuing, Sir William Vernon Harcourt said that misunderstandings, both in England and in the United States. existed and had caused ruffled feelings on both sides. The idea that America and Great Eritain disputed the question of Monroeism was nothing new or extraordinary. Monroeism, he asserted, was not a principle of international law, but one of national policy to which the Americans have a traditional and passionate attachment, and it was Great Britain had interfered in various states when her interests were affected Sir William Harcourt also said: "I am in entire agreement with Lord Salisbury when he says the United States have a perfect right to interpose in any controversy by which their own interests are affected and they are entitled to judge whether their interests are affected and in what measure they shall be sustained. That is a general doc trine upon which all states act. Upon this is founded the balance of power and upon that ground Great Britain in terposed in Belgium, Greece, Turkey and many other places. The Monroe doctrine is not an extension of this principle; it is a limitation of what other states claim to exercise every where President Monroe limited it to the American continent and the United States following the wise teaching of Washington, have declared their cisin clination and determination not to interfere in the controversies of the European powers, but they have declared controversies of the American continent to be of special interest to them selves and they will judge when and how they are called upon to interfere. That feeling is not disputed in the queen's speech and I rejoice to see that it states a wish to co-operate with the government of the United States and the only practical question remaining is whether the doctrine has been invaded in the case of Venezuela. The United States have not made any prenounce ment upon this question, but have ap pointed a commission to inform their nagments upon the subject. "It has been stated that the appoint ment of this commission was an offense to the people and government of Great Happily the government does not take that view. The commission is to inform the government of the United States with which our government desires to co-operate. How can the United States of America co-operate with us unless they have the information which will enable them to co-operate in settiling the boundary.

I regret the delay in the publication of the English case I should have thought that before Secretary Olney was answered all the materials would have been ready to lay before the United States and the world at large We do not desire to claim any territor special we are not clearly entitled is, what is that terrid the fusiness of the diplomats sonable settlement in omacy has had this half a century and a it has made of it, in not creditable that a character should have been allowed to fester until it has broken open in o a dangerous sore to breed bad blood between two great nations. It is the first duty of the government to take measures, without delay, to heal this sore. [Lond cheers.] What the country demands without distinction of party is that the dispute should be brought to an honorable solution promptly. (Cheers.)

"If it is proved that the rights of Ven eznela have not been invaded by Great Britain the United States of America will have no cause for complaint. If we have occupied territory to which we have no title we must not make any pretense to maintain that occupation. The question must be settled on the evidence. and what objection can be raised to arbitration of a third party.

"The people of Great Britain and the Unifed States f America have already settled important questions by arbitra-tion, and it cannot be admitted that this question is beyond the reach of arbitra-The government does not reject arbitration, and the only question left is the limitation of the boundary. There is a general desire that justice should be

Hon. A. J. Balfeur, first lord of the treasury and Conservative leader in the house, was loudly cheered when he crose to reply to the Liberal leader. He

"Sir William Vernon Harcourt has devoted much time to attacking views which the government has never held Neither I nor my friends ever said that the Monroe doctrine was one to which we had a right to object. It is of Eritish origin and I do not see any reason why we should criticise it. The American commissioners (on the Venezuelan boundary), have applied to us to aid them with any information we are able to give at the earliest possi ble moment. [Cheers] No false pride or diplomatic punctilio will be allowed to stand in the way of a settlement as far as we are concerned. "But there are duties requiring diplomatic enforcement. We owe a duty to our children, our colonies and those occupying them; and this country would not deserve to retain the confidence of the colonies unless we convinced them that we were ready and willing to defend them, and in a case which we are right we should not abandon them

[Cheers.] It is impossible to foresee with certainty what will be the general conclusions arrived at by the American commission, or by those called upon to investigate the British claim. Put one conclusion. I am certain, will be reached by everyone who impartially investigates, he will be convinced that there has never been the slightest intention on the part of this country to violate the substance or essence of the Monroe doctrine. Whatever other conclusion the commission may arrive at it will most assuredly reach the conclusion that no desire to push beyond the due limit of the frontier of this empire has ever been the animating cause which moved British diplomacy in this long drawn-out controversy. "If this conclusion be fairly and frankly set before the citizens of the United States one of their gravest preoc cupations will be set at rest. They will feel no need to suspect, on the part of this country, anything in the nature of an invasion of a principle of policy which both they and we cherish.

