Important to Pensioners. Rulings of the last administration are reversed in a decision rendered April 1st Assistant-Secretary-of-the-Interior Reynolds in a pension case having a bearing favorable to a large number of claims

The ruling holds that where a widow and minor-children under sixteen years of age survive a soldier the children may, after obtaining the age of sixteen, and where the death of the mother occurs, thereafter, without payment to her of any part of the pension, apply in their own right and receive the same persion as the father would have been entitled to had he been totally disabled. This pension is to commence from the date of his death and to continue until they respectively arrive at the age of sixteen years.

This holding entitles those whose rights to apply did not accrue until after they had passed their sixteenth year, to be pensioned as though their rights had accrued while under the age of sixteen, as held by the department a year ago, and thence not subject to any litigation,

Saving to the Farmer

The extent to which commercial fertilizers are used by Pennsylvania farmers is shown by the fact that during last year the department of agriculture issued li censes to 225 manufacturers for 929 brands of fertilizers, for each of which the manufactorer is compelled to pay a license fee. The manufacturer is also required to register a guaranteed analysis which must also be plainly stamped upon each bag sold or offered for sale in the state.

It is estimated that the farmers of this state pay from $3,750,000 to $4,000,000 a year for their commercial fertilizers and that the protection afforded by the department benefits them to the extent of not less than $400,000 annually. The benefit is mainly due to the enforcement of the law which drives low grade and poor goods from the market and by raising the standard and quality gives the consumer confidence and better article for the money.

Obituary.

On Wednesday morning at five o'clock Miss Jessie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Brawley, of Portage township, died after an illness of only a few weeks. Jessie was the only daughter and a great in "the lick" at this place, was run on favorite, not only at home but with all who knew her. Until a few weeks before her death, she was as well as usual, when contracting a severe cold it settled on her lungs and in a short time her condition was such that the best medical skill could afford her no permanent relief. She grew worse gradually, until death came to her relief. She was in the sixteenth year of $300. her age, and is survived by her father, mother and two brothers. The funeral will take place this (Friday) morning. when, after services in St. Bartholomew's church, at Wilmore, of which the deceased was a devout member, interment will be lock, at 1:20 o'clock on Monday morning, made in the parish cemetery at that place.

To Clean Windows

Choose a dull day or at least a time when the sun is not shining on the window; when the sun shiftes on the window it causes it to be dry streaked, no matter how much it is rubbed. The history of the cantata belongs to that period when the Jews, in exile from their own land, were scattered over the countries of the far East; and the particular spot in which the plot of the book of Esther is laid is Shusan, the capital of the kingdom of Persia.

The cantata begins at the point where Haman, the king's chief minister, being offended by the conduct of Mordecai, who does not pay him due respect, forms the ship, fifty-six years ago. Haman, now exalted by what he calls his good fortune, resolves to anticipate the decree, so far as Mordecai is concerned and to put him to death at once. He constructs a gallows, in the court of his own house, for this purpose and proposes to hang Mordecai thereon before the second banquet. But that night the king, having ordered his attendants to read to him out of the Book of the Chronicles, has been reminded of Mordecoi's discovery of the conspiracy against his life, and having asked what reward he has received has been told that 'nothing had been done for him." Upon this be has Haman summoned and compels him to be the instrument of doing Mordecai the highest possible honor.

The banquet follows; Esther denounce Haman; the king, angry, but in doubt, quits the apartment; Haman, eagerly imploring Esther's intercession; the king returns, orders him off to instant execuion. He is conducted to his own house and hanged on the gallows on which he had intended to hand Mordecai. The chart for reserved seats may be found at E. James' drug store on Tuesday morning, April 14th. Fifty cents admission for all persons. Secure your reserved seats early. Proceeds for the benefit of the Presbyterian church.
