FRIDAY, - - - APRIL 24, 1896. THE Democratic state committee met on Wednesday at one o'clock P M., in the Board of Tiade Rooms, Harrisburg Hon R E. Wright was elected to succeed himself as state Chairman.

THE state deparrtment has issued a a warrant for the surrender to Canadian authoritis of Charles Ryan, arrested at Easton. Pa., on a charge of highway robbery in Canada.

THE enormous amount of wood used every year for the purpose of making paper may be estimated from the fact that the Petit Journal of Paris, which has a circulation of over 1,000,000 copies a day and is printed on wood pulp paper, consumes in a year 120,000 fir trees of an average height of 65 feet This is equivalent to the annual thinning of 25,000 acres of forest land.

PRACTICALLY without opposition, and without taking a yea and nay vote, the senate on Friday afternoon, in executive came in. session, ratified the treaty with Great Britain, providing for the appointment of a commission for the assessment of the damages growing out of the seizure of vessels engaged in sealing in the Bering sea. There were one or two verbai, but unimportant, amendments.

TWENTY years ago Charles Moon was one of a number of employes who went on a strike from a shovel and handle manufacturing concern at Pittsburg. The men, when they struck were making nearly $5, but struck for $6 per day, Moon asked for lodging at one of the and stated that he had not worked since he strike, twenty years ago, nor would he until he could get at least $6 per day.

THE house committee on territories voted Monday to report favorably the bill to admit Arizonia as a state. That territory has an estimated population of 77,000-an actual one of much smaller proportions. That is to say, it has about as many people as Scranton or Patterson or Fall River. Yet it is proposed to give to this combination of gravel pits and uninhabitable mountains two senators, one representative and three electoral votes. In New York, Massachusetts, Ohio, Illinois and the other states only one congressman is allowed to 173,901 inhabitants. Arizona, with only 77,000 people have a convored by the committee is passed. There are plenty of bad precedents for this sort of thing, but there is neither sense nor justice in it.

Or all the examples of senatorial gall, few have excelled the proposition from the committee on elections to pay three senators from Wyoming, Montana and Washington the salary for two years before they were elected and qualified.

These three persons were appointed by the governors of their states to vacancies which the governors were not qualified to fill. So the senate decided. They came to Washington, but they were not admitted, and they performed no service whatever, except in the lobbies. Subsequently they were regularly elected and took their seats and have been drawing their salaries since.

Now they want to be paid for the time that they would have liked to be senators but were not-$10,000 apiece. Impudence could hardly go farther. And the worst of it is the senate is quite capable, in its "courtesy," of acceding to the

In General Jackson's time a man who had 16 ounces of silver could sell them in the market for one ounce of gold; and so General Jackson who was a square dealing man approved the coinage ratio putting sixteen times as much silver into a coined silver dollar as was required of gold for a gold dollar. But the large quantities of silver produced of late years, and the improved and cheapened processes of mining it and extracting the pure metal from the ore have so reduced its value that it now requries 32 ounces of silver to buy an ounce of gold. If General Jackson were alive he would not be caught in the company of the cheap money advocates who wish to put 50 cents worth of silver into a dollar and pay 100 cents of debt with it. He adjusted his ratio of intrinsic value, so that all the dollars in the hand of the people should be real dollars, worth as much after they are melted by fire as they were before melting.

"THE naked proposition is that the United States shall coin, at the public expense, for the exclusive benefit of the individuals and corporations owning the bullion, all the silver that may be presented at the mints into dollars containing 3711 grains of pure silver, or 4121 grains of standard silver, worth intrinsically about 51 or 52 cents, deliver the coins to the depositors of the bullion, and compel all the other people in the country to receive these coins at a valuation of 100 cents each in the payment of debts due them for property sold, for labor and service of all kinds, for pensions to soldiers and sailors and their widows and children, for losses sustained under policies issued by life and other insurance companies, for deposits in savings banks, trust companies, building associations and other institutions, for debts due to widows and orphans by guardians, executors and administrators of decedents' estates and other trustees. for salaries of all civil, military and naval officials, and the compensation of private soldiers and seamen, and, in short, for every kind of obligation recognized by the law of the land, except only in cases where the prudent capitalist has taken the precaution in advance to contract for payment in gold or its equivalent."-John G. Carlisle, in a speech so the workingmen of Chicago.