"I should rejoice if, out of this evil, should spring some general system of arbitration. If that were the issue, I should feel that all misunderstandings and evils done had been more than removed, and that a permanent guarantee of good will between the English speaking nations on the two sides of the Atlantic had been attained for all

Lord Salisbury, in the house of lords said that America's mixture in the dispute had conduced to satisfactory results more rapidly than if the United States had not interfered. He believed a peaceful settlement would be reached by arbitration.

THE CLAIM TO OIL CITY.

Seneca Indians Have Valuable Papers In Their Possession.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 12.-Ancient and important documents brought to this city by two Seneca Indians held by them, place a new phase on the old claim of the descendants of the famous chief, Corpplanter, to a considerable portion of the land upon which Oil City stands. The Indians who are here are Marsh Pearce of South Corydon, Warren county, and Andrew John of Versailles, New York.

They consist of the original and ancient grant to the chiefs of the Six Nations by the state of Pennsylvania, original deeds and letters relative to the land, written by the attorney of Cornplanter and Associate Judge Thompson of Warren county. Chief Clerk Gearhart says there is no doubt in his mind that the Indians have been shamefully treated. However, he cannot find any ground for action by the state any more than in any other case of sale. The commonwealth granted the land to the Indians by patent and then its right in the matter ceased entirely. It has no right, to interfere further. The Indians sold a large portion of valuable land to a man named Connelly.

They took his notes in payment, and, not being versed in technical law, had no mortgage made out to them. They received not I cent of cash in payment nothing but the notes. Soon afterward Connelly failed, and the Indians, of the same doctrine by virtue of which course, never received anything. The matter is one erving rectification, bu it seems outside the jurisdiction of the

> Mr Gearhart is of the opinion, after carefully studying the matter, that they should bring suit against the present holders, and contest the title in the courts of Venango county.

GOVERNOR HASTINGS FOR QUAY

The Senator Denies He Authorized th Haywood Interview. HARRISBURG, Feb. 12. - Governor Hastings has given out the following statement relative to Senator Quay's candidacy for the presidency: "I am for Quay if he is a candidate. Some time ago Quay assured me that if I declared the vote of the delegation from Pennsylvania in the next national convention he would be for me. I declined I knew there was no show for my nomination, and was not hunting for compliments. Senator Quay's candidacy would have two-fold effect in Pennsylvania. It would reunite the party on broad and everlasting foundations which every true Republican would welcome, and it would help to dispel the idea abroad in the country that as Pennsylvania is the Republican protection state in the Union and always safe, and therefore she should never have a presidential candidate."

A Washington special says Senator Quay of Pennsylvania, when questioned regarding the interview made public by State Treasurer-elect Haywood placing him in the field for president, said it was unauthorized, and he made the positive declaration that he was not a candidate for the presidency, but admitted that he had not done anything to disconrage the movement, nor could he, to use his own language. prevent the boys from voting for him if they felt so disposed. He said very frankly that he could not expect to secure the solid dele gation, for he would have opposition both in Philadelphia and Pittsburg, nor on the other hand, could be tell how far the enthusiasm of his friends would affeet the personnel of the delegation in his favor

Trial at Altoona.

ALTOONA. Pa., Feb 12 - Minnie Swanger, aged 15 years, charged with causing the death by poison of her uncle, William McGregor, at her grandmother's home in this city, has been held for court. At the hearing only three witnesses were examined, these being H. H. Howe, drug clerk; Charles H. Greason and Warden Baird. Mr. Greason testified as to the purchase by the prisoner of a box of rough-on-rats the day before the poisoning. Mr Howe repeated under oath the confession which he claimed Minnie had made to him on the afternoon of Wednesday, Jan. 29. This was in effect the same as Mr. Howe gave before the coroner's jury and which the girl denied having made. Jail Warden Baird testified that Minnie had Jail voluntarily confessed in his presence, and confirmed the story of Mr. Howe. The defendant's attorney, A. V. Dive ly, made no objection to any of the evideuce and did not cross-examine any of the witnesses. It is understood he will shortly attempt to secure her release on a writ of habeas corpus. There was no attempt made at the hearing to bring forth any further details of the poisoning.
