-A change of schedule went into effect on Monday by which Ebensburg is given an extra train, making three trains daily, The extra train leaves Ebensburg at 7:30 M., and returning leaves Cresson at S:45 P. M., and arrives at Ebensburg at 9:15 P. M. The regular trains leave Ebensburg at 7:20 A. M., and 3:10 P. M.

-Mine inspector J. T. Evans reports that out of 33 applicants examined recently for mine foreman and fire bosses, only six passed. They are John Thomas, of Johnstown; James Nelson of Glen Campbell; Ralph Platt, of South Fork: James N. Nicholson, of Hastings, and William Oldfield, of Barnesboro.

-Waile Archie Stewart, of Centre township, Indiana county, was plowing in one of his fields on Tuesday of last week, a rain storm came up. Suddenly there was a blinding flash and when Mr. Stewart. who was somewhat dazed came to, he found one of his horses lying dead on the ground. The other was standing motionless but soon fell over dead. Mr. Stewart was uphurt.

-Raymond Ickes, employed on the railroad work near Portage, in attempting to get on a moving freight train at Sonman on Saturday morning, missed his hold and legister and Recorder John H. was thrown to the track and badly cut by laboratown, was in town on the ballast, but luckily escaped being run over by the wheels. He was taken to the Altoona hospital where it was found necessary to amputate one of his fingers.

-Dr. John Evans, of Homer City, Indiday (as) Sheriff Coulter, closed and county, a native of Ebensburg, was taken to the Allegheny City Presbyterian hospital on Wednesday morning. He has been a sufferer from nervous disease for twenty years, and at various times his physicians looked upon his death as a foregone conclusion. Under new methods of treatment in the hospital it is thought his health can be permanently restored.

-Loyalhanna township, Westmoreland county, was the scene of a terrible accident Tuesday afternoon about 3 o'clock, in which a man named William Davis, of Newville, Indiana conunty, lost his life. He was engaged in hauting lumber just across the river from Saltsburg, and when driving along a sloping piece of ground the wagon upset, burying him under the load of lumber and crushing the life out

-William H. Jackson died at his home n Altoona on Saturday, of paralysis. He was born in West Chester in 1831, and was a machinist by trade. In 1853 he became locomotive engineer on the Middle Divi ion of the Pennsylvania railroad, and in ten years he was appointed road foreman of engines on the same division. He was later foreman of the Tyrone shops, foreman of the Middle Division round house in Altoona, and in 1893 he was appointed road foreman of engines on the Altoona

'Lonox" man, started out bright and early vesterday (Sunday) smorning for a tour of Cambria county. In coming down the bill this side of Ashville he struck a sharp stone that resulted in a puncture and a header. Mr. Robinson's right hand was hadly torn, and his left knee was bruised, He managed to cover the 12 miles to Carrolltown, where Dr. Sioan sewed up the wound in his hand. This morning the wheel and rider, both considerably the wose for wear, reached Altoona by train,

-Last Sunday C. K. Blough crossed the nountain between St. Clairsville and Brumbaugh, Bedford county, and discovered in the road ahead of him a snake, which crawled down over the bank. Mr. Blough went back a few steps to secure a club. While engaged in this proceeding the snake came toward him ready for fight. He at once tried to kill the snake with stones, but only crippled it. They then took a foot race and he finally suceeded in killing the venomous reptile. He then made an examination and found it to be a black racer seventy-six and one-half inches in length. -George Stock, aged twenty-seven years, of Chicago, jumped from a rapidlymoving stock train at Tyrone Saturday morning and received frightful injuries, which in all probability, will result in his death. In jumping from the train he struck the top of a paling fence with the left side of his head, fracturing the skull. A sharp paling tore open the flesh, expos ing the skull, and another penetrating the upper lip, knocking out several teeth and badly cutting the whole tongue. His right thigh and leg befow the knee were hadly fractured and his body is a mass of bruises. He was taken to the Altoona hospital, where his skull was trepanned. -One day last week Mrs. Sophia Lang, of Cresson, was badly burned with turpentine. She had been helping her mother clean house, and a can of turpentine was set on the back part of the stove. Mrs. Lang went to remove the can, which had become heated, and as she touched it the inflammable stuff exploded, the burning fluid scattered all over her arms and neck. She ran screaming to the cellar, where her mother was. The mother succeeded in putting out the fire with a piece of carpet. but not until Mrs. Lang was frightfully burned. Secretary Edge of the state board of agriculture, has prepareed the following exposition of the fence law: The fact is that the repeal of the general law of 1700 and 1784 has completely reversed things so far as outside or road fences are concerned. Under these acts the owner was required to protect it against stock passing along the road or suffer damages. Since the repeal of these laws it has become the duty of the owners of live stock on the public roads to prevent them from tresspassing, and if tresspasses take place the owners of the stock is personally responsible to the owner of the land for any damages done to crops or property. Under the old law the crops had to be fenced to protect them from stock, and now the stock must be restrained and the land owner is not compelled to maintain fences unless he so chooses. The consideration of the fence question usually brings up other questions closely related to it, and among them the right of the public to fruit, grass, etc. The right to this class of property is c'early vested in the owner of the land and the public have no rights to it whatever. It is just as much the property of the land owner as if it was on the inside of a good fence, and the public have no right to in any manner disturb it. If trees, grasses or other property in any manner interferes with public travel the road supervisors have the right to remove it, for nothing prejudical to the public right of unimpeded travel can be allowed to remain, but the only judges of this are the road commissioners. So nice is this distinction that is a case of record in court a man whose children pass along a public road on their way to school obtained permission of the road supervisors to cut the grass so it might not wet his children's clothing, but after cutting it he hauled the grass home and fed it to his horse. The owner of the land adjacent to the road brought suit and recovered damages to the value of the grass.

