Senator Mills Roasts Weyler In a Speech bayoring corrible Occupation of Cuba. Morgan Also Speaks Again-The News of Washington.

Washington, March 25 .- The conferrees of the two houses on the Cuban resolutions have not yet reached a conclusion. The entire time of the conference was spent in canvassing the situation and in trying to arrive at common ground upon which the two houses can stand. The senate conferrees explained the difficulties they had encountered in the senate and made it clear to the house members of the conference that it would be necessary for the house to yield something to prevent leaving the question in the air between the two heases. The house conferrees accepted this explanation and expressed a willingness to make reasonable concessions, agreeing as they said, fully with the senators that it would place both houses in a ridiculouattitude to have the matter fail in conference, after both houses, by such extensive majorities, had agreed, each in its own way, upon an expression friendly to Cuba. Two alternatives were presented, which were those of the house accepting the senate resolutions without change, the modifying of the house resolutions by leaving out the series providing for intervention. When the conference adjourned no decision had been reached as to which course should be pursued or whether some other course might not be taken. If the sen ate resolutions are accepted by the house it will not be necessary to bring the question into the senate again and some f the senators think the conference will finally result in their acceptance Although the main Cuban resolutions have been recommitted to conference, the subject came up incidentally in the enate on Senator Mills' resolution for the forcible occupation of the island of Cuba in order to aid Cubans in securing local self-government. Senator Mills spoke for two hours in support of the resolution. He was unspairing of his arraignment of General Weyler as an "atrocions scoundrel and villain" and of his recital of Spain's bloody record in the Old and New Worlds. Senator Morgan also spoke briefly in furthe support of the Cuban resolutions. Senator Mills' resolutions went to the calendar after the speeches.

A SALVE FOR THE SOUTH. Hill's Rill Passed Removing Disability of

Ex-Rebel Officers,

WASHINGTON, March 25 - Senator Hill's bill to remove the restrictions against the appointment as officers of the army or navy of persons who held commissions in the regular army or navy before the rebellion and who sub sequently took part in the war on the side of the Confederacy, which passed the senate during the height of the excitement over the Venezuelan boundary question, passed the house today after two hours' debate with but one dissenting vote, that of Mr. Boutelle (Me.). The Democrats, except Mr. Cummings (N. Y.), who spoke, as he said, "as one of the 800,000 Northern Democrats who fought in the Union army," and Mr Wilson (S. C.), who was drawn into the debate by Mr. Boutelle, refrained entirely from participation. Mr Hull (Ia.), chairman of the military committee, who had charge of the bill, ad mitted that it would subserve no practical purpose and was largely senti

Mr. Boutelle, who led the opposition single-handed, thought it would furnish a bad object lesson for naval and mili tary cadets who were about entering on careers in the service of their coun try, and when he got warmed up to his subject, called attention to the fact that many southern men in congress in the past had obstructed legislation in the interest of Union soldiers, dwelling par ticularly on the opposition to the retire ment of General Grant Mr. Grosvenor (O.) and Mr. Grow (Pa.), however, supported the bill ardently as a graceful and gracious act to the vanquished, and when the vote was taken Mr. Boutelle alone voted against it. The bill to abol ish the death penalty in certain cases was passed. Bills were also passed to make the sale of spiritous liquors under a false brand punishable by fine and imprisonment to turn over the property of the Mormon church, now in the hands of a receiver, to the trustees and several others of minor importance.

HIS PRETTY PARAMOUR DEAD.

Eighteen-Year-Old Annie McGrath Found a Corpe In the Establishment Langdon Maintained For Her-He Was With Her Before Her Death.

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.-Samuel P. Langdon, a wealthy coal operator, has been arrested on suspicion of having been implicated in the death of Annie McGrath, who was found dead in her bed in a Girard avenue house. Langdon is 54 years old and the girl was 18. Although he has a residence in Powelton avenue be and the girl had been living ing in the Girard avenue house for about a month. The only other occupant was a colored servant. Langdon was in the girl's room nearly all day and took dinner there. After the meal he went out and did not return. The body was discovered by the servant about three hours later. There were no marks of violence on it, but the physicians say she had been dead 24 hours. One hand was clasping a handkerchief to the breast and a wet towel lay over the forehead and eyes.

A postmortem examination has been made, but the coroner's physicians decline to disclose its results. Miss McGrath was the daughter of a well-known business man and very

Langdon is reputed to be one of the wealthiest coal operators in the state. He is also financially interested in a number of southern railroads. Langdon is said to have a wife and children living about 14 miles out of

It has been ascertained that the girl had been employed as a stenographer and typewriter in Langdon's office. When searched at police headquarters Langdon had a solitaire diamond ring, a diamond and opal brooch and a small diamond ring, which the authorities think he took from the girl.

One of the detectives states that the first suspicions of the colored girl, Bertha Stewart, were aroused by a piercing scream, and for that reason she distrusted Langdon's injunction not to disturb her mistress. The dead girl's stomach and other portions of the body have been removed for the purpose of analysis. She had blue eyes, light brown hair and pearly teeth. Landon is a distinguished looking man, tall and

The story of the Stewart girl is that they occupied the house only for two or three days at a time. On Sunday last the girl became ill and the servant heard her moaning in her room upstairs all the day long.

Langdon cared for the girl, telling the maid that her attention was not needed. Toward evening Langdon left saying he was going to New York and told the girl that the sick woman merely had a bilious attack. As the servant did not sleep there, he told her not to go near the girl and to leave the key at a neighbor's. She disobeyed the order and found the girl dead.

Langdon stated that he went to the house Sunday morning and remained all day. He says the girl was taken sick in the afternoon, but he fell asleep and never went downstirs, and did not wake up until 11 o'clock on Monday morning. He thought the girl was sleeping and left the house. That night he stopped at a hotel, and in the morning he was surprised to see an account of the girl's death in a newspaper. Langdon was locked up in a cell at the Central station awaiting the action of the coroner.