THESE is a class of party speakers and writers who, says the Philadelphia Times. assume, and sometimes with safety, that people have short memories and that it is unnecessary to adhere to facts. For example, the chairman of the New Jersey Republican convention thought he had made a telling point when he said that "under this Democratic regime the surplus in the treasury, which so distressed our Democratic friends mysteriously disappeared, and has never been heard of since."

The national finances are too serious subject to be discussed for partisan effect, but even from that standpoint it might be thought that the disappearance of the surplus was a thing that a Republican campaign orator would prefer to say little about. When Harrison was elected president the net cash in the reasuly outside the hundred million gold reserve was $133,533,834. When Cleveland was elected, four years later, it had been reduced to $30,328,918, and before March this small sum was so nearly exhausted that the treasury was obliged to postpone the payment of warrants and the gold reserve itself was infringed upon. The surplus had disappeared before the Democratic regime And there was nothing mysterious about its disappearance. It was spent. In the four years from 1886 to 1889 the excess of receipts over expenses had been $396,529,000. In 1889 it was $87,761, 000, and for the fiscal year of 1890, for which the appropriations had been made by the old congress under the old revenue laws, it was $105,345,000. Then the Reed McKinley congress got to work, reducing the revenues slightly and increasing the expenditures largely. In 1891 the surplus revenue was reduced to $37,240,000; in 1892, to $9,-915,000, and in 1893, to $2,342,000. Pittsburg police staions the other night | The McKinley act and the Sherman act were then well under way, and the next year the surplus had changed to a deficit of $69,803,000.

During this year the Sherman silver act was repealed and the new tariff put in operation, and for the fiscal year of 1895 the deficit was reduced to $42,805,-000. This year it will be further reduced to about $25,000,000 or less, and in another year, with no change in the revenue laws, it would probably disappear. But even in 1895 the receipts were larger than in 1892, and would have vielded a large surplus if the expenditures had remained the same as in 1889 or 1890.

The Reed-McKinley-Harrison regime was able to increase the annual appropriations one hundred millions in three years without immediate disaster, at the of new demand notes, solely because of the plethoric condition in which it found the treasury. It left the treasury bankrupt, with a currency panic clearly foreshadowed, and the present administratiin has been struggling against odds to untigate the evil results of four years of financial blundering. That is the truth, though it may not suit partisans to ac-

THE state Republican convention, says the Harrisburg Patriot, of Thursday, will to-day, with what is popularly misnamed enthusiasm, endorse Senator Quay for the presidency. It will do so not because the gentleman has any peculiar fitness for the place. It will do so for one reasen solely because the man himself demands it.

Less than a decade ago such action would have been believed absolutely impossible on the part of any future state convention. Indeed had Senator Quay as late as two years ago declared that in the event of General Hastings' election as governor he would be a presidential candidate and had General Hastings added to the announcement that he, as governor of the commonwealth, would take pride in presenting the name of the tion, General Hastings would now be practicing law in Bellefonte and William M. Singerly would be occupying the executive mansion on the Susquehan-But "things are differnt now." The public conscience appears to be stilled.

The independence of high-minded Republicans seems to have voluntarily shackled itself. No voice within his party protests against Quay's nomination and tyranny save that of a once power gorged and always corrupt politician from the western metropolis of the state and his cry comes not from a tortured heart but out of an emptied stomach. Men high in private positions, men elevated in great organizations and nstitutions, men raised to the bench, all alike vie in paying court to the boss whose throne was tottering amid a sea of corruption later than a twelve month ago, the boss whose daily steps for years have invited and have been beset by arrival of engines. nameless dangers and whose example, since he entered public life. has been persistently harmful and abhorrent. "Do evil deeds thus quickly come to end?" Are the rewards for those who offend and the penalties for those who would be faithful? Are the higher pur poses of the Republican party in Pennsylvania to be abandoned, shall its noble achievements cease to be reverenced, its great leaders be forgotten, that an enriched and implacable boss may gain greater power, more deeply plant the seeds of corruption more grievously wrong and oppress a great commonwealth? Or will there yet come a great outcry, a moral revolution, before it is from his body.