The land upon which a public road is located is given to the public for the right of way or passage over it and the public has no right to it. A man may not stop on the public road and impede travel, for by so doing he interferes with the rights of the public. He cannot haul away earth, sand, stones or other material, for they are as much the property of the land owner, subject of course to the reserved rights of the road supervisors, as similiar material within the fences of the farm. The owner of the land gave merely the right of passage over the land, and if for any cause the road is discontinued the land reverts to him and again becomes a portion of his

The right of the supervisors is autocratic. They may for the purpose of repairing roads, building bridges, etc., cut down trees, remove earth or stone, and the owner of the land has no redress unless the materials are taken off his farm and not within the limits of the road. If taken from his farm he is of course entitled to payment, but he cannot prevent their removal if the supervisors see fit to insist. Under the present condition of our general fence law the lines which bound the rights of any public travel are as much protection to the farm owner and his stock as the best fence which he can build, and any live stock passing this line are trespassers and liable for all damages done to crops or other farm property. In a recent address before the state board of agriculture, Mr. Stranahan clearly intimated that no matter how the animal got sponsible, and if they broke out and got into the road the owner was just as much responsible as if he was driving them along the road at the time the damage was in-In referring to the repeal of these laws Mr. Stranahan spoke as follows: "These judges have held that we have no fence aw as to the enclosure of a man's land, and that every man has to fence in his own cattle, and if he does not, and they get out

Brought to Jail. On Tuesday Albert Moore was brought o jail on a commitment from 'Squire Lynch, of Cresson. Moore claims to reside at Coalport, Clearfield county, but on Monday strayed into Frugality, where he registered at the hotel kept in that place as B. Stroup, of Mountaindale. Soon after his arrival he came to the conclusion that the place was too small for him. He was half drunk and in the dining room quarreling with the waiters. After supper he went up stairs and secured a 38-calibre revolver with five cartridges in it. He went into the barroom and easily got a drink when he leveled the weapon at the bartender. He then made for the frightened spectators by shooting at a pack peddler.

By this time Stroup had wrought him self up to such a pitch that he wasn't afraid of a mountain, and, in true wild western style, said he could lick all the measly scrappers in the town. He went over to the office of the Cresson and Clearfield Coal and Coke company, and kicked at the door. Mr. P. H. Walls, the manager, came out and threw Stroup off the porch. This riled him and he poked his revolver and let go at Mr. Walls, who slipped back into the office unhurt.

Stroup then returned to the barroom, where he was overpowered by a number of miners under Manager Walls, handcuffed and locked in a box car over night. On Tnesday morning he was taken to Cresson and after a hearing before 'Squire Lynchwas committed to jail.

Cypsy Reunion The Central Hall Reporter says: Belle fonte is at present crowded with gpysies, who are gathered near Milesburg for their reunion. They formerly intended to have Williamsport as a meeting place, but as Bellefonte is almost the central part of the state it was fecided to meet near there. Large bands are flocking in and several hundred have already pitched their tents in the outskirts of the town. One band alone has more than a bundred horses, but the average lot is about twenty. The gypsies will hold a carnival lasting for several days, which will be in the nature of a large fair, as it is held mostly for bartering purposes. About 500 gypsies are expected to be in attendance. There were, however, about 300 on the grounds and about the same number of horses. Each one was gaudily dressed for the occasion. They had their own band for the occasion and the music they rendered was not particularly inspiring. The majority of these gypsies are remarkably intelligent and very courteous and polite. At night the grounds are brilliantly illuminated and the enjoyment is at its height. Thousands of people have flocked to the different camps, and the scene resembles that of a big circus encampment. Horse trading and buying and fortune telling are the principal features of the business, and the men do a thriving business with the visitors in horse trading, while the women