Washington Letter.

Washington, D.C., April 18th, 1896. Speaker Reed is now the object of the McKinleyites hatred to a marked extent. They realize that if McKinley fails to capture the Republican nomination it will be because of Read'sopp sit on, which is making itself felt in a much stronger m unner than some people days of passiole. A prominent McKine vite said under conditions which pr vot me use of his name: "Reed may possi by suc ceed in keeping McKinley out if the nomination, but it wen't do him any good. Not only will McKinley's friends work against Reed, if they find themselves unable to win, but they will endeavor to throw the nomination to some than Harrison did during his term.

Although the charge has not directly been made, the inference from the repeated refusals of Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, who is in charge of the resoluthe question of seating Cal Dupont as shell. stock in the talk of adjou ament in May, as he remarked when Senator Mitchell date for a vote, that it meant it would be put off until after June 1.

Two Republican members of the house chair of the next house, provided, of course, that the Rebublicans continue to gusted when it was authoritatively denied that Speaker Reed intended to retire from public life if he failed to get nominated for president Their dream ated at St. Louis, as they know he can be speaker as long as he remains in the house and the house remains Republican. Hopkins, of Illinois, and Barrett, of Mass, are the members referred to. There is no longer any reason for doubt as to where Speaker Reed stands. The platform adopted by the Maine Republicans this week was submitted to Mr. Reed for his approval and for the purpose of allowing him to make any desired changes therein several days be fore the convention met. Mr. Reed revised the platform and made several changes in its wording, so that it may be considered as a personal declaration more credit than McKinley for his handling of the financial question, he doesn't try to straddle it but comes out square ly against silver and in favor of gold.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the National Association of Democratic clubs held here this week, it was decided to hold the next national Louis, on September 30th, next. The committee adopted a resolution thanking all who helped to make the Jefferson birthday pilgrimage to Monticello a success. After adjourning the committee called in a body at the White Cleveland Fortification appropriation bill passed this week. Said Mr. Livingston: "I congratulate the country that it is now conceded that McKinley will be the next Republican nominee and that the A. P. will beat him. (This was loudly applauded by the anti-McKinley Republicans.) It is also acknowledged that the Jeffersonian Democracy will control the Chicago convention and give relief to the country. After March 4, next the country will be safe." This was applauded by all. Proceeding Mr. Livingston said it was common sense to prepare for war, even when it wasn't anticipated. At this point Mr. Walsh of New York, interrupted to ask tif Mr. Livingston knew that England had sent 45 rapid-fire guns to Kingston, Canada, for the of war, take Canada in three weeks, no matter bow many guns or men she might send there.' ## Fatal Philadelphia Fire.

The explosion of a gasoline tank under the train sheds of the old Pennsylvania Railroad Station at Thirty-second and Market streets, Philadelphia, at about 4:20 o'clock Saturday afternoon, led to a conflagration which totally destroyed that building, eight Pullman coaches, twelve ordinary Pennsylvania day coaches, and an immense amount of supplies and valuable documents. The loss, so far as could be ascertained, will reach nearly, if not quite, half a million dollars, as that in coaches alone will amount to nearly $250,000. During the course of the fire five firemen were overcome by the intense heat, nine were injured, two of whom afterward died from their injuries, while one Pennsylvania Railroad employee was over come by the heat, and a boy was injured during the excitement incident to the ## Aged Men Burned to Death.

Pottstown, April 18 - Philip Fillman, aged 65 years, met with a horrible death while burning brush yesterday at his home at St. Mary, Warwick township, Chester county. Not returning for supper, a search was instituted and his charred body was found alongside the brush heap. Being affected with dizziness for some time, it is supposed he was suddenly overcome with an attack and fell into the flames. He was a life-long resident of Warwick township. Daniel Barto, aged 70, residing near Gablesville, was so badly burned while burning brush yesterday that he died from his injuries several hours afterwards. His arms were almost burned
